COOL WAVE HERE TONIGHT

NORTH BREEZE TO ROUT HEAT AT 7 O'CLOCK

Sunday's Deaths in Chicago total 117 as Mercury Soars to 101.7.

RIOTS AT THE BEACHES

The cool wave is coming!

It will be felt in Chicago by 7 o'clock tonight.

By daylight Tuesday morning it will be pleasant.

By Tuesday night it will be fine summer weather—sleeping weather even for the poor kids in the melting pot district.

But the story of yesterday is the saddest of all of the hot days in this torrid wave.

One hundred and seventeen deaths from the heat was the day's total up to midnight. This makes a total of 264 deaths due to the torrid wave in the last four days, and more than 400 prostrations were reported.

MERCURY SOARS TO 101.7.

And yesterday, too, established the highest heat record but one in the history of the local weather bureau.

The maximum, after the wind veered around into the southwest and brought that stifling furnace breath from the plains and the Mississippi valley, was 101.7. At 7 o'clock last night it was 99.

A little while before the high mark was reached the weather man in the tower of the federal building was watching the mercury hover around 94 and 95. The lake breeze had kept the western blanket down to that figure, when suddenly, as if a sudden belch from a furnace, the lake wind was pushed back and the searing blanket fell on the city.

The mercury shot up the tube with a sudden convulsion and did not stop until 101.7 was registered. Then the lake breeze got back on its feet again and the temperature cooled a few degrees.

HIGHEST SINCE 1901.

The record was the highest in Chicago since July 21, 1901, when the government thermometer registered 102.9. It was erroneously stated at the beginning of the scorcher that four years ago—on July 4 and 5—the record was 102 degrees. The actual reading on both days was 101.5, so that yesterday's record is the second hottest Chicago has known in the history of weather forecasting.

One new record has been established since last Wednesday night. From that night, when the thermometer registered 88 degrees, the minimum continuous temperature for the four nights has been between 82 and 85 degrees. This, the weather bureau records disclose, is the highest continuous minimum ever recorded by the Chicago bureau.

RIOTS AT THE BEACHES.

More than 180,000 persons, it was estimated, spent the day in the lake at the various beaches. Nearly as many more were turned away. The Clarendon, Wilson, and North Shore beaches were filled to capacity before noon and a squad of mounted police under First Deputy Schuettler had to be called out to help the patrolmen on foot handle the struggling mob in the streets leading from the car lines.

And today is going to be another scorcher—not so hot as yesterday, but around the 90 mark.

But beginning with tonight it will be a pleasant and an exhilarating narrative.

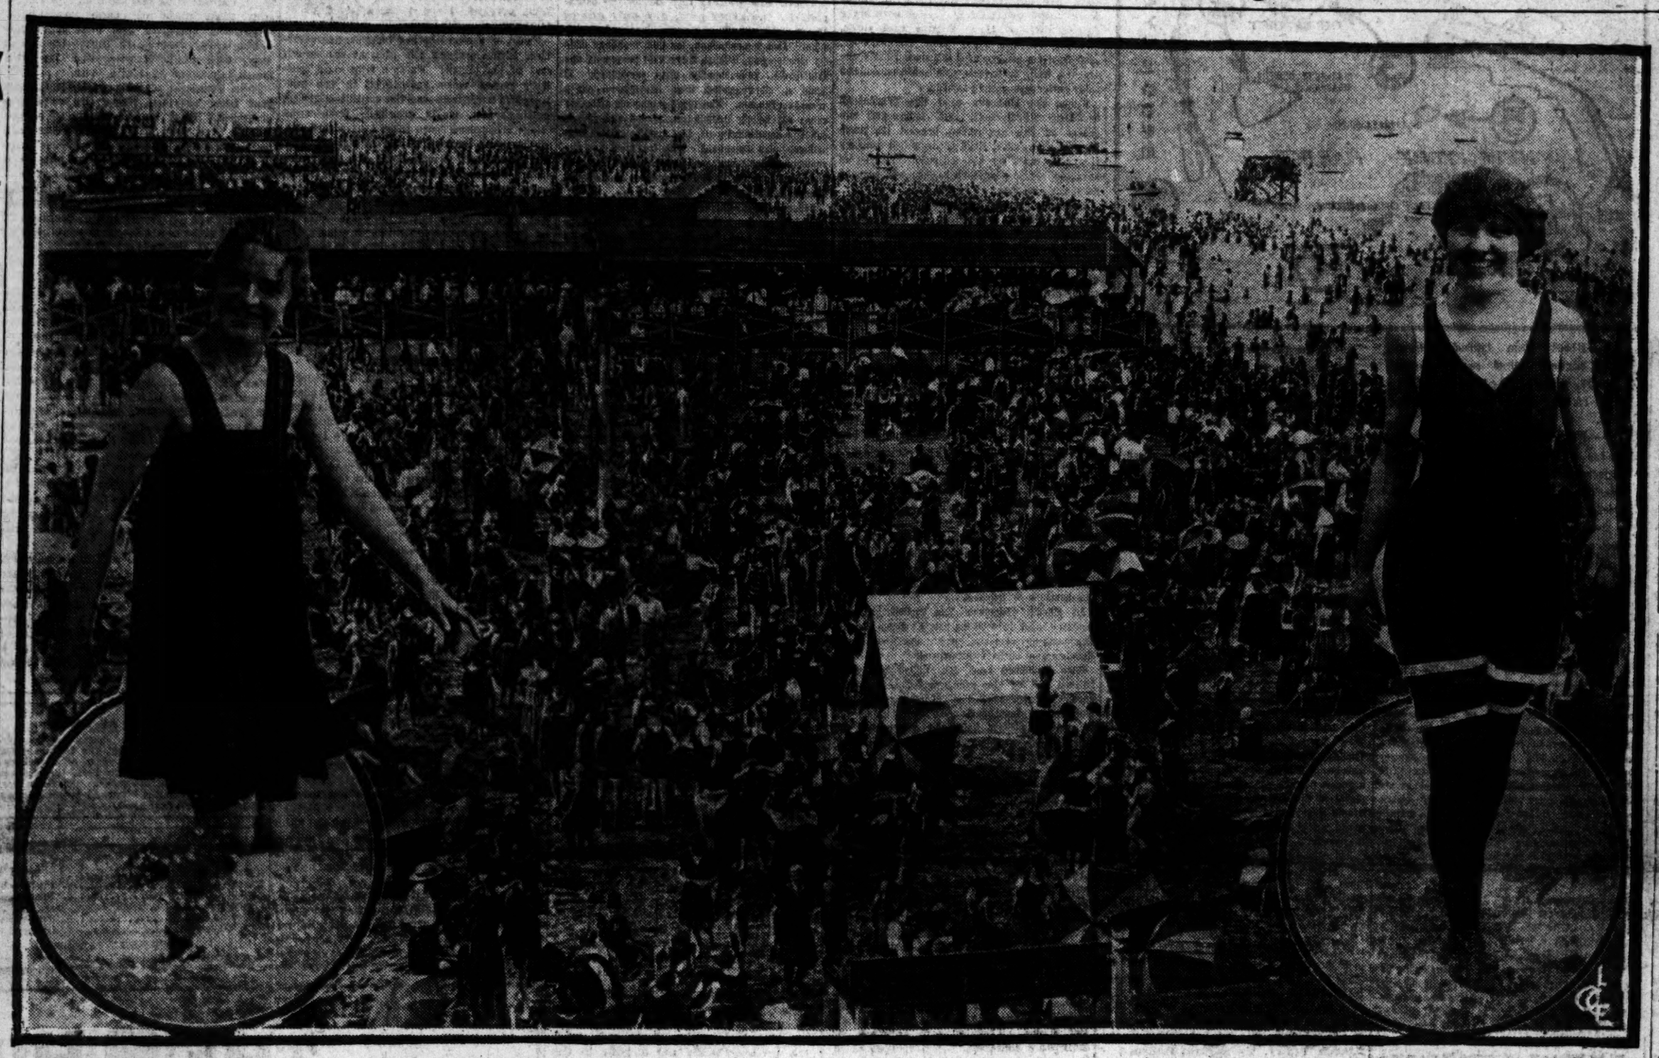

Charles L. Mitchell, the local government forecaster, who was first to get a glimpse of the northwest disturbance last Friday night, has made good.

He tells the gladsome story thus:

"We're safe," he said. "She's coming. Be here tomorrow (Monday night), Tues-

$30,000,000 GOTHAM BLAST JARS 5 STATES

SUSPECT PLOT RUINED VAST POWDER STORES

13 WAREHOUSES GO.

New York, July 30.—[Special.]—A fire of unexplained origin on the munitions pier of the Lehigh Valley railroad in Jersey City early this morning was followed by an explosion that rocked the metropolitan district for miles around, caused detonations felt in five states, and did property damage estimated at more than $30,000,000.

Several persons were killed and many more injured. The number of deaths will not be known until the ruin that was one of the finest railroad terminals in the United States has been searched and cleared away.

Three are known to be dead and at least five more missing.

FIRE CAUSED BLAST?

Whether or not the fire caused the explosion is a matter not yet determined. The blaze started far out on the tip of Black Tom island, where there were munition cars in the yard and barges loaded with explosives lying alongside.

No more spectacular fire has been witnessed in or about this city for many years. The explosion itself was terrific. The shock of it brought destruction across the broad waters of New York bay to Manhattan and Brooklyn, littering the streets with broken glass and damaging the contents of business houses.

WARRANTS OUT FOR THREE.

Warrants charging manslaughter were issued late tonight for the arrest of Albert M. Dickman, agent at the Black Tom island docks for the Lehigh Valley Railroad company; Theodore B. Johnson, head of the Johnson Lighterage and Towing company, and Alexander Davidson, superintendent of the National Storage company. They are accused of having illegally permitted explosives to be stored where human life was endangered.

Johnson's company had been engaged, it was said, in lightering munitions from the docks to ships in the harbor.

CAUSE NOT DETERMINED.

The cause of the disaster had not been determined tonight. Officials of the National Storage company and the Lehigh Valley railroad, which also suffered heavily through loss of property, declared, however, that reports to them showed a fire started shortly after 1 o'clock this morning on a barge belonging to an independent towing company that had been moored alongside a dock used by the railroad company to transfer ammunition shipments from trains to vessels in the harbor.

The barge, it was said, was there without authority either of the railroad or the storage company. The officials refused to disclose the name of the independent towing company, saying they were investigating "to ascertain whether the barge purposely had been set on fire as the result of a plot."

ANOTHER VERSION GIVEN.

Another version said the fire was discovered among freight cars at the end of Black Tom island shortly after midnight. Among these cars were several loaded with three inch shells. At one side of the open pier was moored a barge

ESCAPES PRISON FOR SIXTH TIME

Stratton, Who Crawled Through Mile Sewer, Walks Out of Joliet.

Clyde Stratton is out again. It's his sixth escape from one prison or another in a comparatively short career, and the worst of it is, the story of how it happened cannot be written, because nobody knows.

As in other parts hereabouts, it's been warm at the Joliet penitentiary. In the cellhouse, particularly, the heat has been almost unbearable.

Allowed Corridor Privilege.

As a bit of advanced humanitarianism during the hot spell, however, the convicts have been allowed the freedom of the cellhouse corridors until 9.

As usual, they availed themselves of this liberty under the eagle eyes of the guards last evening. Just before 9 the guards, as a matter of formality, checked over their lists. Three were missing.

"It's Stratton!" shouted one.

"An' Hart an' McGlade!" moaned another. "Both lifers!"

It was only too true. Stratton, arrested in a richly furnished apartment at Clifton and Wilson avenues soon after the Logue murder in the McVicker building several years ago, has been a picturesque figure.

Sent to Leavenworth.

He was turned over to the federal authorities for a postoffice robbery and sent to Leavenworth, where he escaped by crawling a mile through a sewer. Four times before that he had proved the futility of prison bars. This time he has been serving a fourteen year sentence for the murder of a banker at Silvis, Ill.

William A. Hart and William McGlade have been serving life terms for murder. While the cellhouse guards were pondering these matters, another guard on the east wall turned in an alarm. He had seen three men climbing over the wall, he said. He had taken several shots at them with his rifle to no effect.

DEUTSCHLAND IS 'ALL SET' AGAIN FOR DASH HOME.

U-Boat's Sponsors Ask U. S. Revenue Cutter to Act as Convoy to the Open Sea.

Baltimore, Md., July 30.—Although the German submarine Deutschland still was at its pier here tonight, developments during the last twenty-four hours indicated the intention of Capt. Paul Koenig, its commander, to leave in a short time.

It was learned today that when the United States revenue cutter Apache anchored a short distance from the Deutschland's slip late yesterday afternoon, the Apache's commander was asked if he could convoy the Deutschland to the three mile limit off the capes. He replied that he had received no orders and had no official interest in the submarine.

"CORPSE'S" JOKE BRINGS ARREST

Was it a German cobbler of Coblentz who dressed himself in a colonel's rig and nearly put the whole village on the bum here several years ago? Well, it doesn't matter.

C. H. Hany is a cobbler, too. He sticks intermittently to his last at 1737 Lawrence avenue. He did until yesterday, when he was washed up as a corpse on the beach at the foot of Greenleaf avenue, Rogers Park.

There was consternation. Some 2,000 or 3,000 bathers scampered about the inanimate form of Hany as it tossed in the ebbing tide. A call was sent to the Rogers Park life guard station and Capt. Charles S. Baker with his crew rushed to the rescue.

Hany's dank form was conveyed to the life station, where he was kneaded and walloped around in various exercises of resuscitation. It was no good. He seemed bound to stay dead until all of a sudden he leaped from the slab and ran toward the beach with his thumb to his nose in token of the keenness of his humor.

"Fooled you that time," said Hany.

But he erred grievously. A couple of husky life guards slid into high and overtook Hany. A few moments later he was locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct.

U. S. Note Strong in Its Protest Against Blacklist

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., July 30.—[Special.]—Declining to any arbitrary regulation of trade laws not already established by international law, the United States has informed Great Britain that it cannot consent to the apparent rulings of the British blacklist.

London is informed that the United States believes Great Britain has "too lightly and too frequently disregarded well defined international practices."

The text of the note was made public by the state department tonight. The note was received in London on Friday.

WILSON LANGUAGE SHARP.

In its summary of American indignation against the blacklist announcement President Wilson uses sharp language, but the note concludes with a departure from the reference to international law.

It bases the claim for reconsideration by Great Britain more upon "true justice, sincere amity, and impartial fairness," which Mr. Wilson states should mark the dealings of friendly nations.

It finds the spirit of reciprocal trade between the United States and Great Britain being "very seriously impaired" by practices such as the blacklist.

CITES SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES.

"His Britannic majesty's government," the note concludes, "cannot expect the government of the United States to consent to see its citizens put upon an ex parte blacklist without calling attention in the gravest terms to the many serious consequences to neutral right and neutral relations which such an act must necessarily involve.

"It hopes and believes that his majesty's government in its natural absorption in a single pressing object of policy has acted without a full realisation of the many undesired and undesirable results that might ensue."

The note does not ask for a prompt repudiation or even a prompt reply. It merely expresses a hope and belief that he British government acted thoughtlessly and may alter its policy.

"TAINT" ON NEUTRAL FIRMS.

Attention is called to the expressed fear that the blacklist will operate to "taint" neutral firms which deal with the blacklisted firms, thus effecting a general boycott.

Yet Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, denied this explicitly on the occasion of a special visit to the state department and a long conference with Acting Secretary Polk, whose name is signed to the note.

The inference drawn by those unfriendly to the administration is that this reference was made deliberately with a view to having the British government confirm the statement made orally by Sir Cecil four days ago and put in writing by him two days later when he made his second visit to the department.

Thus, when Great Britain assures the United States that neutral trade is not aimed at in the blacklist order, the statement may be looked on as a concession.

Washington is not confident that Great Britain will make many concessions, as the blacklist is part of a carefully planned trade program of the allies.

OPERA SINGER BROWN DIES.

Man Who Achieved Distinction with Old Bostonians Is Victim of Heart Disease.

Blue Point, L. I., July 30.—[Special.]—Harry M. Brown, one of the original "Bostonians," died today at his summer home here of heart disease. Mr. Brown achieved distinction as Lorenzo in "The Mascot" with the Bostonians and also was known for his roles in "The Serenade," "Robin Hood," and other Bostonian productions. His last notable star part was David Harum, in which he succeeded William H. Crane.

NEW YORK'S BIG BLAST AND SOME OF ITS RESULTS

Shook five states, did damage that may reach $30,000,000.

Caused the loss of several lives.

Fire started on a barge at the pier of the Lehigh Valley railroad. It is said the barge was at the pier without the consent of the railroad company.

Investigation to be started to ascertain whether the barge was set on fire as a "result of a plot."

The Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's island and most of the army buildings at Fort Wood were bespattered with shrapnel and bullets.

Immigrants on Ellis island thrown into terror by the blasts and those in charge controlled them with difficulty.

Warrants issued for the arrest of representatives of the railroad, towing and storage companies for permitting the storing of explosives where lives would be endangered.

NEW YORK PIER FIRE SCENES RIVAL THOSE OF EUROPE'S BATTLEFIELDS

loaded with nitrocellulose. It is supposed, according to this report, that an exploding shell from one of the munition cars pierced the barge and set off the great mass of high explosives.

The barge was blown to bits. There wasn't enough of it left to show where it had been. By this explosion most of the damage was done. The time was 2:08 a. m. It was followed by another of lesser intensity at 2:40 o'clock. That was when several cars loaded with explosives were struck by flying shells from others that had taken fire.

The fire spread from the cars at the end of the pier to the warehouses of the National Storage company. Thirteen of these were utterly destroyed. There were no explosives in these warehouses, their contents consisting of several million dollars' worth of merchandise, principally sugar.

From the warehouse the flames spread to ships and barges moored to piers on the south side of the long tongue of land that is known as Black Tom. The burning buildings lighted up the entire bay and the cities about it.

CROWDS FLOCK TO SCENE.

The first of the two explosions had aroused the entire city, and within an hour lower Manhattan held such crowds as it has seldom seen there. They came by every sort of vehicle and thousands of them walked. They lined the battery wall and searched the mist that lay upon the water.

Out of the night came the boom of shells and shrapnel. Over on Bedloe's island where the statue of Liberty lifts her light, the shells were raining down. Ellis island seemed doomed to those who saw a flaming barge drift that way. Governor's island felt the shock, and when bits of steel penetrated the buildings there Gen. Wood sent out members of his staff to cross the bay and offer aid to any one who might need it.

NEAR PANIC IN BROOKLYN.

Brooklyn was shaken from one end to the other. Windows crashed in, and in many sections the excitement bordered on panic. Hundreds of police reserves were sent to quiet the people, who came tumbling out of their homes in the belief that the end of the world was at hand. It was estimated that the damage to property there would reach $250,000.

In Manhattan it was estimated that the damage to windows alone would total nearly $100,000. Foundations and walls throughout the city were shaken as by an earthquake. Excitement prevailed in hospitals and prisons, and in the poorer neighborhoods thousands of men, women and children rushed to the streets in terror.

SPEND NIGHT IN PARKS.

Hundreds of them spent the rest of the night in the parks rather than to risk going back to their homes when it was not certain that other and worse shocks would not come. Police reserves were hurried out to quiet the tumult. In the financial district 350 policemen from the police training camp patrolled the streets in their khaki uniforms.

All day today thousands of sightseers came from neighboring cities and country towns. Many of them sought boats going across the upper bay and had a good view of the smoldering ruins. The boats of the municipal ferry to Staten Island were crowded.

INVESTIGATIONS ARE BEGUN.

In Jersey City the police kept the curious far back from the scene of the explosion. Occasional reports from exploding shells came from the smoking mass in the Lehigh Valley yards.

Frank Hague, commissioner of public safety in Jersey City, began an investigation immediately, and statements were made by railroad officials and others regarding the catastrophe.

RAILROAD'S STATEMENT.

A statement issued late today by the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, after a conference between heads of all departments here, said:

"Thirteen brick storage warehouses out of the twenty-four owned and operated by the National Storage company, and six pieces owned by the storage company and leased to the Lehigh Valley road, were destroyed. Several others of the brick warehouses were badly damaged and some minor damage was done to the Lehigh Valley grain elevators. In addition, as far as is known, eighty-five loaded cars were destroyed.

"According to the evidence obtained by officials of the railroad company, the fire started at 1:05 this morning in a barge belonging to an independent towing company, which had been moored alongside the railroad company's dock expressly against orders.

FIRST BLAST ON BARGE?

"M. T. Henley, night general yardmaster for the New York division of the Lehigh Valley railroad, was on the pier when the fire started. He said the explosion, which occurred at 2:08, was in the barge when the fire started.

"Mr. Henley's first thought was to remove the loaded cars on the pier from the danger zone. He said that when he reached the end of the pier the barge was burning fiercely all over and the fire was beginning to communicate itself to some of the cars nearest the barge.

SAVES TWO CUTS OF CARS.

"Two long cuts of cars were successfully removed from the danger zone before the rapidly spreading fire engulfed the balance.

"It has not as yet been definitely determined just what the money loss will be. Some 40,000 tons of raw sugar, valued at approximately $3,400,000, is known to be lost. It is believed that the other contents of the warehouses destroyed will greatly increase this amount. There were no explosives stored in the warehouses. Two of the cars destroyed were loaded with shrapnel, which would not have been a source of danger but for outside fire. The other cars destroyed were loaded principally with salt and pork.

"The scene of the explosion and fire is in no way adjacent to the main passenger and freight terminals of the Lehigh Valley railroad, either at New York or Jersey City, and the mishap will not interfere with the operation of business."

OFFICIAL ESTIMATES LOSS.

Edmund L. Mackenzie, president of the National Storage company, declared tonight that the plant of his concern was valued at $7,000,000, while the contents of the warehouses probably were worth $10,000,000. One of the warehouses which remain intact, he said, is filled with chemicals. Beside the great quantity of raw sugar burned, there were 24,000 bales of tobacco, much matting from China and Japan, and other merchandise. The loss to his company and the railroad, Mr. Mackenzie said, was partly covered by insurance.

"So far as I have been able to ascertain, after a personal investigation," said Mr. Mackenzie, "there apparently has not been a great loss of life. This undoubtedly was due to the fact that few persons live in the immediate vicinity of our plant. There were, of course, a number of private watchmen and firemen on the ground at the time, but all of these except two have been accounted for."

WATCHMAN SOUNDS ALARM.

Thomas Kane, a watchman for the railroad, who was on his way back to the office of the National Storage company, was one of the first to discover the blaze shooting up from the end of the open pier at the tip of the peninsula known as Black Tom. He ran for a telephone and turned in an alarm.

Two fire engines and a hook and ladder truck from the Greenville section of Jersey City responded and the reserves from the Ocean avenue police station were ordered out, Lieut. Closterman in command.

Fire Marshal John Julian of the Lehigh Valley railroad said that it was exactly 12:15 o'clock when he received a message from Kane saying that the "explosive dock," as pier 17 on the north end of Black Tom is known, was afire. When Julian got to the scene of the fire explosives were cracking among the cars out at the end of Black Tom.

TWELVE "PERIL" CARS.

Three fire companies already were on the ground. There was only one free track along which the cars could be moved, and the situation was further complicated by the fact that the dangerous cars, those with munitions aboard, were at the end of the narrow yard leading to the piers. There were twelve of them.

It was figured by Julian and others who helped in the work that of 300 cars they got nearly 200 away from the fire. This opened the way for the twelve munitions cars.

MOVED EIGHT DANGER CARS.

As near as could be estimated by the men, who were working under high pressure, seven or eight of the munition cars had been taken away when the barge moored on the north side of pier 17 blew up. The whole sky was suddenly lighted up. As they looked into the face of it they saw rows of light spreading upward. Then a boom of terrific intensity smote their ears. They fell under the impact of it.

All of this in an instant, without previous warning. The men working in the yard said they did not know what had happened.

All about them was the deafening crash of freight cars torn apart and falling. The long line of wooden sheds adjacent to the warehouses had crumpled under the blow. Destruction lay upon everything.

THOUSANDS SEE SIGHT.

There is a network of tracks on the low flats between the harbor and the Bergen hills. With the exception of the main line of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, these tracks were filled with thousands of freight cars belonging to the Lehigh Valley, the Central Railroad of New Jersey, and the Baltimore and Ohio. As one approached the fire, hundreds of men and women who had climbed to the tops of these cars for a better view were silhouetted against the sky.

The view from these cars, a mile from the Harbor Shore line, was startling in its grandeur. To the south flames could be seen rolling over the huge warehouses of the National Storage company. The one farthest to the east was already a glowing mound. Flames were rising 200 feet high in a mass from the main building. Now and then as a wall fell in and sent them higher, the outlines of oil tanks half a mile away from the warehouse could be distinguished. Toward the bay from the warehouses there were a half dozen fires. They looked like signal fires along the crest of a hill.

The roar of exploding shells was incessant, but without the regularity that makes a drum beat of artillery.

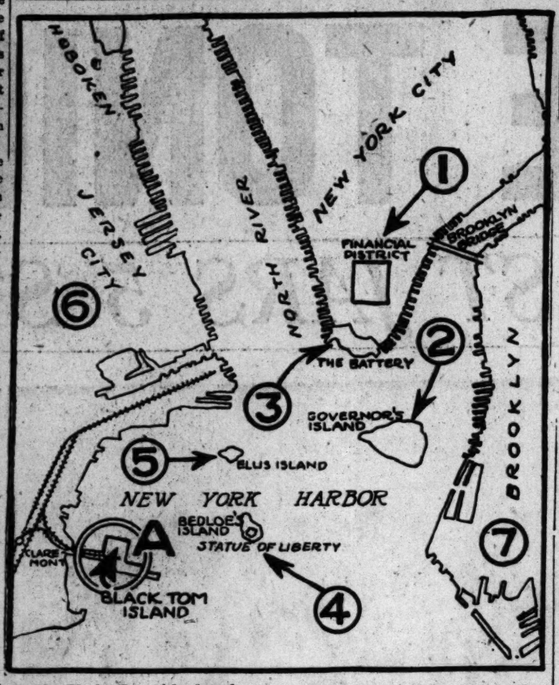

BURNING BARGE ADRIFT.

At 3 o'clock in the morning, as rail guards with clubs and threats warned back adventurous persons eager to reach the front, one could see from the foot of Communipaw avenue the light of a burning barge that had drifted up the bay from Black Tom. It seemed to be directly back of Ellis island. The fire burned about it with every now and then a tremendous burst upward.

The crowds saw clouds of flame lift themselves out of the barge, illumine the whole sky for a second, and then disappear. As men and women pressed forward there came to their ears the wailing "eeveow" of the flying shells.

For six hours the crowd watched the terrifying spectacle and the work of the men combating it before the flames were brought under control.

MAP OF AREA MOST DAMAGED BY BLAST

2—Governor's island—Hospital and other buildings damaged.

3—The Battery—The city's aquarium in Battery park lost all its glass skylights. Office buildings near by, including custom house and many consular offices, suffered heavily.

4—Statue of Liberty—The statue received a rain of shrapnel. All windows in pedestal shattered. Damage to foundations not yet ascertained. The "light of liberty" burned throughout the "bombardment."

5—Ellis island, where emigrant hospital received full force of blast and patients were removed.

7—Brooklyn—Several deaths reported here from shock; also much material damage. Force of explosion led to belief that it had occurred in Brooklyn and all fire apparatus was called out.

WINDOWS GONE IN SKYSCRAPERS; STREETS STREWN

New York, July 30.—[Special.]—The skyscrapers of the financial district today looked as if they had been targets for scattering handfuls of rocks from some great giant. Windows were ripped out of their fronts and sides, twisted frames hung over the streets, and jutting ledges and window sills were strewn with splinters of glass and coated over with fine gray powder.

From the Battery and the Whitehall building northward and eastward the force of the explosion traced its path by openings that held plate glass display windows and by the emptied frames of smaller office windows higher sometimes by thirty stories.

Persons passing through West street, Battery place, Washington, Greenwich, Church, State, Beaver, William, Broad, New, John, and Fulton streets, Maiden lane, and Liberty, Nassau and Cortlandt streets early in the day stepped carefully to avoid the sharp splinters that were not swept into piles until hours later.

Even then the glass powder remained everywhere, defying efforts of the street sweepers to remove it.

Ten Thousand Panes Shattered.

In one precinct alone, that including Maiden lane, the subtreasury, and the stock exchange, the police estimated the number of windows broken as 300. Certainly, as observed by a reporter, in the entire financial district there were not many short of 1,500 broken panes.

But west of Broadway from Battery place to Warren street, according to police reports, 8,000 windows were broken in 2,000 buildings. From Warren street to Canal street damage to 300 buildings was reported. In the Tenth precinct, by police reckoning, there were 275 broken windows.

In these districts the buildings are smaller and less substantial than in the skyscraper streets, and the windows lighter and of inferior glass.

One hundred and ten windows were blown out of the customs house. About forty windows of the Woolworth building were shattered. At the tip of the island fifty-two skylight panes of the aquarium were shivered almost into powder.

Allied Consulates Suffer.

Down State street the buildings housing most of the allied consulates and many of the largest shipping offices had suffered almost as badly as the Whitehall building. Up Broadway the Standard Oil building showed two big vacant holes in its front, with the building just above it in an equal plight.

The subtreasury escaped. Two of the largest windows, of very thick French plate glass, in the J. P. Morgan building, the counting house of the allies' financial representatives, at Wall and Broad streets, were broken into bits. The explosion blew in the door of Zimmerman & Forshay, one of the British blacklist firms. The Marconi building, the Equitable building, the postoffice building, and the municipal building all suffered.

In the Consolidated Exchange, Produce Exchange, and Cotton Exchange buildings many windows were broken. The display fronts of many jewelry stores in Maiden lane were torn out, and watchmen and police stood guard to prevent theft.

Much Damage in Jersey City.

The damage in Jersey City was great. Hardly a store along Newark avenue, the main business thoroughfare, escaped. Sidewalks were littered with broken glass. Central avenue, Monticello avenue, Jackson avenue, and Ocean avenue, the main thoroughfares on the heights, were pictures of ruin. The street cleaners were ordered out to clear the sidewalks of glass, and shopkeepers and other business men spent many hours boarding up their show windows.

The city hall in Jersey City was badly damaged. While the glass cupola over the assembly chamber remained intact, the plate glass, plaster, and iron grill, work forming a kind of inside skylight, crashed down. Half the ceiling in the First District courtroom on the third floor fell and many windows in other parts of the building were broken.

Air Concussion Plays Pranks.

The new Jersey City postoffice at Washington and Montgomery streets had every window on the Washington street side broken, while not a pane in the building of the Union Trust company directly across the street was even cracked. Practically every window in the Dickinson high school, one of the finest buildings in the city, was smashed. Many of the beautiful stained glass windows of St. Patrick's church were broken, while the windows of the convent directly across the street were left intact.

Find Cramp Victim's Body.

The body of Frank Wojciak of 1724 West Fifteenth street, who was drowned while swimming in the North Branch of the river on Friday, was recovered near Leland avenue by the police yesterday. He is believed to have been stricken with cramps.

STATUE OF LIBERTY INJURED BY BLAST

New York, July 30.—[Special.]—Bedloe's island, on which stands the statue of Liberty, and the army post known as Fort Wood, was bombarded by shrapnel, bullets, and all manner of missiles from 2 o'clock until near 9 o'clock this morning during the great explosion on Black Tom island. Capt. A. T. Clifton, the commandant, estimated the damage at more than $100,000.

The statue of Liberty was bespattered by shrapnel, its shell was slightly cracked, the main door was blown off its hinges, every window was broken, and the top was torn from a near by powder magazine, but the torch enlightening the world burned steadily throughout the hours of confusion, flaming high above the pall of smoke from the fire burning not far away.

Every door of the statue was blown in save the one on the east side, which was warped and twisted. A dozen angle bars were cracked by the concussion and hundreds of bolt heads were broken.

There are twenty-one buildings occupied by the army post, and only one of these—the waiting room—escaped damage. The warehouse, on the western side of the island, which bore the brunt of the fusillade, practically was wrecked. It was a corrugated iron structure on a wooden frame. The six houses on officers' row, all brick buildings, stood the shock on the exterior well, but inside much furniture was wrecked. The barracks of the noncommissioned officers and enlisted men looked as if a hurricane had swept through them.

When Capt. Clifton heard the first explosion he had the buglers sound a general alarm and personally aroused many of those at the post. When he was rushing to the barracks he was hurled to the ground by the force of another explosion. The commandant soon saw that the western part of the island, nearest Black Tom, was untenable, and gathering women, children, and soldiers he marched them to the eastern end, near the statue of Liberty.

There the hundred-odd in the little company took shelter behind the sea wall and on the dock. While gathered there several burning barges threatened to run into the dock, set it afire, and cut off the only means of retreat for the little band. Had the dock been set afire many probably would have been seriously injured. But the tide swung the barges away from the island.

There were many exhibits of death dealing weapons at Fort Wood today. The parade ground was littered with cases containing unexploded shrapnel, particles of cases, bullets, pieces of jagged iron bolts, and many other metal particles.

Included in the collection was an iron chain five feet long, weighing about 100 pounds. There were also three tin canisters containing shrapnel primer, each canister weighing forty pounds. They were addressed to the Russian government and were not broken when picked up.

NIGHT OF TERROR FOR IMMIGRANTS ON ELLIS ISLAND

Pier Hit by Exploding Barges Which Rained Shrapnel on Cringing Aliens.

New York, July 30.—[Special.]—Ellis island, with its 353 detained immigrants and its 125 employés, underwent a night of keen terror and great peril, yet only a few persons were injured, and these slightly.

Four of seven blazing barges, ammunition laden, struck the pier at the south end of the island. Fully a thousand window panes were splintered in the two hospital buildings and the main buildings, ceilings fell, walls cracked, bath tubs were wrenched from their fastenings and overturned, some being smashed, and shrapnel that rained from the skies tore holes in the red tiled roofs of all three structures. Children ill of diphtheria, scarlet fever, and measles were hurled out of their cribs in the hospital. Storms of flying glass swept through wards, but luckily shot over the heads of patients.

Weird disorder occurred. Some patients whimpered and crawled under their cots, others were moved to hysterical laughter; many screamed in terror, and others shrieked in defiance of what they conceived to be attacks of their enemies.

Whole Island Bombarded.

Meanwhile, with the whole island under a fierce bombardment from the barges doctors of the hospital for contagious diseases had turned firemen in defense of the children. They manned five lines of hose and shot water at the four barges as they came toward the wharf. While the physicians fought the oncoming menace, the fourteen women nurses were carrying the little ones on stretchers to the government ferryboat Ellis Island.

By the time the children had been removed the doctors were on the verge of prostration from the intense heat and repeated shocks of explosions. One was rescued as he lay unconscious on the hose he had trained out of a third story window.

Inmates Kept on Ferry Boat.

All the inmates were gathered finally aboard the ferryboat and brought to Manhattan dock at the barge office. There had been an idea of landing them there, but four policemen were on hand to bar the way. From about 3 o'clock till well after daybreak the Ellis Island laid in its Manhattan slip until the news came that tugs had got lines aboard the barges and taken them from Ellis island toward Communipaw.

About 6 o'clock in the morning the Ellis Island went back with its cargo of aliens and they were returned to the detention rooms in the main building and to the two hospitals.

Deputy Immigration Commissioner Uhl telegraphed Washington that the damage done to the buildings on Ellis island would amount to $60,000, but later said he feared it would go to $75,000 or more.

WOOLWORTH TOWER WATCHMEN PRAY

New York, July 30.—[Special.]—As the tower of the Woolworth building swayed and trembled yesterday morning from the tremendous ammunition explosions on Black Tom island, two of the night watchmen, thinking their time had come, got down on their knees and prayed.

Frank Allen, aloft on the fifty-third floor, 700 feet up, felt the great tower shiver under the first concussion, and then had a sensation of an unstable floor swinging back and forth under his feet.

"I was scared, I admit it, and I had a right to be scared," said Allen.

Watchmen on the floors below him had the same experience and candidly confessed they thought their end had come and they were not ashamed of getting on their knees.

Unique incidents, humorous or half tragic, were remarked by persons in many parts of the city who retained more calmness at the time of the explosion than most of their neighbors. Broadway habitués and east side residents were affected in much the same way, and each district had its own freak instances to smile over.

John Pavelski and Mary Wolinski had just been married when the explosion occurred. They sat at the head of the bridal breakfast table in Progress hall, on Avenue A, beaming on several hundred guests. When the crash came the guests departed, preceded by several waiters, who dropped plates of soup and overturned several tables. Undaunted by this perhaps prophetic initial incident of married life, the Pavelskis remained at the head of the table.

Relatives of fifty patients of the Jewish Maternity hospital, 270 East Broadway, stormed the building soon after the explosion, demanding their wives or mothers be brought to the street to safety. It was some time before the women in the crowd became convinced that all the buildings near by were not soon to topple in upon their occupants. In McDougall street, on the west side, at the same hour, a frightened woman prayed in the middle of the street, oblivious of every one around her.

A typewriter was thrown from the interior of one office to the sidewalk of a west side street. It was found unharmed and upright, its ribbon in position, by Patrolman Murphy of the Fourth precinct station.

Two hundred guests at Little Hungary, in Houston street, dashed pellmell into the street with the crash of the first explosion. Some of them had colored paper streamers hanging from them, and several of the women carried the kind of balloons that burst when touched to a cigaret. A few of them returned to find they had spilled dishes on the floor.

Aurora, Ill., July 30.—[Special.]—The temperature rose to 103 today, the highest point it has reached in fifteen years and, with the exception of a July day in 1901, the hottest day in the history of Aurora. Eighteen persons were prostrated. To add to the distress, an ice shortage developed.

GERMAN WALL BREAKS BEFORE ALLIES' ATTACK

British Gain Near Delville Wood and French Advance in Hardecourt Sector.

PARIS, July 30.—After a pause the French echelon north of the Somme resumed operations today, giving further proof of the perfection of the new method by making a clean sweep of the German positions along a three and a half mile front from Hardecourt to the river.

The French troops in Picardy had been awaiting until the British carried out the operation assigned to them.

That having been satisfactorily completed, the central echelon received word to move forward against the German trenches on the eastern slopes of the ravine through which a light railroad runs from Combles to Clery and Peronne.

Every detail of the advance had been worked out with mathematical precision beforehand, and the operations was completed well within the time limit set.

Fierce Fighting by Germans.

The attacking troops met with a more than usual amount of resistance from the Germans, who had foreseen the move and had made every preparation in their power to frustrate it. The positions had been strengthened as well as the incessant rain of projectiles from the French artillery permitted, and large forces of reserves were gathered in the rear.

The German reserves were hurled forward as soon as the French dash slackened, and the fighting was fast and furious, and especially at the southern end of the line, where the nature of the ground permitted the counter attacking troops to advance with some prospect of getting through the French curtain of fire.

Although the Germans struggled bravely and stubbornly all afternoon and well into the night, they failed to regain an inch of ground. Wave after wave of German infantry was swept away by the well directed French machine gun and light artillery fire.

French War Report.

The official night report says:

North of the Somme the day was marked by a series of desperate actions. On the front between hill 139, northeast of Hardecourt and the river, our troops, passing to the attack, captured a whole system of enemy trenches on a depth varying from 300 to 800 meters. We reached the outskirts of the village of Maurepas.

We hold the wood north of Hem station and the quarry north of this wood and Monacu farm.

In the afternoon the Germans delivered powerful counter attacks, particularly in the region of Monacu farm, where the fighting was particularly violent. Everywhere our fire shattered the enemy's efforts and inflicted heavy losses on him. We have retained the whole of the conquered ground and taken more than 200 prisoners.

On the right bank of the Meuse we repulsed a German attack directed against our positions west of the Thiaumont work. There has been an intense bombardment in the sector of Fleury-Vaux-Chapitre.

British Night War Report.

LONDON, July 30.—Advances by both the British and French are chronicled in tonight's official reports.

The British, according to Gen. Haig, after a violent engagement on the sector bewеen Delville wood and the Somme, moved their line forward east of Waterlot farm and Trones wood.

Last night and early this morning the British bombarded the enemy's trenches and reserve areas between the Ancre and the Somme with losses to the Germans.

Some successful trench raids also were made.

The night report of the British telling of their successful advance follows:

Yesterday morning, in coöperation with the French on our right flank, an advance was made on a front extending from east of Delville wood to the Somme. As a result of heavy fighting we made progress to the east of Waterlot farm, Trones wood, and Maltzorn farm. The enemy was encountered in considerable strength and must have suffered heavily. We captured 250 prisoners.

British Day War Report.

The text of the British day official report says:

Last night we heavily bombarded the enemy's trenches and reserve areas between the Ancre and the Somme. During the bombardment a hostile ammunition depot near Courcelet was exploded by our fire.

Parties of Canadian infantry successfully raided the enemy's trenches in two places south of Ypres and the Royal Munster fusiliers carried out a similar enterprise in the Loos salient. The enemy's casualties in each case were severe.

Near Hohenzollern redoubt the Germans attempted two raids. One of these failed to get further than our wire. The other succeeded in entering our front trench, but the enemy was immediately driven out.

German War Report.

Between the Ancre brook and the Somme the enemy fire increased to the greatest intensity.

English local attacks near Pozieres and Longueval were unsuccessful.

RUSSIANS KEEP UP ADVANCE AGAINST CAUCASUS TURKS.

PETROGRAD, July 30.—The war office today gave out the following report on Caucasus operations:

In the region to the west of Gumischany the Turks twice took the offensive, but were repulsed on both occasions.

In the direction of Sivas and Khartput the Turks again were driven out from a series of strengthened positions.

Turkish War Report.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 30.—An official statement on Caucasus operations issued by the Turkish war department under date of July 28 says:

The enemy, after artillery and infantry fire, pushed forward reconnoitering detachments on the right wing, where he tried to reach our trenches, but everywhere was driven off by our fire. In this sector an enemy cavalry detachment was scattered by our violent artillery fire. In the other sectors there was no important news.

TEXT OF U. S. PROTEST AGAINST BLACKLIST

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 30.—The United States note to Great Britain in regard to the recent trade blacklist was delivered to the American ambassador at London on July 26, with instructions to hand it to Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for foreign affairs. The text of the note follows:

Department of State, Washington, D. C., July 26.—You are instructed to deliver to Sir Edward Grey a formal note on the subject of the enemy trading act, textually as follows:

"The announcement that his Britannic majesty's government has placed the names of certain persons, firms, and corporations in the United States upon a proscriptive 'blacklist' and has forbidden all financial or commercial dealings between them and citizens of Great Britain has been received with the most painful surprise by the people and government of the United States and seems to the government of the United States to embody a policy of arbitrary interference with neutral trade against which it is its duty to protest in the most decided terms.

Scope and Effect Curb on Trade

The scope and effect of the policy are extraordinary. British steamship companies will not accept cargoes from the proscribed firms or persons or transport their goods to any port, and steamship lines under neutral ownership understand that if they accept freight from them they are likely to be denied coal at British ports and excluded from other privileges which they have usually enjoyed and may themselves be put on the blacklist.

"Neutral bankers refuse to answer to those on the list and neutral merchants decline to contract for their goods, fearing a like proscription.

"It appears that British officials regard the prohibitions of the blacklist as applicable to domestic commercial transactions in foreign countries, as well as in Great Britain and her dependencies, for Americans doing business in foreign countries have been put on notice that their dealings with blacklisted firms are regarded as subject to veto by the British government.

"By the same principle, Americans in the United States might be made subject to similar punitive action if they were found dealing with any of their own countrymen whose names had thus been listed.

Effects of Policy on Trade Obvious.

"The harsh and even disastrous effects of this policy upon the trade of the United States and upon the neutral rights upon which it will not fail to insist are obvious. Upon the list of those prescribed and, in effect, shut out from the general commerce of the world may be found American concerns which are engaged in large commercial operations as importers of foreign products and materials and as distributors of American products and manufactures to foreign countries and which constitute important channels through which American trade reaches the outside world.

"Their foreign affiliations may have been fostered for many years, and when once broken cannot easily or promptly be reëstablished. Othern concerns may be put upon the list at any time and without notice. It is understood that additions to the proscription may be made 'whenever on account of enemy nationality or enemy association of such persons or bodies of persons it appears to his majesty expeditious to do so.'

"The possibilities of undeserved injury to American citizens from such measures, arbitrarily taken, and of serious and incalculable interruptions of American trade are without limit.

Inconsistent With Rights of Neutrals

"It has been stated on behalf of his majesty's government that these measures were aimed only at the enemies of Great Britain and would be adopted and enforced with strict regard to the rights of neutrals and with the least possible detriment to neutral trade, but it is evident that they are inevitably and essentially inconsistent with the rights of the citizens of all the nations not involved in war.

"The government of the United States begs to remind the government of his Britannic majesty that citizens of the United States are entirely within their rights in attempting to trade with the people or the government of any of the nations now at war, subject only to well-defined international practices and understandings which the government of the United States deems the government of Great Britain to have too lightly and too frequently disregarded.

"There are well known remedies and penalties for breaches of blockade where the blockade is real and in fact effective, for trade in contraband, for every unneutral act by whomsoever attempted.

United States Cannot Agree to Blacklist

"The government of the United States cannot consent to see those remedies and penalties altered or extended at the will of a single power or group of powers to the injury of its own citizens or in derogation of its own rights.

"Conspicuous among the principles which the civilized nations of the world have accepted for the safeguarding of the rights of neutrals is the just and honorable principle that neutrals may not be condemned nor their goods confiscated except upon fair adjudication and after an opportunity to be heard in prize courts or elsewhere.

"Such safeguards the blacklist brushes aside. It condemns without hearing, without notice, and in advance. It is manifestly out of the question that the government of the United States should acquiesce in such methods or applications of punishment to its citizens.

Inconsistent With True Justice

"Whtever may be said with regard to the legality, in the view of international obligation of the act of parliament upon which the practice of the blacklist as now employed by his majesty's government is understood to be based, the government of the United States is constrained to regard that practice as inconsistent with that true justice, sincere amity, and impartial fairness which should characterize the dealings of friendly governments with one another.

"The spirit of reciprocal trade between the United States and Great Britain, the privileges long accorded to the nations of each to come and go with their ships and cargoes, to use each the other's shipping and be served each by the other's merchants, is very seriously impaired by arbitrary and sweeping practices such as this.

Cites Grave Results From Blacklist

"There is no purpose or inclination on the part of the government of the United States to shield American citizens or business houses in any way from the legitimate consequences of unneutral acts or practices; it is quite willing that they should suffer the appropriate penalties which international law and the usage of nations have sanctioned, but his Britannic majesty's government cannot expect the government of the United States to consent to see its citizens put on an ex parte blacklist without calling the attention of his majesty's government, in the gravest terms, to the many serious consequences to neutral right and neutral relations which such an act must necessarily involve.

"It hopes and believes that his majesty's government, in its natural absorption in a single pressing object of policy, has acted without a full realization of the many undesired and undesirable results that might ensue.

"POLK."

REPORT BIG FIRE AT PETROGRAD

Neva Bridge, 12 Big Ships, and Gun Works Burn, Says Berlin Paper.

BERLIN, July 30, via Sayville.—Reports of a great conflagration at Petrograd, in which a bridge across the River Neva, twelve large steamers, including several transatlantic liners, and the Putiloff gun works and other establishments were destroyed, are printed in the Lokal Anzeiger.

In its account of the fire the newspaper says:

"On Tuesday the wooden palace bridge across the Neva took fire at several places. Immediately flaming pontoons drifted to Vassili Ostrov (Basil island), where a huge fire started, and also to the port where twelve large steamers, including several transatlantic liners, a floating dock, the Putiloff works, and other establishments took fire.

"The police suspect that the conflagration was the work of anarchists, who planned to burn all public buildings being used for military purposes."

Vassili Ostrov, or Basil island, contains the most important insular section of the Russian capital. The part of the island facing the admiralty quarter contains the bourse, the buildings of the University of Petrograd, and of the academy of sciences, the academy of arts, the mining institute, the zoölogical garden, and the Semenoff gallery of paintings.

GERMAN PAPERS COMPARE FRYATT WITH OTHER CASES.

BERLIN, July 30, via wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—"The German newspapers," says the Overseas News agency, "discuss the British comments on the death sentence passed by a German field court martial on Capt. Fryatt. They recall the killing of the crew of a German submarine by the British patrol boat Baralong, where, also, British judgment was at defiance with that of German.

"The newspapers point out that during the war four German women under suspicion of spying were executed in France.

RUSSIAN THRUST HURLS FOE BACK ON THE DNIESTER

Slavs Open Southern Flanking Move While Advancing on Kovel-Lemberg Line.

PETROGRAD, July 30.—While Gen. Brussiloff's breach in the Austro-German lines west of Lutsk is being widened and deepened by the further driving home of the wedge between the armies of Gen. von Linsingen and Gen. von Boehm-Ermolli, a new development has been recorded in the last thirty hours in the renewed activity of Gen. Letchitzky to the south of the Dneister. The Russians here have begun a new turning movement on Gen. von Bothmer's right flank to the west and southwest of Tarnopol. A division of cavalry rushed the Austrians and captured Ezerzany, twenty miles southeast of Stanislau.

At the same time new blows have been delivered on the north extremity of the Lutsk breach, just south of the Kovel-Sarny railroad, at Gulevitchi and Svidniki, where the Rovno-Kovel railway crosses the Stokhod. The latter center has been the most fiercely contested portion of the Kovel defense.

See Kovel Defense Weakening.

The fact that the Russians have been able to throw bridges across the Stokhod here and at Gulevitchi and establish a foothold on the west bank of the river is taken by military experts in Petrograd to signify a definite weakening of German opposition and the tightening of the circle around Kovel.

Gen. Sakharoff's drive in the direction of Vladimir-Volynski and Sokal continues with unabated vigor. His enormous captures of prisoners, totaling in eight days nearly 40,000, are considered significant of the demoralization of the forces under Gen. von Boehm-Ermolli.

The official statement issued by the war office today says:

In the Kovel and Brody areas and also in the region to the south of the Dniester our troops continue to advance, pushing the enemy back.

German Official Statement.

BERLIN, July 30.—Russian attacks against the German forces under Gen. von Linsingen, northwest of Kovel, in Volhynia, increased in extent and in intensity yesterday, according to the German official statement given out today. The attacks, which resulted in hand to hand fighting in some places, broke down. Whenever the Russians penetrated the German trenches the invaders were ejected by a counter attack or their advance was restricted. The statement follows:

Army group of Field Marshal von Hindenburg: Strong enemy patrols were prevented by our fire from crossing the Dvina railway buildings on the Wilejka-Molodechno-Minsk line and the stations of Pogorjelsy and Horodyshohy were bombarded. In the evening a Russian attack south of Skrobowa broke down completely under our fire.

Russian Attacks More Intense.

Army group of Gen. von Linsingen: The enemy attacks increased in extent and intensity. With the exception of certain regions on the Stobychwa front. On the River Stokhod, northeast of Kovel, the attacks have been extended as far as to the west of Berestechk. They broke down with tremendous losses, mostly under our curtain of fire. Only at certain points of the entire front did it come to hand to hand fighting. Wherever the enemy had penetrated he was again ejected by our counter attack or his advance

Germans Yield Some Ground.

In the course of the night, the withdrawal which had been planned for a long time from the Stokhod curve, which projects toward the east and north of the Kovel-Rovno railway, was carried through without interference from the enemy.

Army of Count von Bothmer: Again yesterday Russian local attacks northwest and west of Bucsacs met with no success.

Austrian Official Statement.

VIENNA, July 30.—The Austrian official statement issued today reads:

The battles in east Galicia and Volhynia continue with undiminished violence, especially near Molodyloff, northwest of Kolomea and west and northwest of Bucsacs, but the Russian attacks were unsuccessful. West of Lutsk the Russians temporarily succeeded in penetrating our trenches, but were ejected by a counter attack.

TEUTON ALLIES HOLD 4,353,000 FOEMEN CAPTIVE

BERLIN, by Wireless to Sayville, N. Y., July 30.—The German government has issued officially the figures relating to the conquests at the end of the second year of the war, in a statement which reads:

The central powers occupied 481,000 square kilometres, against 180,000 a year ago. The enemy occupied in Europe 22,000 square kilometers, against 11,000 a year ago.

Captives More than Doubled.

The central powers, Bulgaria, and Turkey captured 2,638,000 enemy soldiers, against 1,695,000. Of those taken prisoner by the Germans, 5,947 officers and 348,000 men were French, 9,019 officers and 1,202,000 men were Russian, and 947 officers and 80,000 men were British.

The war booty brought to Germany, in addition to that utilized immediately at the front, comprised 11,036 cannon, 4,700,000 shells, 8,450 machine guns, and 1,556,000 rifles.

Most German Wounded Recover.

According to the list of statistics of German wounded soldiers, 90.2 per cent returned to the front, 1.4 per cent died, the rest were unfit for service or were released.

The military measures of the central powers, in consequence of vaccinations, were never disturbed by epidemics.

FRENCH ENGAGE GERMAN AIRMEN IN 11 BATTLES

Four of Kaiser's Machines Are Brought to Earth; Russians in Big Air Clash.

PARIS, July 30.—The war office tonight gave out the following report on aerial operations on the western front:

Yesterday our machines engaged in eleven fights on the Somme front. Three German machines were brought down and a fourth machine, attacked by one of our aeroplanes, was dashed to pieces within the German lines in the Argonne.

In the course of Saturday night forty bombs of 120 kilograms each were dropped on enemy railway stations in the Noyon district.

This morning one of our bombarding squadrons dropped several heavy bombs on the railway station and military establishments at Muelheim, on the right bank of the Rhine.

Russian War Report.

PETROGRAD, July 30.—The text of the Russian official statement on aerial operations reads as follows:

More than twelve German aeroplanes effected a raid on Dvinsk and threw some seventy bombs on the place. Twelve of our own machines, notwithstanding the enemy's bombardments, engaged the raiders and put them to flight.

An aviator on the cavalry staff, Capt. Kosakoff, overtook one German machine, and after a fierce fight brought him to earth. Our flying squadron bombarded the station at Elovka.

To the east of Baranovichi an enemy aeroplane was brought down by us and two aviators of the Thirty-fifth German aviation detachment were taken prisoners. The machine was destroyed by fire.

Berlin War Report.

BERLIN, July 30.—An official statement issued by the German admiralty today says:

A German air squadron on July 27, early in the morning and in the evening, attacked the Russian aeroplane station at Lebara, on the island of Zerel. In spite of a strong defense, good results were obtained by hits. Conflagrations in the sheds were observed. One house and an aero station were burned down.

On the western front, near La Chalade, in the Argonne Lieut. Baldamus put his fifth opponent in an aerial battle out of action. In addition to this, one enemy machine was shot down on the eastern edge of the Argonne and one was brought to earth to the east of Sennheim.

When the Zeppelin airships raided the English east coast on the night of July 28, a statement issued by the German admiralty today asserts, bombs were dropped on the British naval bases of Grimsby and Immingham, on the railway plants at Lincoln, on industrial establishments near Norwich, and on patrol vessels off the Humber. The lighthouse at the mouth of the Humber was destroyed. Despite being fired at with incendiary projectiles, all the German airships returned undamaged to their hangars.

After fierce fighting in thickly wooded country the statement adds, the Italians succeeded in gaining some ground. The text of the Italian statement follows:

50 BABY DEATHS IN SINGLE DAY LAID TO HEAT

Failure to Follow Health Office Advice Blamed for Many Fatalities.

The baby death rate yesterday broke the record set by the previous day. In all the deaths of fifty babies under the age of 2 years were reported to the city health office for the twenty-four hours ending at 4 o'clock. Of this number forty-five were under 1 year.

The deaths are attributed to the heat. Intestinable trouble, brought on by improper nourishment during the hot weather, caused the deaths of thirty-five of the fifty. Proper care of most of these cases, according to the health office, would have prevented 75 per cent of the deaths.

Causes of the Deaths.

Insanitary alleys, lack of proper screening from flies, too much ice water, and failure of parents to give the children warm water or lemonade at frequent intervals during the day is the cause of 90 per cent of the deaths, health officials assert.

The mortality among children over 5 years was not as great as was expected.

Only five had been reported at the health office last night. The advice offered by Dr. Robertson for the care of babies was the same as given for adults. This included plenty of warm drinks and abstinence from meats and heavy food. Light lunches with fruits and cereals was the advice of the doctor.

Appeals for Nurse Fund.

Dr. Robertson sent out another appeal for financial aid to employ nurses for sick babies of the poor. A few contributions were received and several offers of personal aid were made by citizens.

FIREMEN FLUSH STREETS AT ORDER OF THEIR CHIEF.

Men, Women, and Children Take Off Shoes and Stockings to Enjoy Cool Pavements.

As a result of Charles H. Wood's suggestion to THE TRIBUNE, passed on promptly to Health Commissioner Robertson and Fire Marshal O'Connor, a general order was sent yesterday morning to every fire station in the city to wet down the streets and sidewalks within the widest possible radius of every station.

The firemen were busy all day and brought untold relief in every neighborhood where they operated. Barefoot boys and girls, and even some men and women who had shed their shoes and stockings, luxuriated in the cool pavements and gave thanks for somebody's thoughtfulness.

"It was a great idea," said Health Commissioner Robertson. "I've no doubt those firemen lowered the number of prostrations very perceptibly."

FALL KILLS AGED WOMAN SEEKING COOL AT WINDOW

Mme. Gysin Dies After Plunge from Fourth Story of Old People's Home.

Mme. Gysin, 74 years old, an inmate of the Old People's home, 4724 Vincennes avenue, was killed yesterday morning when she fell from a fourth story window of the institution. Officials attributed her death to the heat, asserting they were satisfied she went to an open window to try to get cool and lost her balance.

Mme. Gysin was born in Geneva, Switzerland. Her sister, Mme. Bablay, who is 81 years old, is also a ward of the home. They entered the home about four years ago.

Mme. Gysin has a son, James Gysin, who is said to be in Los Angeles, Cal.

"We sent a telegram to the son this morning," said an attendant. "He sent a reply stating that it would be impossible for him to come to Chicago at this time, but gave no reason."

COOLING A HEAT VICTIM

How County Hospital Treats Persons Who Are Overcome by the Torrid Weather.

The county hospital is profligate in its use of ice. The moment a victim of heat oppression reaches ward 5, now set aside for cases of this character, he is stripped and placed in a huge bathtub of ice water. Nurses in charge of physicians keep a steady movement of the ice water over the form of the victim, while the physicians keep a close watch on the temperature. When the danger point has been passed the victim is taken out and slowly brought back to normal.

According to Cook county hospital physicians, the percentage of deaths of those received in the hospital has been decreased from 50 per cent last year to 20 per cent this year by improved methods. At the beginning of the heat wave around thirty patients were received daily. Now the number has increased to more than fifty a day.

Eight huge porcelain tubs are used for prostration cases and more than fifty physicians, internes, and nurses are assigned to this service.

"Contrary to general opinion," said Dr. Karl A. Meyer, "many of the prostrations are free of the alcohol element. But, of course, the great majority of victims smell of liquor, and it has much to do with prostrations."

Seven huge vats of cracked ice, 5x6 feet in size, were supplied for emergency use at the hospital yesterday by Dr. Joseph M. McElry. One man, whose temperature was found to be 113, was placed in one of the ice tubs and after a short time his blood had cooled to 100 degrees.

COOL WAVE TO STRIKE CHICAGO AT 7 TONIGHT

day will be a fine day, not cold, but nice, summery weather. It was only a thread for a day or two, but now the doubt is gone.

"The map tonight holds out positive relief. Up in western Minnesota tonight it is down to 70 degrees. Over the Dakotas it is nice and cool tonight, too, and way down in Nebraska the hot wave is being pushed back. It hadn't quite reached Omaha at 9 o'clock tonight, but was on its way.

EFFECT SOON TO BE FELT.

"One good thing about it is that the north end is coming faster than the middle and south part of the cool wave. That is encouraging for us here, for doubtless we will soon feel the effect of the drop on Lake Superior. The wave hit Lake Superior today, and if the wind gets veered around into that quarter then we will have fine weather for sure.

"But it's coming anyway, and we will feel it tomorrow night. I should say that the thermometer ought to register about 88 by 7 o'clock Monday night, and from then until Tuesday morning it ought to be getting a little cooler every hour.

"We must not be disappointed here if we don't have rain. There has been practically no precipitation west of the Dakotas. There is very little rain accompanying the movement of the cool wave, although local thundershowers are possible at any time in the driving back of the hot pocket of superheated air.

"But Monday will be another hot day until in the evening. If tomorrow's reading does not go above 90 degrees, I will be satisfied that it is the best we can expect. That is, 90 will be the maximum some time, from present indications.

"It was 99 at 7 o'clock tonight, but Monday night should see the air begin to cool off a little."

Men, Women, Children Die.

All laws and ordinances but the law of self-preservation were set aside last night in nearly all sections of the city when the withering heat at sundown was felling men, women, and children on a twenty-five mile line through Chicago.

With the government thermometer registering 99 degrees at 7 o'clock and prospects of the hottest night of all the heat wave since last Wednesday, people rushed from their houses, and the rich rushed out with the poor.

At 10 o'clock last night it was estimated that between 8,000 and 10,000 men and boys and a few women were sleeping in Grant park. They lay so thick in the vicinity of the monument that it was impossible to walk across the greensward.

Rich Sleep on Lawns.

Down along Drexel boulevard the well to do people capitulated. Not only did coats and collars come off, but prominent people in Chicago's affairs rushed out on to their lawns in bathrobes and rolled up for the night.

In all parks, regardless of ordinances and regulations imposed by the various boards, thousands threw themselves down and tried to sleep with their faces, in many cases, pressed into the grass and the earth to find a cooling impression.

Many private beaches were thrown open to the sufferers and Oak street, for the first time this year, was a public bathing beach with no restrictions other than the ordinary rules governing public bathing. And even these rules were ignored late at night, when a few who don't happen to have a bathing suit rushed to the beach, threw off their duds, and plunged in.

Under any other circumstances they would have been arrested on the spot, but little attention was paid to them this time.

MOUNTED POLICE CALLED TO QUELL RIOTS AT BEACH

Foot Officers Overwhelmed by Crowds Fighting to Reach Cool Water.

"I never say anything like it—never heard of anything like it."

That was the comment of C. A. McGee, director of Clarendon beach, as he surveyed the neighborhood of the resort at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Clarendon, Wilson, and the North Shore beaches had been filled to capacity at 11 o'clock in the morning. Down the streets leading from the car lines the crowds were still surging in an unbroken, steadily increasing mass. More than 75,000 men, women, and children were in the water. Thousands more, many of them in bathing suits, jammed the sidewalks and roadways.

Riot Calls Sent In.

Early in the morning a series of riot calls had been sent to the town hall police station as the mob grew impatient. Then Sheffield avenue and North Halsted street stations were called on.

More than 100 patrolmen were on duty by noon, and still the crowds were uncontrollable. Then Chief Healey was appealed to.

"Send mounted men with orders to clear the streets," was the reply. A squad soon rode in among the struggling, angry mob of men, women, and children. A certain amount of violence was unavoidable, but no arrests were made.

Many Women Prostrated.

Scores of women and children were prostrated in the midst of the crowd, and ambulance surgeons and physicians from the neighborhood were kept busy all the afternoon reviving the victims.

More than 150,000 persons, it was estimated, were in the lake at the various beaches during the day. At the Jackson park beach there was excitement when the police barred all Negroes from the water, as a result of the race riot there on Saturday.

In some instances the police were compelled to use harsh measures to force the Negroes from the beaches. In the morning several attacks were made on Negroes, who defied white bathers' orders to leave. One Negro was badly beaten.

White bathers, however, insisted they would take no chances on the possibilities of more insults to women, as alleged to have been made by Negroes the previous day.

"Some of the scenes were as wild as strike riots," said one police captain.

Reports of insanitary conditions in the bath houses reached Health Commissioner Robertson early in the day. Inspectors will be sent out to investigate.

33,000 at Diversey.

At 4:30 in the afternoon the turnstiles at Diversey beach had registered 33,000 men and women, and Manager Charles F. Geiger predicted 47,000 by closing time. Thirteen hundred persons were in the water at this beach alone by 5 o'clock in the morning.

Complaint was made that the municipal beaches close too early. The rule of closing at 10 o'clock at night is said to be unnecessary. Appeal will be made to the council committee to allow the beaches to remain open until midnight during the hottest weather.

At night at 10 o'clock the attendants at the principal beaches had difficulty in making bathers come out of the water. Extra details of policemen were utilized.

Along the north shore, many persons stayed on the sand and in the water all night.

Half of Chicago spent most of the day in the lake according to various estimators and all records were broken for the number of bathers.

Water Warmest on Record.

The temperature of the lake water was the highest in the seventeen years that government reports of this item have been kept.

"Chicago should wake up now to the fact that we need about fifteen bathing beaches like this," said Manager McGee at Clarendon beach. "Here is Chicago's bathtub right before us and no way to accommodate the crowd."

About 75,000 people were at the south side beaches and some 10,000 at Evanston and the nearby suburbs. Twenty per cent of the latter number were Chicagoans.

Seven year old Raymond De Hevre narrowly escaped drowning in Evanston when he dived from a pier into four feet of water and struck his head on a rock. His father pulled him out.

"It was a miserable situation for all concerned," said First Deputy Schuettler after his afternoon on the north side. "Every policeman at the beaches had more than enough to do. Many of the people who went to the beaches for comfort found the exact opposite."

"SHOWERS AND COOLER"

Here's a boy who believes fountains are made for purposes other than ornamental. He isn't caring a bit how much they riot around the bathing beaches. He has found a place that satisfies him about as well as any "old swimmin' hole." The fountain at the south side of the Art institute just met his ideas of a cool place.

U. S. WAR RELIEF MAY BE BALKED

Slight Evidence Germany Will Bow to British Ultimatum on Crops.

BERLIN, July 30.—Although no decision has been announced concerning Great Britain's ultimatum regarding relief work in Belgium and France and the extension of the system to Poland, the prospects for a continuance of the great work the American committee has been conducting in Belgium and northern France for the last eighteen months are not particularly bright.

Slight evidence can be found here of any intention to bow to the British demand and turn over to the inhabitants, in its entirety, the rich harvest into which the German soldier and husbandman is just beginning to put the sickle.

The question will be thrashed out and a decision made at army headquarters, where Herbert C. Hoover, chairman of the American commission for relief in Belgium, will appear as an advocate for the continuance of the commission's work.

End of Relief Work Near?

Inquiries made by the Associated Press here, however, have revealed little cheer for the prolongation of the relief work.

Dr. Alfred F. M. Zimmermann, undersecretary for foreign affairs, declared that regarding the German occupied district in Poland, Germany stood by its former offer—namely to reserve the harvest for the civilian inhabitants and soldiers and policing forces of the army of ocupation, as distinct from the army of occupation, but refused to go beyond that.

When asked whether this offer applied also to occupied France and Belgium, Dr. Zimmermann replied that this was a question which must be decided from eadquarters.

However, Dr. Zimmermann continued, should the British carry out their threat and prevent the importation of food supplies for the civilian population, the civilians would be placed on a common footing with the inhabitants of Germany. Enemy civilians, he added, now had many things which the Germans were quite unable to obtain, or obtain only with difficulty.

Blocks Money Campaign.

The possible crippling of the relief work has come just at the moment when Mr. Hoover and his colleagues were planning to launch a campaign in the United States for funds with which to continue their work, with the slogan: "Help the German babies" and at a time when the United States had become in the eyes of their beneficiaries in France and Belgium a great world benefactor and the only barrier between them and starvation.

The Associated Press correspondent, who has just returned from a several hundred mile automobile trip through northern France, found the most common sign in towns and villages, next to those indicating bombproof shelters against aeroplane attacks, to be the announcement of the agent of the American relief commission. Everywhere the correspondent heard testimonials of gratitude on the work of the commission.

WILSONS ON WEEKLY CRUISE

President and Wife Sailing Leisurely Up Potomac from Hampton Roads on Mayflower.

Old Point, Va., July 30.—The naval yacht Mayflower, with the president and Mrs. Wilson on board, left Hampton roads at noon today to complete its week end cruise by a leisurely trip up the Potomac to Washington. It is expected to reach the capital early tomorrow. All forenoon it lay at anchor off Old Point, but the presidential party did not come ashore.

AMMONIA TANK BURSTS; FUMES FILL NEIGHBORHOOD.

Unpleasant Odors Add to Suffering from the Heat Among Residents Near 3638 Broadway.

Hundreds of persons living in the vicinity of the Wieland Dairy company's branch, 3638 Broadway, had added displeasure beside the heat last night when an ammonia tank in a building at the rear of the plant exploded. The neighborhood was filled with the disagreeable fumes and many persons complained of headaches.

Battalion Chief Frank Conway of engine company No. 35, who had charge of the firemen, was overcome. He was attended by a physician and then taken to the company's quarters.

The firemen succeeded in shutting off the flow of ammonia after considerable work. The cause for the explosion could not be ascertained, unless it was the excessive heat, the firemen said. Over 5,000 gallons of milk was threatened with destruction because of the explosion.

NATIONAL UNION MEMORIAL.

The picnic grounds of Riverview park were filled to overflowing yesterday when members of the National union held their picnic there. The occasion was also set aside for a memorial service to the Eastland dead. More than sixty members of the order were drowned on the ship.

GASPING MASSES REEL TO LAKE; MOCKED BY LAW

BY CHARLES N. WHEELER.

The real story deals with Saturday night. Its sequel came yesterday when thousands, many of them children, rushed into the lake at the exclusive Oak street beach and set at naught the rigid rules of the Lincoln park board. In the heat crisis the park commissioners and the stern edict of the law gave way.

The Saturday Night Story.

It was the night of the third day of the extreme heat, when coroner's aids and undertakers were working double shifts in the melting pot district.

The word had been passed on, like the flash of a telegraph signal, that people were in the lake at the foot of Oak street.

This is not a public beach. It is opposite the millionaire homes on Lake Shore drive.

With the exception of the Oak street sand beach, the whole water front, extending all the way to Lincoln park, has been fixed up in fine style—to look at.

After much protesting the Lincoln park board finally passed a rule that people in the neighborhood, if properly attired, might have a dip in the lake between 5 and 7 a. m. An attempt was made to erect a temporary shelter on the beach in which the neighborhood bathers could change their clothes. It was torn down.

They Start Coming.

Well, things began to happen Saturday when the torrid wave crumpled up the leaves on the shrubbery and sent the death rate soaring.

Gasping for breath, children ran for the beach and threw themselves in. Older folk came. It was after the 7 o'clock dead line.

The one policeman tried to follow out instructions, but, with the perspiration streaming down his face and perhaps thinking of his own children back home, he was not harsh.

Soon hundreds were in the water.

A poor Italian mother, who had walked a mile, carried one child and had two clinging to her dress, almost swooned as she reached the beach. She staggered to the water front, dropped her one child from her arms and flung herself into the small surf. She lay there for some minutes, just content to feel the cooling water through her garments. The children, with their arms thrown up and with wonderful smiles on their faces, leaped in and lay down beside her. This was only one of many incidents.

Then a white rowboat in which sat an officer of the law appeared. He shouted:

"Out of here! Out of here!"

The younger ones shouted back to the law:

"Tip him out!" "Tell him to go to h—l!" "This is a free country!"

The policeman had one of the hardest jobs of his life. Finally he managed to get the last one back to the hot sand beach.

Then the law moved away, but immediately the figures slid gently back into the rippling surf. They made no noise this time.

Two More Die in Indiana Harbor.

Two deaths in Indiana Harbor yesterday were attributed to the heat. The dead are: Mrs. May Anderson, a Negress, 65 years old, 510 Federal place, Chicago; Henry Watt, 42 years old, an iron worker, 3616 Hemlock street, Indiana Harbor.

MILWAUKEE HAS 22 DEAD OF HEAT

FATALITIES A RECORD.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 30.—[Special.]—Twenty-two dead and more than 100 prostrated by heat was the record in Milwaukee today, the hottest day in forty-five years, according to the weather department. It was 102 degrees by the government thermometer. In addition to deaths from heat, three bathers were drowned.

It was impossible to get an accurate list of dead, as hospitals were using every effort to save the living. The coroner's office was swamped. The morgue wagon was in use all day and late at night still had four trips to make. The emergency hospital was filled with persons who had been overcome and physicians were on the jump from morning till night.

It was the worst day for fatalities in the history of Milwaukee, according to records at the county morgue. The heat became oppressive early in the day and the city sweltered until far into the night.

Eight Deaths in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., July 30.—[Special.]—One man dropped dead and three persons were overcome by heat while going up the Mississippi river on a crowded excursion boat this afternoon.

In addition to the death on the boat seven other deaths and many prostrations from the heat were reported here by 6 o'clock today.

GIRL APHASIA VICTIM CHICAGO MAN'S DAUGHTER.

Found in Buffalo, She Is Believed to Be Esther Hoose, Whose Father Is a Grocer.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 30.—It became known here tonight that the girl, aged 18, who suffered from aphasia and who was found here last Tuesday night asleep on a bench in the park is Esther Hoose, whose father is a grocer in Chicago.

Esther disappeared on Jan. 13 from Fonda, N. Y., where she had been employed as a nurse. Afterward she wandered from place to place, and before coming to Buffalo worked in Toronto in a munition plant.

Esther's parents, it is said, are divorced, her mother living in Troy, N. Y. When the mother learned her daughter had been located here, Mrs. Hoose went to Buffalo, only to learn the girl had been sent to her father in Chicago.

The name Joseph Hoose, grocer, 3216 Lake Park avenue, appears in the Chicago city directory. He could not be reached last night.

HEAT'S DEATH TOLL IN OTHER CITIES

THOUSANDS CHEER DEBUT OF JOHNNY HAND THIRD.

Five Year Old Leads Band Made Famous by Johnny the First on Municipal Pier.

Johnny Hand III. made his debut yesterday.

Johnny Hand I. tried his best to be, but hot weather and illness prevented. However, it was a great day for the Hand dynasty of musicians and the Hand band, which did its best to make the youngster's debut a success.

The debut was attended by—O, well, as many people as could jam themselves into the auditorium on the new municipal pier. When the "Municipal Pier March," which Johnny Hand II. wrote for the occasion, was announced, then out of the director's dressing room strutted the 5 year old Johnny III. in full uniform and baton in hand. He bowed, turned his back on the audience, rapped sharply on the music rack, and then the Hand bandmen winked at each other and went to it.

"Was it a success?" repeated the proud Johnny II. last night. "Was it? The crowd took to it so well that the boy directed Sousa's 'El Capitan' for an encore."

5 CHAUFFEURS OVERCOME.

Prostrations of Yellow Cab Drivers Bring Order for Lighter Uniforms.

Five chauffeurs of the Yellow Cab company were prostrated by the heat yesterday. In order to make the chauffeurs more comfortable the management ordered them to change their uniforms for something lighter. It was announced that had the company possessed 10,000 taxicabs it would have been impossible to supply the demand for motor cars.

185 BURIAL PERMITS ISSUED.

One hundred and eighty-five death certificates were issued by the city health department yesterday.

PRESS BOX AT COMISKEY PARK AIDS ICE FUND

A few of Chicago's poor will have free ice today because there was a shortage of ice cream on Thirty-fifth street yesterday. An ice cream fund was created in the press stand at Comiskey park during the doubleheader. A messenger was dispatched. He returned empty handed. Consequently there was money and no cream.

THE TRIBUNE reporter had the money and thought of the poor people without ice. It needed only a suggestion to obtain the vote of all the stockholders in the ice cream fund, favoring the transfer of the money to THE TRIBUNE ice fund.

Consequently $1.65 was added last night. Those who chipped in with a desire for ice cream and then decided it was selfish to have ice cream anyway, were: Gus Axelson, Irving Vaughn, Rex Lardner, Malcolm McLean, George Rice, Henry Hyde, Pete Kilburg, James Crusinberry, and a fat fellow who butted in.

HORSE DEATHS A MENACE; BODIES LIE IN STREETS.

Dr. Robertson Issues Emergency Orders Regarding Dead Animals —300 Succumb in Day.

Emergency measures have been made necessary in the city health department to dispose of the hundreds of bodies of horses that have fallen dead on the streets in the last few days.

An estimate made by Dr. John Dill Robertson yesterday placed the number of dead animals which have not been disposed of at 200 a day for the last three days. Yesterday only the teams of express, milk, ice and transfer wagons were on duty, but more than 300 horses were reported to have fallen dead. On Saturday the number reached 600.

POLICE THINK BOY DROWNED

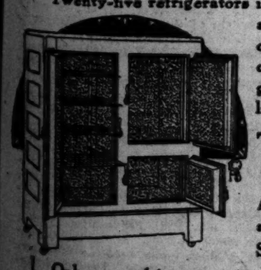

The south park police are dragging the lake at Thirty-eighth street for the body of a 10 year old boy who is believed to have been drowned yesterday. When the beach was closed at 10:30 p. m. a boy's clothes were found in one of the lockers.

Upon request, charge purchases made today will be posted to August accounts—bills rendered Sept. 1st.

—Stephen Decatur.

OUR OWN MILITARY FAILURE.

The First brigade, I. N. G., at San Antonio wants 2,758 more men than it has.

The First Illinois artillery wants 400 more men. The First Illinois cavalry wants 800 more. In the central national guard district, Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Michigan, 80,000 men are wanted to bring the guard up to war strength, as ordered by the president and required for military efficiency.

The guard organizations mobilized on the border approximate 94,000 men. About 67,000 more are needed to bring them up. They represent only the guard, or rather part of the guard, of twenty-five states. The remaining are not only all below war strength but many of their units are not even at peace strength.

There is also the question of recruiting for the enlarged regular army under the new enlistment law. On the theory that this will be taken care of in due course by our efficient regular recruiting system, though it is yet to be demonstrated that it can be done, where are the recruits for the guard to come from?

There was a suggestion from Washington the other day that if recruiting failed to bring men into the guard the draft might be used to get men. It will not be used. That is a certainty. Recruiting is hesitant, if not a failure. It may be stimulated, but we doubt it. If there were a war the volunteer system would seem to be a success for a couple of months. Then it would prove itself a failure. Skimming the cream is easy work for the free will system, but getting anything out of the skim milk is another matter.

Without the stimulus of a war, with only a disagreeable duty to be performed in Texas, the citizen of military age acceptable as military material says: "Why me?" Why Jones more than Smith? Why Smith more than Brown? The work is uninspiring and difficult. It disrupts civil life and interferes with prospects. It promises discomforts. Therefore, "Why me?"

President Wilson says that the guard will be kept at the border or near it to protect the United States, and that it is a noble work to do this. Military men intimate that it will be kept there until it has been formed into a real first line army. But the citizen looks at the duty and says: "Why me?"

At little cost we are given a new insight into the worthlessness of the volunteer system and a new idea of the value of universal service. If it were worth anything, the men would be coming forward to offer themselves for a service the president says is necessary and important. They are not coming forward because they see no reason why this service is demanded of them more than it is of their neighbors.

All would be willing to do what was necessary if they knew that the system by which they were called was equitable and fair. Only one military system is. It is the universal system.

AUTHORS, UNIONS AND COPYRIGHTS.

Members of the Authors' League of America have been informed by a committee of that organization that in its opinion the league should affiliate itself with the American Federation of Labor. Among the reasons given for this proposed action the committee specifies that members would be aided in any difficulty which might arise between them and publishers, moving picture directors, or theatrical managers over contracts, etc., even to the extent of the union whose coöperation was desired going on a strike. Another reason given by the committee was that the federation would "help the league in its endeavor to secure universal copyright and put the United States in the International Copyright league, thereby automatically securing world-wide protection for any matter copyrighted in America."

If the federation secures this last advantage to American authors it might justify the league in affiliating with it, but as a matter of fact if the federation takes this attitude it will be reversing all its previous history in the matter. As Mr. George Haven Putnam, chairman of the copyright committee of the league, points out, the committee which made the recommendations must have failed to inform itself on that point, for it was the Federation of Labor which stood in the way of acceptance of the Berne treaty by the United States and which condemned this country's authors and composers to remain unprotected by that measure.

There may be some advantages in authors joining an organization which enforces the demands by force, although we see nothing in such action but the grotesque; but assuredly one of the benefits will not be that of universal copyright.

THE LOST DAUPHIN.

An echo of an old time romance appears in a communication written by Mr. Publius V. Lawson to the Oshkosh Northwestern concerning the visit in 1841 of the Prince de Joinville to the west, during which the prince met Eleaser Williams and journeyed with him from Mackinac to Green Bay, where Williams lived. It was at this time, it may be remembered, that Williams afterwards said the prince asked him to renounce his claim to the throne of France.

Seventy years ago a furore was occasioned in the United States and Europe by the claims of Williams to have been the lost Dauphin, and the country became excited over the possibility that the Green Bay missionary was the luckless prince, who, instead of perishing miserably in the temple, was spirited away by friends of the Bourbons. Considerable literature grew up around this theory, the latest evidence being the romantic novel by the late Mrs. Catherwood.

The claim of Williams, to be the son of Louis XVI, was believed by many. His origin was supposed to be surrounded by mystery, and there were stories of funds being sent from an unknown source for his support while young and of mysterious visitors from France coming to see the boy when he lived among the Indians. There is no doubt of Williams' belief in his royal origin. He is said to have visited France during the restoration, but no credence was put in his claim by the successors of the unfortunate Louis.

Williams was a remarkable character. He was a most zealous missionary, translated the Bible into the Indian tongue, acted as secret agent for the United States, served honorably in the war of 1812, being wounded at Plattsburg, and was the author of several books and pamphlets. Even after his death in 1858 many continued to believe that he was the heir of the Bourbons.

Other claimants of the honor appeared, and so much did the evidence brought forth in favor of one of these impress the French senate that only a few years ago a pension was given to his descendant. The mystery of the "lost prince" has a never failing charm wherever it is found, but it seems strange to find it surrounding an American in the middle west.

CAPT. FRYATT.

The execution of Capt. Fryatt of the British steamship Brussels by order of a German naval court was one of the blunders that is worse than a crime. It is hardly worth while to consider the allegations and arguments in the case. It will have such preposterous consequence that it is sickening to consider it.

Opinion had somewhat steadied down. We know that here in America there was less bitterness against one side or the other. Rationality was coming out of passion. Even in the nations at war there was less of seeing red. If there is hope for the reëstablishment of reason it is not found in the jurisdiction of fury.

At the time when there was a chance to think that passion would subside and that the reason which must prevail when the readjustment comes was asserting itself, even if timidly, a German naval court blows expectations to pieces.

It is beyond comprehension that so little appreciation of the human emotions and the consequences of emotions could have prevailed in the German administration. The death of Fryatt in the manner in which he died and for the cause he was shot will be more important than the slaughter of 10,000 men.

It will have greater consequence to the world. It is in the power of an individual treated as Capt. Fryatt to affect humanity more than thousands of men also dying could affect it.

The stupidity of not perceiving this and of not perceiving that the decision of the naval court threw the whole German submarine issue out of court and out of the consideration of neutral opinion was colossal, destructive, and incomprehensible.

OUR OBLIVIOUSNESS TO CHINA'S TRADE.

In spite of the uprisings, the changes of government, the death of the president, and the general unsettled state of the country, observers of Chinese affairs report that conditions there are far from hopeless. The larger political problems are in a fair way to be solved, and the events of the last few years appear to have brought home lessons to the commercial element which it has not been slow to learn. It and the other thinking classes of the people now have a vision of their nation's future such as has not come to them before. They are determined, so far as lies in their power, to insist that internal disturbance shall cease and that China shall go forward with other nations to the goal of peace and prosperity which destiny has reserved for it.

Meanwhile what has the United States done to assist this friendly fellow nation to that end? While hundreds of millions of dollars have been freely lent to the warring countries of Europe, American capital seeking investment in China has been frustrated by the lack of government backing and by the inertness of American diplomacy. In its position China would rather be the debtor of the United States, would rather trade with our merchants than with those of Russia or Japan, countries whose designs it has every reason to fear. The United States is seeking no concessions from China other than the right of fair trade. It wants none of China's territory. China is one of our best customers, and the volume of our trade there would be greatly multiplied could our capital be encouraged at home to invest in the opportunities which China offers.

But what has happened? When American capitalists promoted the Chinchow-Aigun railway scheme American diplomacy allowed Japan to browbeat the promoters off the ground for the reason that the line would parallel the South Manchurian system. Now Russia has lent China nearly $16,000,000 on account of the Harbin-Tsitsihar railway, in North Manchuria, and another loan of $2,500,000 has been floated by a Japanese bank for the Saupingkia-Chengchiatun railway, which taps important districts in Manchuria and Mongolia.

The former railway will link up the cities of Harbin, Mergen, and Tsitsihar, giving Russia connections with the immense trade with the Amur river district and consolidating Russian interests in northern Manchuria. The Japanese loan, amply secured by the railway it promotes, gives that country first call upon a territory whose trade will repay it. Trade follows a loan of this sort, as international bankers well know, and these loans could easily have been placed in this country had our government been as alert for trade as Japan and Russia for territory.

The possibility of the China trade is unlimited This has been said so many, many times that it is trite. China knows that we have the money to lend or to buy with, and the goods which she needs. She knows that we have no designs upon her territory This we have proved more than once. And yet in her need for funds with which to promote her resources she is obliged to turn to Russia and Japan, who covet not only her trade, but her lands, and who would view with delight the destruction of her integrity. Could our supineness be greater?

Editorial of the Day.

ARMY LEGISLATION.

[From the Military Historian and Economist.]

To congress we look in vain for any recognition of the nature of our military problems. It is all politics, an adjustment to the popular vote. The grudging increase of troop units in no way touches the heart of our difficulty. Armies count in terms of cohesion, training, efficiency, and congress leaves us as unorganized for war as before.

The first step towards real reform must be to get the army, and the promotion of officers, out of politics. In this respect putting the militia on the national pay roll, without adequate provision for its proper training and efficiency, has seemingly only added to the muddle. The next step, provision for stimulus to the fit and for weeding out of the unfit, by selective promotion in the lower grades and elimination in the higher, has not even been discussed. True it is that the army does not, as a whole, want selection and elimination—it has seen in the past far too much selection of political favorites in the higher grades to believe that any honest system, based on actual merit, can be established in this country. It is not, however, what the army wants, but what the nation requires, that should be the criterion.

MY ANTIDOTE.

WITHOUT a doubt it's hotternell,
Our clothes must be asbestos;
Our eyes are coals, our bodies jell,
And no dam thing can rest us.

My office is a "Bessemer,"
An "open hearth" my flat;
My inwards seem incased in fur,
I've lost a tierce of fat.

I sweat and swink, I rant and rave,
I fuss and muss and cuss;
And, Dives-like, one drop I crave
Of happy Lazarus.

But when at night I'm at my worst
And feeling like St. John,
In boiling oil (they say) immersed,
Then just before the dawn

I'm stricken with a sudden tho't—
I turn to icy stone
And pile the blankets on my cot:
My boy's at San Antone!

FINAL RATTLE.

Prescription, Colitis:
You will proceed to first etage,
And take a very good massage;
You kneel upon your chest and knees,
The angle forty-five degrees.
Although this is a hard position
It gets the patient in condition.
If many germs in you abide
We give the straight formaldehyde.
Our brand of this is very fine
To get the patient into line.
If you're not troubled by this pest
Then aqua pura is the best.
The treatments cost three dollars per,
And very often they occur;
Which shows how hard we work and strive
To keep our patients here alive.
Now, when this part is safely through,
You then proceed to etage two,
You will receive an M. A. B.
If any nurses you can see;
If not, why then go off to bed,
And put a wet pack on your head.
At six A. M. a nurse will flit
Into your room. An icy mitt
She will apply unto your spine;
This also gets you into line.
Then thank God for the sanitarium,
And give a generous honorarium.

THE CAUSE OF DEAFNESS.

WRITING of the cause of deafness and training in lip reading, Dr. B. C. Gile gives the following causes:

Consanguineous marriages, heredity, infections, fevers, middle ear diseases resulting from colds, sore throats, infections of nose sinuses, and bad tonsils, tuberculosis and syphilis, accidents and injuries, working at noisy trades, and taking quinine or salicylates in large doses.

Where both parents are congenitally deaf the percentage of children congenitally deaf will be large. Where 1 parent is congenitally deaf such percentage will be small. Where there is a family tendency toward acquired deafness the percentage of "hard of hearing" in the progeny will be large.

Among infectious diseases scarlet fever ranks first as a cause of deafness. The most frequent causes of deafness is neglected earaches, abscesses in ears, chronic colds, and chronic sore throats.

The deaf and persons on the road to deafness should be taught how to lip-read. Miss Harriet Adams is running an instructive series of articles in the Volta Review entitled, "Letters to the Mother of a Deaf Born Child." The letter in the July number gives lessons for a boy 2 years old.

Such a boy is to be educated through his playthings. The mother gets a series of different colored balls. Directing the boy's attention to her lips she says, "Give me the blue ball." "No, that is the red one."

Making use of different colored objects he can be taught the lip movements for the colors and objects. He will acquire a considerable vocabulary of nouns, principally the names of objects, in a short time, if the mother will talk to him persistently directing his attention to the objects talked about.

Next teach him a vocabulary of verbs by throwing, bringing, carrying, drinking, eating, playing, while descriptive words are spoken and the child's eyes are watching the mother's lips.

Taken into the out of doors world he can be taught colors from flowers and grass; shapes and sizes, adjectives, verbs and adverbs from objects seen.

A deaf child must be constantly entertained or, better, must have a mind constantly occupied. "The deaf look comes on a child's face as the visible expression of a soul denied expression." A deaf child who has been lip reading and whose mind has been trained to close observation, quick appreciation and orderliness can get an education in oral schools for the deaf maintained as a part of the public school system.

NO DANGER OF CANCER.

H. B. writes: "In reaching I struck my breast on a shelf, causing pain and discoloration. What is the danger of it causing cancer?"

REPLY.

WATER ON BRAIN?

Mrs. A. R. B. writes: "Will you kindly tell me what you think about a child (girl) nineteen months old whose head is as large as an 8 year old? The first year the forehead projected very much over the eyes, while now it has grown back to look natural. She is normal every other way. The mother had never noticed that her head was out of proportion until some doctor asked her, 'How long has this child's head been growing so large?' It frightened her and she has worried a great deal since. The child is bright, though neither talks nor walks yet."

REPLY.

I think the child has hydrocephalus or water on the brain. The condition probably started before the child was born. A child 19 months old who neither talks nor walks has some brain or nerve disease. Backwardness of this character is a symptom of hydrocephalus.

REDUCING FAT.

L. R. writes: "I am 19 years of age and weigh excessively. What would you advise for a safe and quick reduction, especially the bust and thighs? 2. Does fasting reduce? Would two weeks' fasting reduce enough to be noticed? 3. Is water fattening? I favor my father in every respect and he is stout. Notwithstanding this fact can I reduce about thirty pounds?"

REPLY.

1. Quick reduction is altogether wrong. Reduce the quantity and change the quality of your food so as to reduce gradually and evenly. Eat no bread or potatoes. Eat vegetables containing less than 6 per cent starch. Eat no sugar, no sweets, and no desserts. Eat meat and fats. The bust and thighs can be reduced by massage. Some offices are equipped with a special electric chair adapted to reducing excess of fat in the bust and hips.
2. Do not try to reduce by fasting two weeks.
3. No.

HARDENING OF ARTERIES.

Mrs. R. G. R. writes: "Will you please tell me what causes high blood pressure? If a woman 60 years old has a blood pressure of 189 and complains of a pain in the back of the head and neck and dizziness, tests of urine showing she has no kidney trouble, is it certain that she has hardening of the arteries?"

REPLY.

A blood pressure of 189 in a person 60 years old means hardening of the arteries. Pain in the back of the head and neck and dizziness in a person 60 years old with a pressure of 189 are symptoms of hardening of the arteries.

Among the causes of hardening of the arteries are prolonged constipation, heavy meat diet, overeating, indulgence in alcohol or tobacco, lead poisoning, overwork, worry, old age.

PROBABLY DROPSY.

W. W. writes: "Could you tell me if I have dropsy. My hands and feet swell at times and when I press my finger on my legs below the knees it leaves the impression there."

REPLY.

I think so. See your physician and find out the cause.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright: 1916: By the Brentwood Co.]

CANADA'S royal governor general, the Duke of Connaught, who has lost so many former members of his household and of his personal staff in the present war, will be still further grieved by the cable dispatches from England confirming the news of the death at the front in France of Capt. the Hon. John Campbell of the Coldstream Guards, who was for a number of years his aid de camp.

The captain was the heir of his father, Lord Stratheden and Campbell, whose eldest son was killed in action last year, and what renders the death of Capt. John Campbell particularly sad is that the name of his 20 year old only boy, Donald Campbell, as second lieutenant of the same regiment, that is to say, the Coldstream Guards, is also among the latest list of those who have given their lives for their country.

Owing to these three deaths it is the Hon. Cecil Campbell, who has an American wife in the person of Josephine, daughter of Richard Henry Williams of New York and former wife of W. Dixon, who now becomes next heir to the barony. Their marriage took place about a year ago at Madison, N. J.

Lord Stratheden and Campbell is in his 87th year and is a son of that "Jock" Campbell who is to this day the subject of more amusing stories than any other British lawyer, living or dead. "Jock" Campbell was brought up for the Scotch ministry, but abandoned the church for the law and became in turn solicitor general and attorney general of England then lord chancellor of Ireland, and afterwards lord chief justice of England, dying on the woolsack as lord high chancellor of England. A pushful, self-confident, energetic man, impatient of obstacles and ready to take every advantage of circumstances, he possessed in a supreme degree the art of getting on in the world.

In 1836, while attorney general for England, he secured from William IV. a peerage for his wife, who was created Baroness Stratheden in her own right. It was not until five years later that he was raised to the peerage himself as Lord Campbell, on becoming lord chancellor of Ireland, and as his wife's barony was anterior to his own, she continued to call herself Lady Stratheden, while he accompanied her everywhere under the name of Lord Campbell, a practice which gave rise to some confusion and to all sorts of amusing contretemps, especially when the couple happened to be traveling together in the rural districts of England, or on the continent, where much difficulty was experienced in convincing the respectable innkeepers that Lord Campbell and Lady Stratheden were really husband and wife. Nor was it until the death of the couple that both peerages were united in their eldest son, who became Lord Stratheden and Campbell.

The present peer is their second son, and, like his famous father, a member of the legal profession, having been a master of the Supreme Court of Judicature. He married a daughter of the Right Hon. A. J. B. Beresford-Hope, granddaughter of the second Marquis of Salisbury, and it is owing to this connection with the latter's family that the son, who has now become next heir to the two baronies, bears the Christian name of Cecil. One of Cecil Campbell's youngest brothers, now serving as lieutenant of the royal navy, is married to a daughter of Henry Oppenheim, M. P., who was one of the owners of the London Daily News.

From London comes the news of the impending marriage of Capt. the Hon. Arthur Mills of the West Kent yeomanry and only surviving son and heir of Lord Hillingdon, to the Hon. Edith Cadogan, stepdaughter of Admiral of the Fleet Sir Hedworth Meux, that is to say, a daughter of his wife, by her previous marriage to the late Lord Chelsea. Capt. Mills' elder brother, an officer of the Scots guards, was killed at the front in France last year.

Capt. Mills is destined to inherit not only his father's barony and baronetcy, but also his great fortune and his partnership in the London banking firm of Glyn, Mills, Currie & Co. The late Lord Hillingdon on his demise left, aside from other property, a fortune in ready money to the tune of some $10,000,000, and it is known that this has been doubled and trebled since that time.

The late lord died in a rather startling fashion. He had accompanied Lord and Lady Pembroke, with whom he was staying, to the Wilton parish church, and the service had just commenced, when he suddenly, without warning, fell dead by the side of his hostess. He was married to the late Lady Louisa Lascelles, daughter of the third Earl of Harewood, and the present Lord Hillingdon has as wife one of the many comely daughters of the late Lord and Lady Suffield.

Lord Hillingdon's best known country place is Wildernesse, near Seven Oaks, which formerly belonged to the Marquis of Camden, its sale to Lord Hillingdon not being accomplished without a long and costly law suit. Lord Hillingdon's London residence is now Vernon house, Park place, St. James. Previous to that he owned Camelford house, at the Oxford street end of Park lane. It was at one time the residence of Princess Charlotte, daughter of George IV., and of her husband, Prince Leopold of Coburg, afterwards first king of the Belgians. Previously it had belonged to William Wyndham, Lord Grenville, premier of the "All the Talents" administration.

It is difficult to realize that old Firmin Rainbeaux, who has just died in Paris, as president of the Underground railroad of Paris and of the United Railroad companies of French Indo-China and Yunnan, and as perhaps the greatest coal magnate of France, was the same dashing and handsome equerry of Napoleon III., who in 1867 saved Czar Alexander II. from assassination, in the avenue of the Bois de Boulogne in Paris.

It may be recalled that as Alexander II., along with his eldest son and successor, afterwards Alexander III., and Emperor Napoleon III., were driving back from the grand review of the troops at Longchamps, a Polish revolutionist of the name of Berezowski fired two barrels of his pistol at the Russian monarch. Rainbeaux, as the equerry on duty, was cantering a little to the rear of the imperial equipage. He happened to catch sight of the pistol being aimed at the carriage. He was too far off to attempt to ride the would-be assassin down. So without an instant's hesitation he dug his spurs into his horse's flanks, causing it to bound forward in such a manner as to shield the czar, and to receive in its neck and body the two bullets, fired almost simultaneously, intended for the emperor.

Berezowski was almost torn to pieces by the crowd, and while Rainbeaux's horse was put out of its agony by a bullet behind the ear, the two emperors drove on. For this Rainbeaux received the grand cross of the Order of St. Stanislas of Russia and promotion to the rank of officer of the Legion of Honor, Alexander feeling that he owed the preservation of his life to him.

SO OBVIOUS.

BENEFICIARY MAY BE EXECUTOR.

Chicago, July 23.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Kindly advise me with reference to making a will. I have about $500 which I wish to will to a friend without payment of court costs. My understanding is that the will should be written, signed, certified by a notary and witnessed by three individuals and that no further procedure is necessary. 2. Can the beneficiary be named as executor?

L. T. M.

The will need not be certified to by a notary. Two witnesses are sufficient, but there are other statutory requirements, such as that three witnesses sign in the testator's presence and at his request, and in the presence of each other. We strongly recommend that you employ an attorney since an attempt to save the fees in a technical matter of this kind often results in expensive litigation. A beneficiary can be executor, but cannot be a witness.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NO GROUNDS TO BREAK LEASE.

Chicago, July 24.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I am living in a building where there is a case of infantile paralysis and have two children aged 3 and 4. Am I bound by a lease which was signed in May, or is it possible to break it without any trouble? This being such a terrible disease it seems one cannot use too much precaution.

C. A. P.

RIGHT TO TEAR DOWN FENCE.

Hammond, Ind., July 24.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—After buying a piece of property I find that my neighbors have their fence eight inches over on my lot. They claim that it is necessary for me to get my lot surveyed before they move their fence. As I am positive that I am right, can they do anything if I tear the fence down myself?

L. G. R.

If the fence is on your lot and has not been there for twenty years or over, you have a legal right to tear it down and you are not answerable for damages if you do so.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

LIABLE UNDER LEASE.

Chicago, July 23.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Kindly tell me whether or not moving out of the state breaks a flat lease?

W. H. N.

No.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WHEN WIFE IS LIABLE FOR RENT.

Chicago, July 23.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Some days ago I observed that it was stated in this column that a wife could be held for rent even though she had not signed the lease with her husband. Would you say that a wife could also be held under a lease signed by her husband, for a period during which the premises were not occupied?

SUBSCRIBER.

No, the wife is liable only for time she and husband lived together as man and wife in the flat.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FILING OF MECHANIC'S LIEN.

Chicago, July 23.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Please advise me the length of time there is in which to file a mechanic's lien against a piece of property, after the work was completed. Also the length of time in which to start suit after lien is filed.

G. W. M.

Four months in which to bring suit or file a claim for lien with clerk of Circuit court in order to be in advance of other creditors. Two years as against owner. Suit must be brought within two years.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NO GROUNDS FOR DIVORCE.

Chicago, July 24.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Can a girl who married six months ago but refuses to and never did live with her husband claim support? He is neither able nor willing to support a wife? Can she sue and get a divorce on the above grounds?

F. R. K.

1. If she refuses to live with her husband, she cannot claim support. 2. She cannot get a divorce on the ground that she has refused to live with him. If he deserted her, she can get a divorce in two years.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NOT TOO LATE TO RECORD DEED.

Chicago, July 22.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a mortgage on property containing a two-story building. Some time ago I took a notion to glance over my papers and noticed that the trustee deed is not recorded. Please inform me if it is too late to record.

E. T. G.

It is not too late to record. Any rights of third persons which may have been acquired in the past will not be affected by the recording. It will only protect you in the future.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

NO MORE N. G. FOR HIM.

Chicago, July 27.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Allow me to congratulate you for publishing letters received from "federalized national guardsmen" on the border, stating the true conditions existing there. Being an ex-member of one of the New York regiments now doing the bidding of politics instead of necessity, I am greatly interested. With all due respect to Col. Watrous, it is hardly fair that he should pass judgment on conditions existing along our southern border while admitting that he has not been there.

I took part in a ten day joint regular army and national guard war maneuver in Connecticut in August, 1912; an experience never to be forgotten. Although within some 200 miles from New York City—less than fifty miles from Bridgeport, Conn.—the government was then unable to feed us. An instance of marching from 5:30 a. m.—one sandwich, two slices of bread with a piece of rotten meat, and half a "mess cup" of near coffee for breakfast—until 4:30 p. m., covering twenty-six miles without food or water, then waiting until 7:30 p. m. for the commissary—remains vivid in the memory.

Though I have served three years in the guard, know how to handle a rifle, and am qualified as a sharpshooter, with the commissary and medical departments of the army as they are, it would be a long time before I would volunteer to take up arms.

Would that it were possible to send some of these so-called men who sit in Washington down to Texas for about four months!

EX-MEMBER N. G. N. Y.

NO DOUBT OF IT.

Chicago, July 27.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Mr. Bertrand Shadwell inquires in your issue of July 27 what is the true reason for the visit of the Deutschland to America, and suggests that it brought over secret orders to spies in this country.

I write to ask why no one has noticed what seems to me to be so obvious that the man eating sharks appeared along the Atlantic coast just after the submarine arrived and kill little children bathing in the sea. It is plain that the sharks were brought over from the Berlin zoo for this very purpose.

ARCHIBALD McARTHUR.

THE SILENT BOYCOTT.

Chicago, July 28.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The proposals for individual use of the retaliatory blacklist against foreigners, which Mr. Schnath earnestly sets forth, offer a means for American citizens to redress a wrong without waiting on our government for action. But I do not think Mr. Schnath goes far enough. The blacklist is only one of many unjust practices that have been used by belligerents to the h of American citizens, and American merchants are not our only sufferers.

Foreigners in two years of the present administration have rifled our mails, destroyed our property, delayed our shipments, and blacklisted our merchants, and have put to death American men, women, children, soldiers, and a consul of our country. I propose in our personal dealings to apply Mr. Schnath's principle of the individual blacklist or boycott against goods made in the countries that have done any of these things, for I do not suppose that Mr. Schnath regards only the blacklist among all these wrongs as reprehensible to the point of retaliation by the individual citizen.

And in order to avoid indirectly wounding our merchants in the house of their friends, by provoking retaliatory foreign boycotts against our own goods after the war, it is important that our citizens should make such action strictly individual, as Mr. Schnath does; in fact, the silent boycott, which the Chinese are said to have used so effectively against the Japanese. The principle is the thing, and the principle of the blacklist or boycott by private practice has unquestionably been a success in Ireland and in China.

CRAZED BY HEAT, KILLS NEIGHBOR, SHOOTS HIMSELF

Charles Rabe Rushes Into Home of Mrs. J. M. Hoar on Marquette Road.

Driven insane by the heat, the police believe, Charles Rabe, 948 Marquette road, a motorman on the Ashland avenue line, rushed into the home of Mrs. Joseph M. Hoar, 29 years old, 950 Marquette road, at noon yesterday, shot her three times, and then killed himself.

Mrs. Hoar, who is the wife of a machinist employed by the Pennsylvania railroad, was wounded in the neck, in the breast, and in the hand. She was taken to St. Bernard's hospital, where her condition was reported to be dangerous.

Rabe leaves a widow and two children.

Unable to Find Motive.

Mrs. Hoar was conscious when the police arrived and she made a statement to Detectives Ryan, Stokes, and Kirn. She said she never had any trouble with Rabe and that the latter shot her without provocation. She was alone in her home at the time.

"I had taken my husband's dinner to him in the railroad yards," Mrs. Hoar said. "Mrs. A. E. Gismeyer, a sister of Rabe, had accompanied me there. I had been back home less than ten minutes when suddenly Rabe rushed into the house waving a revolver above his head.

Shouted at Her.

"He shouted, 'What did you do that for?' or something like that. I'm not just sure what it was. Before I could speak to him he pointed the revolver at me and began shooting. He shot me three times and when I fell on the floor I saw him fire a bullet into his head. He fell dead a few feet from me. Then the neighbors came rushing in.

"Rabe must have gone mad from the heat. I knew him merely as a neighbor. We never had a word of any kind. He shot me without cause or reason."

Hoar was summoned home before his wife was started for the hospital. She made the same statement to him.

GUARDSMEN AT BORDER ENTITLED TO VOTE, RULING.

Opinion of New York Attorney General Establishes Precedent—Says "State of War" Exists.

Albany, N. Y., July 30.—The 17,000 New York national guardsmen in federal service on the Mexican border are entitled to vote at the November elections, because virtually a state of war exists with Mexico, according to an opinion rendered by Attorney General Egburt E. Woodbury to Secretary of State Francis M. Hugo tonight. It was stated at the attorney general's office that this opinion established a precedent regarding the franchise of the members of the militia.

IT WAS ONLY 116 AT GARY.

Three More Die and Bring Death List in the Steel Town Up to 16.

Gary, Ind., July 30.—[Special.]—Three more deaths occurred from the heat this afternoon, bringing the total dead up to sixteen. Highest temperature of the heat wave was recorded at 2 p. m. this afternoon when 116 degrees was reached. Today's dead were Daniel Gootschlang, Mrs. Jane Fulton, and William Bogdan, an infant.

CARRANZA SEEKS PRESIDENCY; TO RETIRE AS CHIEF

Will Be Succeeded Before Elections as Head of De Facto Government by Gonzales.

Laredo, Tex., July 30.—Venustiana Carranza is to retire as first chief of the de facto government of Mexico at an early date, and will be succeeded by Gen. Pablo Gonzales, according to information given out by Mexican administrative circles in Nuevo Laredo tonight.

Gen. Carranza will enter the field as a presidential candidate at the forthcoming general elections, it was said this afternoon, apparently confirming recent unofficial advices from Mexico City.

Seek to Avert Friction.

The conference of Mexican generals with Carranza soon to be held in Mexico City, according to these advices, will arrange for the call for general elections and for the retirement of the first chief. This conference was said to have been summoned to prevent possible friction in military circles over the proposed transfer of power.

While no date has been set for the conference, several high officers of the de facto government military forces have left the border within the last few days with the announced intention of proceeding to Mexico City to confer with Gen. Carranza.

Anticipated in Washington.

Washington, July 30.—The reported intention of Gen. Carranza to retire as first chief so that he may become a candidate for the presidency conforms to the expectations of officials here, who have understood he would follow that course as soon as conditions in Mexico warranted a national election. Such a retirement, it is expected, would not mean any actual change in the Mexico City government. Under the Mexican constitution Gen. Carranza will be ineligible as a presidential candidate unless he relinquishes his military position.

Villa Led Bandits in Battle.

Mexico City, July 29.—A supplemental report from Gen. Trevino to that issued yesterday regarding the fight between government troops and the forces of Villa in Chihuahua, says that Villa himself was with the bandits. A wagon with Villa's baggage was captured, but he escaped. The number of bandits killed in the fighting was 120.

Gov. Castro of Oaxaca has reported thirty-eight bandits killed in an engagement at Itla.

Killed by Belt Road Train.

An unidentified man, about 50 years old, was struck and killed by an Indiana Harbor Belt railway train in West Hammond yesterday.

FIRST CAVALRY IN NIGHT FIGHT?

NO ONE IS INJURED.

BY FLOYD P. GIBBONS.

Brownsville, Tex., July 30.—[Special.]—Several shots were exchanged last night between outposts and guards at the camp of the First Illinois cavalry and supposed Mexican bandits, who apparently were attempting to raid picket lines of cavalry horses. So far as is known, there were no casualties on either side.

The shooting took place two and one-half miles north of Brownsville.

Troop H, W. A. Peterson commanding, was on watch when Saddler H. Galonska 'discovered' four mounted men about 600 yards away from him at 1:45 a. m. Two patrols and a line of skirmishers were ordered into the brush and along adjacent roads. One trooper reported seeing a man at a distance of 200 yards, holding four horses. He swears that the man fired at him with a shotgun. The shot, whoever fired it, was the signal for opening of a general fire into the brush, although most of the men admitted that they could see nothing.

According to the troopers, the bandits were routed after considerable firing, in which no one apparently was hit. Some of the men also declared they had seen skyrockets used as signals to some distant enemy.

The men in other troops are talking much about night wild firing, but little comment is offered by the officers.

This is the third time the First cavalry has been "attacked by Mexican snipers."

FIVE WINNERS CHOSEN IN "TRIBUNE" TOURNEY

Four Land Trips with Sox or Cubs; Other to See World's Series.

BATTLE FOR PLACES.

BY CLARENCE E. ELDRIDGE.

The second annual TRIBUNE amateur baseball contest terminated yesterday with a superheated eleven inning session at Weeghman park. Afterward the winners were selected, John Simmons, Andrew Norman, D. F. Cunningham, and Al Hoffman landing the four prizes offered by THE TRIBUNE, while John Berry triumphed over the field in the battle for the B. B. Johnson award of a trip to the world's series.

The final combat furnished a fitting conclusion to the successful 1916 contest. All thirty-four athletes who survived the semi-finals were on hand, in many instances accompanied by a large body of rooters. Altogether between 1,000 and 1,500 spectators, who were admitted without charge by courtesy of President Weeghman, braved the excessive heat to see the contest. Most of them stuck until the end, which was not until well past the usual dinner hour.

Judges' Task Made Difficult.

At the finish the contest itself was nearly as heated as the weather. Due partly to the failure of some of the finalists to come up to the standard set in their earlier trials, and partly to the unexpectedly strong bid by some of the dark horses, the favorites fared badly. As a result of the form reversals the judges were compelled to revise any tentative opinions they had formd earlier, and it was only after a protracted session that the committee was able to weigh the respective merits of the various candidates and make up the list of winners.

In making the selections the regular judges who had conducted the series from the start were given valuable assistance by the advisory board, consisting of the most prominent baseball men in Chicago. President Comiskey and Manager Rowland of the White Sox, President Weeghman of the Cubs, President Tom Chivington of the American association, Robert M. Sweitzer, and Harvey T. Woodruff of THE TRIBUNE were all on hand and gave the judges the benefit of their views in making the final selections. President Johnson of the American league was unable to be present owing to an attack of bronchitis, from which he has been suffering from some days.

Surprised by Boys' Speed.

The baseball men who responded to THE TRIBUNE'S invitation to act as an advisory board were surprised at the class of baseball played by the amateurs, and were elated at the amount of interest displayed by the boys. They were unanimous in expressing the opinion that it augurs well for the future of baseball, and that so many boys reaching so high a point of development without the assistance of professional baseball furnished at least a partial answer to the charge that baseball is in danger of becoming a business at the expense of its status as a sport.

John Simmons of the Braves led the field of winners, and thereby won the reward for the excellent work he has done in THE TRIBUNE contests of the last two years. He had a bad first inning in yesterday's contest, his opponents taking advantage of his ineffectiveness and shaky support to score four runs. He settled thereafter, however, and while at no time showing as much as he displayed in the semi-finals a week ago, his consistently good record enabled him to breeze home an easy winner.

Two "Outsiders" Land Prizes.

Cunningham at shortstop continued his brilliant work, and while he pulled a pair of skull plays on the bases his fielding and hitting ability were so far superior to most of the other infield candidates that his selection was a foregone conclusion. Norman, pitcher, and Hoffman, first baseman, furnished the big surprises among the winners. They went into the finals ranked as outsiders, although at no time had their work been such that they could be considered out of the running. They came with a rush in the finals, however, and nosed out candidates who earlier had appeared to be more likely winners.

Marion Wade, the peppery little catcher, whose work has featured the contest, narrowly missed landing one of the four big prizes. His receiving came in for favorable comment by several of the members of the advisory board, and it was only after prolonged consultation that it was decided he fell just short of the caliber necessary to carry him into the list of winners. John Hollison, a right hand pitcher, likewise continued the effective work he has done in every game of the series, and both he and Wade, who are still well within the age limit, will be worth watching in next year's contest.

Fight for Johnson Prize.

Although most of the boys were contending for THE TRIBUNE prizes, the attractive offer of a trip to the world's series, made by B. B. Johnson, brought out the feature contest of the series. While there were five boys in the finals eligible for this prize, it was soon apparent that the real fight was between John Berry, pitcher, and Harold Diehl, third baseman.

Both boys went after the prize with the coolness of veterans, and both were at their best. Diehl's batting was a feature of the contest, while his aggressiveness in the field brought forth frequent rounds of applause from the spectators and commendation from the judges. At the last the margin by which Berry won was dangerously small, the judges finding it difficult to choose between them.

All Finalists Deserve Praise.

No attempt will be made this year, as was done a year ago, to compile a list of the unsuccessful candidates who are entitled to honorable mention. Such a list necessarily would include all the boys who fought their way into the final contest, for they were the pick of a field of nearly 600 of the best amateur ball players in Chicago.

'TRIBUNE' HURLER WINS FOR BRAVES IN 12 ROUNDS, 6-3

Pitcher Simmons, one of the four winners in THE TRIBUNE amateur tourney, saved the Vohoska Braves from defeat in the ninth and pitched four scoreless innings against the Merrimacs, while his mates pushed three runs over in the twelfth, winning, 6 to 3.

Steger, also a TRIBUNE finalist, drove in the first two runs, and Condon sent home the third tally with his fourth hit. Simmons was presented with a silver cup by his club.

During the final round Umpire Carson called one of the Braves safe at the plate. An altercation involving arbiter and players followed and Catcher Schulz of the Braves was struck on the head. A hurry call was sent to the police. Four stitches closed the backstop's wound. No arrests were made and the game proceeded to a conclusion. Score:

A. B. C. TEAM BEATS KOKOMO

Kokomo, Ind., July 30.—C. I. Taylor's A. B. C. of Indianapolis defeated George Mullin here, 6 to 4. The features were a home run by Scott of the Red Sox and the fielding and base running of Shively for the visitors.

CHANEY AGREES TO TERMS FOR BATTLE WITH KILBANE.

Baltimore, Md., July 30.—George Chaney, featherweight pugilist of Baltimore, notified Matt Hinkel, the Cleveland, O., promoter that he was ready to sign articles of agreement to meet Champion Johnny Kilbane Labor day in a fifteen round championship battle at Cedar Point, a summer resort on Lake Erie, near Sandusky, O. Chaney accepted Hinkel's offer of $5,500 of a $15 500 purse. Kilbane is to receive $10,000. Hinkel left for home to secure Kilbane's signature to the agreement.

LOCAL MEN PLAY TODAY.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 30.—With the matches of the Chicago entrants postponed until Monday, the opening rounds of the Twenty-sixth annual Northwestern Tennis tournament were played Saturday, largely by Minneapolis men.

J. J. Armstrong, Philadelphia, former champion, who was considered one of the leading contenders for the title among the thirty-eight players entered, was unable to be present on the opening day because of competition which will keep him over Monday in the Longwood tournament at Boston. Armstrong's withdrawal from the northwestern meet, as now seems probable, would leave the contest principally between the Chicago and Minneapolis players.

WINS A 1915 TENNIS TITLE

Narragansett Pier, R. I., July 30.—The Point Judith tennis championship of 1915 was decided today when Watson M. Washburn of New York defeated Ward Dawson of California in a four set match, 2—6, 7—5, 6—0, 8—6. The match had been postponed from last August.

Lincoln Park Wins Net Match.

Lincoln park tennis players scored their fifth straight victory in the Chicago Public Parks Tennis association when they registered a 5 to 4 slam against the Union Park club on the lovers' courts. Lincoln Park club now is practically assured the Armour trophy offered for the association leader.

HAYES AND BURDICK WIN DOUBLES TITLE

BY KEENE GARDINER.

In the last contest in the state turf tennis court tournament Walter T. Hayes and Ralph Burdick won the Illinois doubles title from Al Green Jr. and Marshall G. Ketchum in straight sets, 6—4, 6—1, 6—4, at the Wanderers' club yesterday.

The first and last sets of the match were keenly contested, excellent tennis being displayed on both sides. During the second frame Ketchum and Green suffered a slump and captured only one game, but their play outside of that was fast and brainy. With a better break of luck they might have come away with at least one set to their credit.

Ketchum Star of Match.

Ketchum took the individual honors of the match. His service had a long hop that troubled both Hayes and Burdick, and his strange backhand strokes gained many points. His partner, who was looked to for some brilliant work, fell below his standard.

The younger team played a consistent lobbing game all the way. In the first frame Hayes and Burdick were forced back and forth across the court and seemed troubled several times but tightened up and began a placing and driving game which put their opponents permanently on the defensive, except for a short spurt in the third set.

Burdick's net smashing and Hayes' side line shots were almost impossible to handle. Their position was good throughout after the first few games. The whole match was merely another exhibition of the value of experience and steadiness.

Hubbell Wins Consolation.

Playing through three and one-half hours of the morning's terrific heat, Art Hubbell, Wanderers' man, and W. S. Miller, South Park star, fought five hard sets in the consolation finals. Hubbell finally won out, 7—5, 0—6, 5—7, 6—1, 6—1, in a seesaw match. The Wanderers' lad revealed unexpected good generalship against his seasoned opponent. He abandoned his driving and smashing game at the start for a careful placing game and gradually wore Miller out, so that he had his own way in the last two sets.

Southern Illinois Games.

Duquoin, Ill., July 30.—[Special.]—In the southern Illinois ball games today Elkville defeated Hurst, 6 to 1, while Pinckneyville won he first of a series of games with Centralia, 3 to 1. Goss twirled for Pinckneyville and gave two hits.

PLAN GOLF COURSE SOUTH OF MAYWOOD

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Chicago is to have another golf course. Richard Salter, the Glen Oak golfer, who died recently, had for some time been inspecting sites on the west side with a view to starting a club along similar lines to those in use at Harlem, where it is possible to play by paying a daily fee.

Associates of Mr. Salter have gone ahead with their plans. A plot of 160 acres, located to the southwest of Maywood on the Butterfield road, has been leased with the option of purchase. Tom Bendelow has been engaged to lay out a course and will go over the property this week.

The promotors plan to have the ground ready for play next spring as in the event of racing being resumed at Harlem, the golfers there will be unable to play during the progress of a meeting.

DAVENI TAKES LEAD IN FIGHT FOR BIKE TRIP

Wins One-Third Mile Title Race, First of Series to Select Newark Team.

E. Daveni of the Italian-American Cycle club was the first rider to score in the series of races which will result in two of Chicago's crack cyclists making a trip to the Newark velodrome to represent the west in a series of races with eastern cracks.

Daveni won the one-third mile western amateur championship at the velodrome last night, thereby making the first high score for the Newark trip. E. Kockler of the Mystic A. C. was second and William Kell of the German-American club third.

Four more races are to be held, and the rider having the highest number of points will be first choice for the trip. The next highest score will be second choice. Next Saturday night the half mile, Newark race, will be run, and Sunday night the mile contest will be the feature.

Ernest Kockler won the ten mile open and his friends and backers say he is sure to be one of the leaders when the Newark travelers are picked. Summaries:

TWO VICTORIES PUT SOX HALF A GAME FROM LEAD

15,000 SEE BARGAIN.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Galloping home with both games of a double header against Connie Mack's tail enders de luxe, the White Sox yesterday leaped into second place in the American league race and are only a half a combat from the top. They succeeded in passing the Yankees, who suffered two defeats in St. Louis, but Boston's spry Red Sox trimmed the Tigers one game and nosed their way into the lead. The scores at Comiskey park were 10 to 1 and 7 to 0.

Although it was about the hottest day Chicago ever had, there were nearly 15,000 persons gathered at the park to see the Sox climb. They couldn't have come for any other reason, though one fan admitted he went there to get his mind off the weather. With the Macks playing their usual class D game, the Sox didn't even have to exert themselves to grab both contests. Any big league team that loses a game to such an outfit ought to be fined.

Rowland Uses Some Subs.

Just to show his disregard for the Philadelphia team, Manager Rowland played both games without using Ray Schalk, Jack Lapp doing all the back stopping. Before the first game was over the south side leader had several more of his regulars resting in the shade, and allowed second string men to fill their places.

The first game wasn't a contest at any stage, although the Macks did get off in front, scoring their run in the first inning. The Sox banged home five men in the second and two more in the third and then sat back and took it easy the rest of the way. The Sox made nineteen hits for a total of thirty-six bases. There were five triples and a home run mixed up in the outlay. Last Sunday the Sox made twenty hits in a game, so Sunday must be their swatting day.

Mack's Pitcher Gets Watch.

Eddie Cicotte was on the slab and worked the entire game with nothing to worry him except the heat. He was opposed by young Lester Lanning, a native of Harvard, Ill., and a squad of the boys from the old home town were in to cheer. They brought along a gold watch and chain to be presented to young Lanning the first time he came to bat.

For a time it looked as if the boy never would get a chance to bat, but Connie Mack made him stick to the job, so he got the watch and chain all right. In the first inning the boy fanned both Eddie Collins and Joe Jackson. Some one should have run out and handed him the watch right then. He was a badly whipped young man when he finally did get it.

Sox Gets Six in One Round.

The second game was better because it was a fight for five innings, and had a climax with a real thrill in the sixth. In the first five rounds the Sox made only one hit off a young lad named Williams. No one knows yet whence he came. However, he walked so many people the Sox had one run. It looked a bit dangerous, though, until the sixth, when he walked Weaver and Eddie Collins, after which Joe Jackson poled a swell drive to the wall in left center for a home run. That was about the only time all afternoon when a fellow felt like cheering. After the homer several members of the Sox began walloping the ball, and before Williams could get the side out a cluster of six runs had counted.

Mel Wolfgang was on the slab for the Sox and went through to the finish without a dent. In the first inning he filled the bases with no one out, but his mates came to his rescue with a double play that prevented any scoring. In the next inning the same thing happened again, after which Mel pitched steady and true to the finish.

Where Do You Get 'Em, Connie?

Connie Mack introduced a few more unheard of athletes as members of his team. Some one said he went out and snared a bus load of amateurs off the Chicago lots yesterday morning and promised them a dinner at the hotel if they would come out and play ball for him. We don't believe the rumor, however, because there are some pretty good ball players on Chicago's lots.

One reason the first game was such a joke was the absence of Lajoie and one or two of the other regulars to make room for the alleged amateurs. In the second game Lajoie and McInnis stuck through the entire fight, so there were at least two regular major leaguers for the Sox to lick.

Notes

Jim Scott is likely to do the hurling for Chicago, and barring miracles he will win.

The Sox seemed more interested in the results at St. Louis and Detroit than the games at home.

One spectator was overcome with the heat and physicians attended him under the grandstand.

Manager Rowland believes in making hay while the sun shines and it's great haying weather when the Macks are in town.

Not an error was made by the Sox in either game and several times they turned out sparkling plays just to keep in trim for the coming of the Senators and Red Sox.

Zeb Terry twisted his foot slightly in the second game in a play at first base and had to retire. McMullin went to third and Weaver to short for the balance of the fray.

With four games to be played against the Macks in the next three days, the Sox are likely to break into first place. Whether they can hold it after the Senators and Red Sox come is another matter.

Jack Ness almost equaled his batting mark of a week ago Sunday, when he poled five safeties in Detroit. He got four successive blows in the first game yesterday, but on his fifth appearance drew a base on balls.

Eddie Collins was given a rest after four rounds of the first game had been played, McMullin taking his place at second. Felsch also was allowed to retire after the sixth. He had made a single, a home run, and a triple, and scored three runs up to that time.

AMERICAN GIANTS TAKE TWO FROM CUBAN STARS.

American Giants won both games of a double header from the Cuban Stars at Schorling's park before another big bargain day crowd. The scores were 5 to 3 and 8 to 1. The second game went seven rounds. Grant's daisy-cutting homer in the sixth won the opener, as it sent two in ahead of him. The ball rolled under the scoreboard. Scores:

Detroit, Mich., July 30.—Boston found Mitchell for ten hits in four innings and easily defeated Detroit, 9 to 3, thereby taking first place in the pennant race when St. Louis beat New York twice. Cunningham, who succeeded Mitchell, did much better, the visitors making only one run off his delivery. Mays' work on the slab for Boston was good at all times. HURL BOTTLES AT UMP WHEN SENATORS BEAT INDIANS, 2-1

Cleveland, O., July 30.—Washington won from Cleveland, 2 to 1 in ten innings. McBride led off in the tenth with a pop fly to center which Roth and Smith let fall between them. Johnson bunted. Coveleskie threw to third, but O'Loughlin called McBride safe. Third Baseman Chapman protested and was put out of the game, the first time during his baseball career. McBride then scored on Shanks' sacrifice fly. A few pop bottles were thrown at O'Loughlin, but none came close. Police protected him after the game. Tris Speaker sprained his left ankle in making a low running catch in the fourth inning and had to be carried from the field. Score:

WARM AFFECTION.

In days of old,
When days were cold
And furnace fires held sway,
If one sought Jim
To cuddle him
He'd laugh and run away.

But nowadays,
When Sol's boiled rays
Drive countless thousands wild,
Young Jimmy, he
Is easily
The world's most lovin' child.

And O, what bliss,
In heat like this,
To have the little bug
Climb on my knee
And say to me:

BROWNS BEAT YANKS TWICE, 2-1 AND 2 TO 0

St. Louis, Mo., July 30.—St. Louis won its tenth straight game and its fourth straight from New York by taking both games of a double header, 2 to 1 and 2 to 0, dropping New York to third place.

With St. Louis leading, 2 to 1, in the ninth of the first game, New York filled the bases, but failed to score.

The second was a pitchers' battle, between the veteran Eddie Plank and Fisher. Plank had better control and received better support. Pratt accepted several difficult chances.

St. Louis scored the only runs of the game in the third inning. Lavan got a base on balls. Plank flied, then Lavan stole second. Shotton singled, Lavan going to third. Shotton was out on a fielder's choice, Austin reaching first. W. Miller walked, filling the bases. Sisler singled, scoring Lavan and Austin. The attendance was 16,000. Scores:

WILSON, MOLLWITZ REPORT TO TINKERS; SCHULTE, FISCHER GO

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 30.—[Special.]—Reinforced by Art Wilson and Fritz Mollwitz, the Cubs will resume their congested series with the Phillies tomorrow with renewed confidence. Wilson arrived tonight from New York, where the Pittsburgh team is stopping, and Mollwitz came in from Chicago in the morning.

There never has been any question in the minds of baseball men about the Cub officials making a bum guess last winter when they elected to let Art Wilson go to the Pirates and retained Archer and Fischer for the back stopping, but it required experience for the new magnates to realize their mistake, which now has been rectified. It is pointed out rather jocularly in this section that the Cubs are giving two players in exchange for one whom they had only a few months ago.

Fischer and Schulte Leave.

Fischer and Schulte departed this afternoon for New York to report to Manager Callahan. They went with the best wishes of their teammates. Parting with Schulte was particularly regretful, as he was the last of the famous old Cub machine to go out of active service in Chicago. He left without bidding Tinker good-by, as the Cub pilot was in Atlantic City over Sunday.

Few of the Cubs made the trip to the ocean, as it was quite comfortable in the Quaker City without the crowds that make getting to and from the "world's greatest swimming hole" unpleasant.

Catcher to Be Released.

The arrival of Catcher Elliott, who is expected before the Cubs leave here, probably will mean the release of another catcher, but the manager has declined to guess whether it would be Archer or Clemons.

Mollwitz is not expected to displace Saier from first base except when a southpaw is pitching against the Cubs. The new first baseman, in describing the superheated conditions of Milwaukeeans, pulled this one:

"It was so hot that dead dogs were running around the streets."

Four more games remain to be played here in three days. Only one is booked for tomorrow, with a double header on Tuesday and another single game on Wednesday, after which the Cubs will hike to New York to play eight more games with the Giants and Robins if the street car tangle there will permit.

Williams Leaves for Chicago.

Cy Williams left for Chicago with his arm in a sling and will be out of commission for at least a fortnight, putting the outfield work up to Kelly, Mann, and Flack.

HENRY, 7; JOLIET, 0.

Henry, Ill., July 30.—[Special.]—Henry Greys outclassed Joliet by fast team work and on the bases, winning, 7 to 0. Buckeye, the Joliet southpaw, was knocked off the slab in the third inning. Anderson, Joliet's third baseman, had a finger broken in the third inning from a hard drive. Eller for Henry pitched good ball, striking out ten men. Score:

HEAT FELLS TWO PLAYERS IN GAME WON BY GARDENS

Asmussen and Ormsby Collapse as Gunthers Are Beaten by 7 to 5 Score.

Two players collapsed during the seesaw battle between Garden City and Gunthers at Garden City park yesterday. The home club won, 7 to 5, after two and one-half hours of pastiming under the blazing sun.

Tommy Asmussen toppled over in the fourth after scoring behind two teammates on a couple of bad throws following his safe bunt. Some ten minutes of Red Cross work were needed before Tom was able to resume play. Red Ormsby, also of Garden City, was all in after the seventh, and Bob Wicker, ex-Cub, easily maintained the 7 to 5 margin he had at that time.

The Garden Citys go to Fenimore, Wis., Thursday and Friday for a series with the Cuban Stars, the third game of which will be played at Garden City park Aug. 13. Score:

Chicagoans Flock to Wyoming Ranches

WITH memories of torrid days and visions of bracing western joys, a special train full of Chicagoans left last night on the Burlington, with the ranches of Wyoming their destination. From Lake Forest went Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hotz, Miss Lila Hotz, and young Robert Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Letts, with Miss Courtney and Hollis with them; Miss Martha Clow, Miss Anita Aldrich, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elting, all bound for the H. F. Bar ranch at Buffalo, Wyoming.

With Tepee lodge as their destination were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Jewett Johnson and Miss Mabel Linn.

The younger set at Lake Forest is thus suffering a severe loss, and whatever the Red Cross will do without Mrs. Hotz and her charming and efficient aid no one yet dares to guess.

The H. F. Bar ranch is especially popular this season with Chicagoans. Mrs. E. A. Russell and her two daughters, Miss Doris and Miss Mary Russell; Mrs. Jacob Baur and little Rosemary Baur, Mrs. E. G. Tracy and her daughter, Miss Marion Tracy, are all at the ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Honoré Palmer of 849 Lincoln parkway left Saturday morning for their ranch in Wyoming, where they will be for a few weeks. Mr. Palmer's mother, Mrs. Potter Palmer, is still in town. She plans to join her son and Mrs. Palmer in Estes Park, Colo., the middle of the month.

"A Guest for Dinner," by Lewis Beach, will be one of the plays which the Harvard boys of Winnetka will present Friday evening at the Little playhouse in Lake Forest, the charming little cottage theater which Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Aldis have made such a success and which was used until last week for the Red Cross work shop.

Three other plays—"The Other Voice," by S. H. Fairbank; "America Passes By," by Kenneth Andrews, and "The Price of Orchids," by Winifred Hawbridge—will be given. Lewis Beach, S. H. Fairbank, J. V. A. Weaver, and James Seymour, who are specializing in the drama under Prof. Baker at Harvard, Miss Blanche Day of Winnetka, Miss Marion King of Kenilworth, Mrs. Cecil Barnes, and Maird Bell comprise the company. James Seymour is doing the coaching for the performance.

Mrs. I. C. Elston Jr. of 1235 Astor street has gone to Estes Park, Colo., for the rest of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor of Lake Forest gave a dinner Saturday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farwell, who are spending the week end with them at "Fairlawn."

George McKiplock has gone to Plattsburgh to visit his son, George McKinlock Jr., who is taking the army training course there.

Mrs. William G. Hibbard Jr. of Lake Forest will have a luncheon tomorrow for Prof. Root's garden class, in which are most of the garden lovers of the suburb.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus S. Peabody of 936 Lake Shore drive plan to go east tomorrow. They will make a motor trip through Canada and New England.

Hugh McBirney Johnston of Lake Forest has bought the old Young place on the Green Bay road which used to be called Cedar Lawn. It is supposed that he will use it for a farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bell and their daughter, Helen, of 1440 Dearborn parkway, will spend the month of August in the highlands of Ontario, Canada. They will go to Montreal and other Canadian cities during September.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Conner of 4945 Ellis avenue are at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., for a month. From there they plan to go to a large farm in Virginia before returning to Chicago in September.

Mrs. Charles Scates and her niece, Miss Helen Scates, of 709 Montrose avenue, are at their cottage at Macatawa, Mich. Mr. Scates sailed The Raven in the Lincoln Park Yacht club race which started Saturday afternoon.

Says London Poor Are Happy.

Col. George French, who for the last eight years has been second in command of the Salvation army between Chicago and Honolulu, will leave on Aug. 24 for Corea, where he is to supervise the missionary work.

Col. French has just returned from London, where he received his final orders.

"The poor in London are better off and happier than they were before the war," he said. "While food is fairly high—butter and eggs sell for about 2 shillings—the poor never before were so sure of their jobs or so sure of good wages."

Col. French's headquarters during the last fifteen years have been in Chicago. For five years before he was given the office from which he is now retiring he was colonel in command of the Chicago district.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK
by JANE EDDINGTON

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

Clear fat salt pork has a caloric value of 3,575 a pound. The edible portion of bacon is 2,836, and also of baking powder biscuits. Biscuits and their kind yield about 1,300 calories—about a third the energy of pork.

Staple Salt Pork.

ALTHOUGH a popular writer affirms that there is proof that pig meat is six times as risky as beef, yet people are still consuming tops of ham, bacon, salt pork and sausage., dry salt backs and bellies, pickled pig's feet, etc.

This risk is certainly reduced as the quantities served are small, as in the case of salt pork and bacon. It is the flavor of ham and bacon that seems to make them indispensable. It is the staple quality of salt pork that makes it indispensable to camper and country dweller. It has many possibilities in the hand of the expert cook who lards his game, his tenderloin, small fowl, etc., and uses pork in many a stew and soup and in vegetable cookery.

It is almost impossible to make a genuine fish chowder without a little salt pork fried out first and topped with layers of sliced potatoes, an onion or two, and the pieces of fish, the whole covered with cold water, cooked gently, finished with milk and some Boston crackers. Raw potatoes fried in pork fat in a covered pan are good out of door food, although not eminently digestible, especially if burned. The following old recipe has found abundant appreciation whenever I have printed it:

Salt Pork in Cream Gravy.

Cut pork into half inch slices, and then cut this into dice. Lightly frizzle this in a frying pan, stirring it rather constantly and lifting it from the fire the minute the fat smokes. Keep it just at the point where it will not do so if you can. The dice should be lightly browned on all sides, then drained of fat in a strainer or taken up with a colander spoon. Measure the fat in the pan, and pour off all but one tablespoonful. Add to it a tablespoon of flour, perfectly blending the two, and cooking somewhat, then gradually add one cup of milk, stirring all the time, and cook about ten minutes. Put the pork dice back into this and stir for a minute or two and then serve with boiled potatoes or bread. If much pork is fried, more gravy should be made, but just enough to make two or three tablespoons of fat is a good portion if the dice are small, for the cup of milk.

Beauty Hints by Antoinette Donnelly

If you missed the Antoinette Donnelly series telling how she reduced Mrs. Lane thirty-six pounds in six weeks send her stamped addressed envelope and she will mail you complete exercise and diet instructions. Any other questions on obesity will be gladly answered by Miss Donnelly.

SUSIE: THE USE OF HOT WATER or cold drinks or food, especially if the one is immediately followed by the other, and the excessive use of acid drinks or acid fruits, if the mouth is not immediately washed after their use, are likely to cause decay. When a tooth has begun to decay it should be filled at once. This not only prevents the decay from spreading in the tooth, but it keeps it from extending to the next tooth. I shall be glad to send you my instructions for the care of the teeth and mouth hygiene if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

LETTY: I HAVE NO FORMULAS for liquid powders. I do not approve of liquid powders, as they nearly always contain lead or zinc, which are both bad for the skin. "Gooseflesh" comes from being cold or poor circulation. Exercise to stimulate the circulation.

MARY: THE USE OF AN EYEBROW pencil will not harm your eyes or wrinkle your skin. The brows are touched lightly with the pencil. It is a matter of taste as to a bright or dull polish on the nails. Personally I prefer not too decided a polish.

SIXTEEN: THE LATEST AND always the style for a girl of 16 to wear her hair is in the most girlish and simple fashion, depending, of course, upon the shape of the head and face. This is an excellent exercise for reducing the ankles: Lie flat on your back with your hands at your sides, palms touching the floor. First kick the right leg up as high as you can, and then the left leg, keeping toes stretched out. Do this exercise five times with the right leg and then five times with the left leg, increasing daily up to fifty times.

STELLA: THERE IS NO WAY OF reducing large knuckles. By building up the rest of the hand the knuckles will be less conspicuous. Massage with pure olive oil or a good cold cream and let the movements be downward toward the finger tips, with intermediate light strokes across the back of the hand. The inside of the palm is massaged towards the fingers also, with interspersed rotary movement toward the middle of the palm.

PRETTY: YOU CAN PRACTICE deep breathing by standing erect with your hands at your sides. Inhale a long, deep breath through the nostrils, slowly raising both hands as you inhale. Raise hands as high as you can. Then lower them back to your sides, slowly exhaling as you lower them. Repeat ten times at first, increasing gradually to one hundred times.

E. J. M.: IF YOU WILL FOLLOW carefully the articles on "How I Am Making Ines Hahn's Sick Hair Well" you will be able, I am sure, to solve your problem about the oily condition of your hair, how to get rid of the dandruff, and how to promote the growth of the hair. It all takes time and depends upon how readily your scalp responds to treatment. You ought to see an improvement in a month or two. By a thorough daily cleansing of your face with a complexion brush, plenty of warm water, and a pure bland soap you will be able to get rid of the blackheads and pimples. I shall be glad to send you my formula for closing enlarged pores and my treatment for blackheads and pimples if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

Blouses Tending Away from the Tailor Style.

BY HELEN MERRILL EMERY.

THE separate blouse is distinctly of American origin, and for years Paris frowned upon it and refused to consider it seriously. That French women have more or less outgrown their distaste for separate blouses is proved conclusively by the extraordinary number of new models which are appearing on all sides—each one lovelier than the one before and each one showing distinctive and original touches.

Delightfully feminine are the three charming blouses portrayed in the illustration, and particularly interesting, for they show a decided tendency away from the tailor style which is characteristic of the prevailing mode. With the approach of autumn chiffons, tulles, and soft silks replace to a great extent the lingerie fabrics of the summer.

The upper figure at the left is of cream tulle with frills of tulle, and full sleeves which are gathered into long tight cuffs. In the right hand corner is shown a blouse developed in two shades of mauve tulle, cleverly combined with frills of cream net daintily embroidered at the edges. The most interesting feature of this attractive model is the bolero of dark mauve tulle caught at the back with bow and ends of black velvet.

Completing this trio is a blouse which plainly shows the mark of Paris in its coloring and in the beautiful embroidery which adorns it, for the French never fail to give touches of handwork which contribute so much to the daintiness and charm of their creations. The original of this model is developed in cerise chiffon over liberty satin, and is embroidered with pearl beads of the same tone.

Billie was fond of the picture shows and his grandpa took him frequently to the early evening performance, but as Billie was rather inclined to sleep during the show grandpa always insisted that he must take a nap in the afternoon so that he would be wide awake in the evening. One evening they went to a show and it was so good and Billie was so pleased that he insisted upon going to another nearby. They went and it proved to be so stupid that Billie went fast asleep and was hard to arouse after the performance. Grandpa reproved Billie and remarked that he must have failed to take his nap that afternoon. Billie's reply was, "Yes, I did take a nap, but I only slept enough for one picture show." D. I. Y.

When my little boy was about 3 years old he never wanted us to go any place unless we took him. One night we were going out and his grandma came to stay with him. While I was dressing he came in the room and asked: "Where are you going?"

"I am going to step out a minute," I answered.

He turned and went down stairs. In a few minutes he came back with his cap and coat on. I asked him where he was going and he s... O, I am just going to step out with you.

Half way across the street his cart struck a stone, turned over, and spilled all the playthings into the street. Marion ran out to him, saying: "Ell, oo needn't det mad at the tart dess tause I'se bad." H. V.

Real Love Stories

What a Ring Did.

SEVERAL years ago I was offered a position in New York City, which I accepted. After a year's absence from Chicago I came back to pay a visit of several weeks. My chum entertained a number of our friends at an "April fools' party."

Having heard through her that many of the girls had become engaged since I had left, I persuaded mother to loan me her diamond ring for the evening, with which I adorned my left ring finger. This was done merely as a joke. Every one knew this with the exception of one fine looking young man, a solicitor and my chum's cousin, who was spending a week or two at her home.

My "engagement" was referred to quite frequently during the evening, and when one of the boys went so far as to ask when the wedding was coming off I replied jokingly, "Perhaps in June."

During my short stay in Chicago my chum, her cousin, and I spent a most enjoyable time together. Nothing further was said of my "engagement," but it was taken for granted by the young solicitor that the man in question lived in New York City.

One warm August afternoon when back at work in New York the girls in the office planned a beach party. As the water was somewhat chilly, I did not stay in long, but sat on the beach to watch their sport. I was enjoying myself immensely when all of a sudden two large masculine hands were gently placed over my eyes and all was darkness. I tried to release myself, and when asked the question "Guess who?" I became rather indignant, as I did not recognize the voice. Thinking some one had made a mistake, I said: "Are you sure you are not mistaken? What is my name?" The voice answered, "It was Miss Turner, but now no doubt it is Mrs. So-and-So." This more than surprised me, and immediately I set myself right, saying, "I cannot imagine who you are, but I will have you know I am now and always will be Miss Turner."

Garrett

Upon this statement the hands were drawn away, and, looking up, who should I see but my chum's cousin, who at that time was soliciting in the east. After a full explanation (by request) of the April fool joke and a somewhat short engagement we were married in New York.

I have never been able to convince my friends that the ring I wore at the party on my visit to Chicago was any other than the one which now has its place next to my wedding ring. Mrs. P. B.

He Doesn't Write.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl 17, and I would like to ask your advice. I went with a boy last winter to different places. We were good friends. He heard that his sister was sick and left to go to her, a distance of 200 miles. He has not written to me. Do you think it would be proper for me to write to him? I would like to hear from him, as I like him.

"E."

Under the circumstances I think you might properly write him a little note, inquiring about his sister, of course. He may not have intentionally neglected you, but if he doesn't answer this note promptly, then you won't be blamed for drawing the inference that it's been a case of out of sight out of mind. So dry your tears and look elsewhere for comfort.

The Amateur Gardener
by Eben E. Rexford

Midsummer Work in the Garden.

KEEP the beds and borders so clean that they will be pleasant to look at if there are no flowers in them. Neatness is one of the successful gardener's strong points. A garden filled with choice plants loses half its charm if it lacks care.

It is a good idea to go over each portion of the garden and take an inventory of it at this time of the year. By that I mean to examine it critically to make sure how much material you have on hand that is worth carrying over to another year.

In all gardens there are likely to be plants of no particular value, and it is not advisable to give up space to them when there are so many desirable kinds available. A yearly weeding out process should prevail. Throw out everything that is inferior. I wouldn't advise uprooting these just at this time, but I would mark them for removal later in the season, and would arrange for choicer sorts to take their places as soon as fall planting is in order.

The lawn should come in for a good deal of attention now. If the weather is hot and the season a dry one I would not advise mowing it oftener than twice a week, and then I would not clip the grass close. I would leave the clippings on the soil to act as a mulch to retain all moisture possible. Under no conditions would I cut the grass so close that the sward would look as if shaved. If you do this you will never have a velvety lawn.

Be careful to keep your mower in fine cutting condition. If allowed to become dull it will tear the grass instead of cutting it, and this will give the sward a ragged look.

Stir the soil about all your plants, whether there are weeds or not. A soil that is kept open will always have some moisture in it, and natural mosture is better for all plants than that which comes from artificial watering.

Go over your hybrid perpetual roses and give them a close pruning. This is to induce the production of new wood on which flowers will be borne. At the same time make a liberal application of some good fertilizer—cow manure preferably—working it in well about the roots of the plants.

Feeding and pruning are the two most important items to be considered in the culture of this class of roses, and the two must go together. If you want flowers from them it is necessary that you keep them growing throughout the season.

TO keep the hair beautifully soft and fluffy, shampoo regularly with Ivory Soap. For, unlike many cleansers, Ivory Soap does not make the hair dry and brittle.

Make a warm suds with the paste. (See direction inside wrapper.) Saturate hair and scalp. Rub the scalp with the paste and dip the suds over it. Rinse with spray or cup, gradually cooling the water. Dry by rubbing, in the sun if possible, but do not use strong heat.

Ivory Soap, because of its purity and mildness, does not affect the scalp's oily secretion, yet because of its wonderful cleansing power, it thoroughly absorbs the dirt and surplus oil. The rinsing, therefore, removes easily and entirely all this matter with the lather, leaving the hair in condition to dry soft, silky and glossy.

A Clean Photoplay Despite the Ads

"WHERE ARE MY CHILDREN?"

BY KITTY KELLY.

IN the wake of the lurid "Little Girl Next Door," and on the wings of hectic advertising hinting at more sensationalism, out of the shadow of metropolitan amazement and national board of review disapproval, comes to the La Salle theater one of the most finely mannered photoplayes yet produced.

Those who pay their quarters seeking satisfaction for prudent tastes will find their measurement one of disappointment, unless the distinction of the picture can pierce their sordidness, for there is nothing more suggestive about it than the title itself, "Where Are My Children?"

It is a serious film, purposefully produced, but it bears no propaganda earmarks, nor is it pictured with the crude strokes usually employed when some one aims to make a celluloid preachment.

An artist worked skillfully with the materials of her expression and wrought a photoplay characterized equally by its strong purpose and its good dramatic and pictorial construction. If one is not interested in the theme, the story in itself, with its dramatic complications and its attractive directorial handling, is satisfying entertainment. It is, in fact, one of the few cinematic displays in which one loses thought of the time.

Tyrone Power
SARONY PHOTO

The theme is that the wages of sin is death to happiness, the particular sin being the selfishness that abjures motherhood. In this it is an echo of an earlier production, American's "The Miracle of Life," but a much more finely and artistically done thing.

The district attorney, played most compellingly with a quiet, commanding dignity by Tyrone Power, longed for children in his beautiful home. His wife, played with equal distinction and sureness by Helen Riaume, along with others of her set, frivolous fashionables, takes care to have no social engagements upset by interventions of nature.

Things go very merrily, except for the attorney's father hunger, until a crisis is precipitated when the young brother of the attorney's wife seeks aid from her for the housekeeper's young daughter, whom he has wronged.

Outraged at the occurrence—for she is a very nice woman, except for her selfishness—she gives the youth her doctor's name. The result is the girl's death, the doctor's haling into court, and a flurry of consternation amongst the local birds of paradise. From the doctor's ledger the attorney gleans much knowledge.

His wife, before this realizing his desire for children, and determining to bring him the happiness he sought, finds, as the subtitle puts it, that "she is no longer physically able to wear the diadem of motherhood," and all their lives together she must face that mute question, "Where Are My Children?"

The conclusion is impressively beautiful, with the lonely couple sitting before the fire while a fade-in brings visionary children playing around them. The years pass, and still they sit while the ghosts of children grown up come about them.

Everywhere the most exquisite delicacy rules every situation. How much may be accomplished by mere suggestion, how little need there is for suggestiveness in the relating of a powerful story on a delicate subject, is here convincingly demonstrated. This compares to a straight, clear-cut, well written newspaper story, containing facts and characterization and significance, in contrast with a murky Elinor Glynn novel. It takes a problem of the day and looks at it honestly and cleanly instead of with the vice veneering moral hypocrisy that produced "The Little Girl Next Door," playing up salaciousness for box office benefits.

Of course, here there may be no box office benefits, for the picture doesn't bear out some of the insidious announcements about it. It may be too fine a thing for the theater's clientèle established through the past months. But for people who wish to see uniformly good acting, with never a bit of overdoing, a forceful story, forcefully, delicately, and humanly told, here is a rare opportunity. With the production of this picture Lois Weber has given power to her name.

To Dye a Sweater.

"I SHOULD like to dye a light green sweater dark green. What dye shall I get? Kindly let me know if there is some simple method that may be used. W. N. L."

There are divers patent dyes in the market, any of which will serve your purpose. As a matter of course, we cannot name proprietary articles in the Corner. Make your own selection and dye the sweater in obedience to the printed rules accompanying packages of dye.

Giant Silkworm Moth.

"I wish to know if there is any value in a giant silkworm moth. I have a few eggs of the same. I should like much to hear from some one that has had experience with moths. T. H."

What you call the silkworm moth is, I take for granted, the moth that lays the silkworm eggs. From these are hatched small caterpillars which, fed upon the leaves of the mulberry tree, grow with amazing rapidity. When full grown they begin to spin, each winding itself about with a cocoon composed of myriads of fine silken threads. If not interfered with the creature lies within this silken sheath until it is ready to cut its way through the covering and emerge a winged insect. From this come the eggs of which you say you have a few to dispose of in some way. Unless one is particularly interested in entomology, one would hardly care to have the eggs. Yet the study of the silkworm, as I have sketched it briefly, its life, ways, and end, is curiously entertaining. I recollect keeping silkworms when I was a child, feeding them with mulberry leaves, and acquainting myself with each stage of their progress until the moths died quietly after depositing their eggs. It was interesting all the way through. I keep your address in case somebody may want the eggs.

Copy of "The Gypsy's Trail."

"I am under the impression that somebody asked for a poem, entitled 'The Gypsy's Trail.' If that is so, and she has not yet been supplied, if you will give me the address on the inclosed postal I shall send a copy of it. L. S."

We have sent the address you asked for by mail. The Corner is under obligation to you for the new evidence of your interest in it and willingness to contribute generously of songs and selections requested by correspondents. We shall use the rest of your valuable communication later.

Restoring Color to Leather.

"How can I restore either by dying or other process the green color on a piece of leather tapestry, which has been stored away and got spotted? M. F."

A correspondent who may be depended upon for never asserting what she does not know to be the truth, writes in reply to the query put by another member some time ago: "Artist's oil paint in tubes dissolved in gasoline, then sponge off with clear gasoline, will do the work." Of my own opinion, I venture to recommend that you proceed cautiously in doing the job. Begin upon a bit of the leather that will not be conspicuous.

NOTIFICATION TO HUGHES TONIGHT DRAWS NOTABLES

New York, July 30.—Preparations had been completed tonight by William R. Willcox, chairman of the Republican national committee, and his assistants for the formal notification here tomorrow night to Charles E. Hughes of his nomination for president. Mr. Hughes will come to New York tomorrow morning.

Prominent Republicans from all parts of the country were arriving here tonight to attend the notification ceremonies at Carnegie hall. On the platform will be members of the notification committee, delegates and alternates to the national convention, chairmen of state committees, senators, and representatives.

Three governors, fourteen United States senators, and at least 100 congressmen are to be present, besides any number of other notables. Col. Roosevelt is to have a box and Mr. Hughes' family and friends will occupy two boxes. George W. Perkins is to have a box and so is Miss Alice Carpenter, the suffragist. Gov Whitman's party also will occupy a box.

Hughes and Harding to Speak.

The only speakers will be Mr. Hughes and enator Warren G. Harding, chairman of the notification committee.

The 8,000 word speech of acceptance that Mr. Hughes is to deliver was sent into town ahead of Chairman Willcox and was in the hands of the printer this afternoon. The chairman saw the final draft at Bridgehampton Saturday night. As far as is known, he is the only man who has seen the speech, which has been carefully guarded. The press copies, it was said at headquarters, probably will be distributed early tomorrow.

Mr. Willcox returned from Bridgehampton early this afternoon and went to sleep. It was explained at headquarters that he needed rest, as he had been up talking with Candidate Hughes until midnight the night before and had taken a long motor ride in the morning.

Discusses Chicago Plans.

In the evening the chairman saw a number of national committeemen, and there was a "conference," though where it was held or what it was about was not stated. However, the opening of the Chicago headquarters is believed to have been the topic and Chairman Wilcox expects to go to that city shortly.

LOCAL PLANS MADE.

More harmony will be applied to the Illinois Republican muss today when the mayor and his general committee meet at the Hotel La Salle to make further arrangements for the entertainment of Charles Evans Hughes one week from tomorrow.

John C. Shaffer, one of the Bull Moose spokesmen of 1912 and a T. R. man to the last ditch in June, probably will be made chairman of the reception committee. In that capacity he will be expected to welcome Mr. Hughes to the city on behalf of the Republicans and Progressives of Chicago and Illinois.

Hull and Smith to Clash.

Morton D. Hull and Col. Frank L. Smith, who are trying to swing the anti-Lowden forces to their respective candidates, will both invade Lowden's "adopted home country." Their itinerary clashes Tuesday night when both will hold mass-meetings in Morrison, Hull speaking in one hall and Smith a little farther down the street.

The local Democratic feudists also will try to keep the political pot running a close second to Old Sol. The Harrison forces will meet in "convention" at the Briggs house this afternoon to name their anti-Sullivan slate for the Cook county fight.

BROR JOHNSON SUSPECT TAKEN; BATTLES POLICE

WATCHED FOR 14 YEARS.

Mysterious police intimations in the last few weeks and especially at the time of the death of John Rudnick, a "killer" and holdup man, that "there will be a page story for the newspapers one of these days," took form early yesterday in a dingy corner of the northwest side.

John Glowacki, alias Frank Hayes, alias "Zajec" (The Rabbit) was arrested by Policemen John Slupikowski of the East North Avenue station and Policeman Thomas Baynes of Central station. He is accused of fourteen years of criminal acts and is suspected in connection with the killing of Policeman Bror Johnson last winter during the robbery of the Thomas Cook Tourist agency.

Fights Like a Tiger.

"The Rabbit" fought like a tiger when he was overpowered and shackled. Then he quieted down.

"This is a tipoff," he growled. "No copper on earth could get me without a tipoff. I've been floatin' for fourteen years and this is the first time I ever was grabbed."

The capture of "The Rabbit" was not unlike a chapter from Sherlock Holmes. The scene of the capture lent itself admirably to stories of dark scheming and wild adventure. The policemen came upon Glowacki under a dark railway viaduct north of Noble and Ingraham streets. It was Policeman Slupikowski who recognized the "gunman."

Accused as Slayer.

Fourteen years ago Glowacki left Chicago after killing Stanley Barczites, a saloonkeeper near Noble and Chapin streets, according to Policeman Slupikowski. He has been in and out of Chicago a dozen times since then and is believed to have committed numerous robberies on his visits.

Policeman Slupikowski suspected "The Rabbit" of killing Barczites and had been closely scanning the hangouts of the northwest side through all the fourteen years for a chance to take him. Late on Saturday night the chance came.

Brags of Exploits.

Glowacki, in a dingy saloon near Noble street and the viaduct was drinking. He drank more and more and presently the caution of the hardened "floater" left him. He talked. He bragged of his exploits. He told of killings in a vague way, but he mentioned no names. Later he told of the murder of a saloonkeeper on the day before he left Chicago fourteen years ago. Then he told enough, apparently, to establish the fact that it was Barczites he had killed.

His identity was established to several men of the neighborhood. He was the boon "pal" of John Rudnick, who was killed by Policeman Coley Madden on May 9. Rudnick has been published as the slayer of Bror Johnson. Chief Healey was of the opinion that Rudnick was the man. But Lieut. Charles Palczynski of the West North avenue police station hesitated.

Phones to Policeman.

"The Rabbit" kept on with his drinking and talked more and more. Presently a patron of the little barroom called Policeman Slupikowski on the telephone.

"The Rabbit' is down here," he said. Slupikowski was dressed in a minute. On his way he met Policeman Baynes, who was on special detail. Together they walked along under the viaduct.

At that moment they saw "The Rabbit." There was no argument. The policemen said nothing about "You're wanted." Baynes threw his forearm under "The Rabbit's" chin with a clutch known as the "strong arm," and the suspect came off his feet like a bag of meal. Slupikowski slapped on the handcuffs and the fight started.

Hair Dyed Brown.

"The Rabbit" is powerful, though slightly undersized. His face is tanned from exposure and is clean shaven. His hair had been dyed brown. This was one of the points of his bragging, his methods of avoiding arrest. Recently he wore a "Charlie Chapin" mustache. This was gone, but his eyebrows were light, indicating a slight lack of care in his "makeup."

"The Rabbit" didn't cry out or use up any valuable breath in swearing. He fought silently and viciously, and it was some minutes before he was subdued. Then he stood quietly by until a passing taxicab was commandeered.

"You haven't got anything," he said finally. "You don't know me."

Calls His Nickname.

"All right," said Glowacki. "Where do we go?"

"I have no name," he kept repeating. "I don't live anywhere. There's nothing on me. This is all wrong."

His name was given by Slupikowski, who made no charge except the suggestion, "hold him." And "The Rabbit" was locked behind jail bars for the first time in fourteen years.

There is still another member of the small Rudnick-Glowacki gang to be rounded up. It is among these three that the murder of Bror Johnson lies. Policeman Slupikowski believes "The Rabbit" to be the man because of his extreme alertness and his ability with a revolver.

The search for "Goldie," the blonde woman of the affair, still is going on. She is known to have been the companion of both Rudnick and "The Rabbit." She is believed to have been present when Rudnick robbed and slew Morris Borowski, a jeweler at 2349 Potomac avenue. A part of the jewelry stolen in this affair was found in Rudnick's room.

BOLD, BAD PIRATE

By Day—But He's Afraid of a Bed at Night.

There is one boy at the Salvation army farm near Glen Ellyn who plays pirate on a raft in the shallow lake all day, but when night comes he's unhappy. He's sleepy, but he hates to go to bed.

"What's the matter, Charlie?" he was asked.

"It's too soft," he said, inexplicably.

"That kid ain't never slept on a bed before, and he's scared of it. And he's scared to sleep on the floor, too, because no one else does it. He says he'll stick his nose in the pillow and die if he sleeps in the bed. But he won't, will he, mister?"

CANADIANS DIE IN FOREST FIRES

Dead Set at from 150 to 200 in Ontario Conflagration; Several Towns Burned.

Englehart, Ont., July 30.—Forest fires raging in northern Ontario are believed tonight to have resulted in the loss of from 150 to 200 lives.

Other scores of persons have been injured, and it is feared many of them may die.

Several small towns have been wiped out by the flames that have been raging for forty-eight hours. Reports thus far received show that fifty-seven perished at Mushka, a French Canadian settlement, and thirty-four at Matheson. Cochrane has eighteen dead and thirty-four injured, Irequois Falls fifteen dead and many injured, and Ramore fifteen dead. The number killed at Porcupine Junction is not known, but the entire town was destroyed except the railroad station.

Fear Many More Deaths.

The death list will be materially increased, it is feared, by victims in outlying districts. There are apparently well authenticated reports that many prospectors have been trapped at Tashota and Kowash. One farmer and his ten children are known to have been burned.

Refugees without food or clothing are pouring into the larger towns south of the burned district. Officials of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railway adopted energetic relief measures. Calls for assistance were sent to towns along the line, and a fully supplied relief train was sent out.

Hundreds of square miles of bush and farm land have been burned over. Rain was falling tonight at Matheson and several other points, but a continued downpour will be necessary to extinguish the fires and prevent them from sweeping further southward.

FOREST FIRES IN MICHIGAN.

Cadillac, Mich., July 30.—[Special.]—Forest fires are raging in half a dozen northern Michigan counties, and already thousands of dollars damage has been done. Two weeks of the hottest weather in the region's history has dried brush on cutover lands until it is like tinder. This city is buried beneath a covering of smoke coming from nearby fires and homes on outskirts are threatened.

Fifty men were sent to Cherry Grove township, west of here, where three barns and two houses were destroyed. Fires also are doing serious damage in Greenwood, Slagle, Colfax, and Selma townships, where there is valuable standing hardwood timber.

STREET CAR STRIKE GROWS IN NEW YORK; BRONX IS HIT.

Not a Car Moves on Third Avenue Lines in Manhattan—Little Disorder Results.

New York, July 30.—Not a wheel moved after 4 o'clock this afternoon on the lines in Manhattan of the Third Avenue railway, 98 per cent of whose motormen and conductors were said by union organizers to have joined the strike that originated in Yonkers, spread quickly to the Bronx, and now is designed to paralyze all surface car traffic in New York.

Only a few cars were operated in Broadway above Forty-second street, and traffic was intermittent on several crosstown lines.

W. D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway employés, with a dozen organizers, held frequent meetings during the day with the strikers. "Missionaries" boarded cars in all parts of Manhattan in an effort to induce the crews to strike. They reported considerable success.

Obstructions were placed on the tracks of the Third avenue system at several points to interfere with the operation of cars by strike breakers and a few cars were stoned, but the disorder resulting from the strike was not of a serious nature.

STEAM ON IN OUR FLAT! WAILS WOMAN TO POLICE

'Janitor's Gone Crazy with the Heat," She Continues; but Culprit Says He Mere'y Burned Scraps.

"Help, police!" cried a shrill voice. "The janitor has gone crazy and has turned on the steam in our building at 1045-1047 Belden avenue and unless you send over quickly we will suffocate. He told us that we were always complaining in the winter because we did not get enough heat, and so he says he is making up for it now."

"Why, I just burned up some scrap paper in the furnace as I always do, every day of the week, winter and summer. It only took about two minutes to burn. I made no remarks to any one. Somebody else is crazy with the heat—not me."

Four Other Motor Deaths on the Hottest Sunday of Year.

TWO SLAIN IN OAK PARK.

Ten people were killed yesterday in and about Chicago as a result of automobile accidents.

Six were killed and a seventh probably fatally injured when a train hit an automobile three miles east of Gary.

DEAD.

A. Aggium, 915 Adams street, Gary.
L. Jacobs, same.
C. Fetta, same.
J. Zeckakasan, 432 Connecticut street.
Unidentified man.

The men had been bathing at Miller beach and had started back for Gary in a touring car. Shortly after 7 o'clock they reached the Baltimore and Ohio crossing. A passenger train struck them.

The seventh victim of the accident was taken to a hospital, but at a late hour it was said he could not live. He was so badly mutilated he could not be recognized.

Two Men Killed.

Two men were killed, another perhaps fatally injured and two women and a little girl seriously wounded when their automobile overturned in Austin avenue, near Sixteenth street, in Cicero, in the evening.

DEAD.

Joseph Grikszlis, 1332 South Forty-fourth court.
John Glovits, 1408 South Forty-ninth court.

INJURED.

Mrs. Grikszlis.
Mrs. Glovitz.
Olga Glovits, 11 years old.

The machine was owned and driven by Grikszlis. He attempted to turn out for a passing machine when his own slipped its steering gears and ran into the curb. The car turned on its side. The two men were instantly killed. Podgurski sustained a fractured skull. The women and the girl have broken arms and bruises. They were all attended by Dr. Orlando F. Scott.

Killed Near Kankakee.

Mrs. Marion North of 1518 East Seventy-sixth street was killed and five of her relatives narrowly escaped death near Kankakee during the day, when an Illinois Central train crashed into their automobile.

The others in the auto were Louis North, her son; his wife, and their two children, Olga and Charles, and his sister, Miss Helen North.

Louis North said that the cause of the accident was his failure to see the approaching train on a diagonal grade crossing.

Gladys Ridel, 5 years old, of 4221 West Twentieth street, was riding on the front platform of a Halsted street car with her father, George Ridel, at night, when the car hit an auto truck. The little girl's head struck on the iron brake stand and she was killed instantly.

Autoist Saves Children.

To avoid striking two small children Joseph Fishback of 10 North Sherman avenue, Evanston, drove his automobile into a building a short distance from his home last night. He was driving out of an alley when he noticed the children, Carol Hage, 7 years old, and her sister, Evelyn, 2 years old, of 825 Chicago avenue, Evanston, crossing the alley.

Frank Engel, 13 years old, and his brother, Herman, 11 years old, were severely bruised when an automobile in which they were riding collided with another car.

Crash Explodoes Benzine.

Arnold Peterson of 1515 North Keystone avenue and several other persons narrowly escaped severe injury when his automobile truck, loaded with cans of benzine, collided with an automobile owned and driven by M. Whittcare, 1519 Chicago avenue, Evanston.

One can of benzine exploded, setting fire to the truck, but the flames were extinguished by Peterson and others before the other cans were ignited.

Hit Telegraph Pole.

Frank Hodek, West Twenty-fourth street and Homan avenue, was bruised, his wife broke a leg, and Charles Sichta of 2343 West Twenty-third place, and John Kreml of 2318 South Turner avenue were bruised when their car ran into a telegraph pole.

ARIZONA LAWYER DIES FROM HEAT AT BLACKSTONE.

Santa Fe Railroad Attorney, Stricken in the Night, Passes Away Despite Medical Aid.

Edward Kent, a member of the law firm of Chalmers, Kent & Stahl of Phoenix, Ariz., and an attorney for the Santa Fé railroad, died yesterday at the Blackstone hotel of hemorrhage superinduced by heat.

Mr. Kent was in Chicago on some business connected with the railroad, and according to his mother, Mrs. Abbie Kent, who accompanied him, he had not been ill.

Mrs. Kent and her maid occupied the room adjoining that of her son. She was awakened in the night by a disturbance in her son's room. She went to see what was the matter and found him moaning on the bed. She summoned the house physician, who did all he could, but he died within a few minutes.

BLAST AND FIRES START INQUIRY

Two Blazes in Loop Building Within Short Time Cause Investigation.

Fire department officials and Fire Attorney Joseph J. Murray yesterday began an investigation into two unusual fires which started within a few hours of each other on Saturday night and Sunday morning. The fires were in the Delaware building at Dearborn and Randolph.

The first fire, according to the department records, occurred at 9:48 Saturday night. It was in the office of the American Theatrical company, room 202. This company is a manufacturer of moving picture film. The office is supposedly used exclusively for the business purposes and not for the storage of film. The fire was preceded by a heavy explosion which destroyed three tile walls in a row and broke glass in all parts of the Delaware building.

Second Blaze in Building.

At 2:43 a. m. Sunday the fire department records show that there was another call from the same building. The records also show that fire was in the office of "H. Daniels & Co., theatrical agents." This was in room 602, four floors directly above the first fire. The strange thing about it was that this fire was preceded by a sharp explosion which was heard for many blocks. The destruction caused on the sixth and adjoining floors resembles that on the second.

"H. Daniels & Co." is not listed on the office directory of the Delaware building, is not in the telephone directory under that name, and is not in the city directory under that name. Employés of the building say, however, that this is the name of the firm occupying room 602.

Rooms Swept Clean.

"In both fires," said Battalion Chief MacDonald yesterday, "the rooms were swept clean by the explosion or fire before we got there. I stayed on the ground and made a careful examination into the cause, but there wasn't the slightest thing left that would tell us how it started.

"I got some opinions of tenants and other people that the fires started from the explosion of moving picture films, but as far as I know today the second firm had no film. If film caused the first fire then there was more stored there than should have been."

MARY SMITH STILL HAPPY.

'$10,000 Housekeeper" on Pankhurst Farm Has No Longing for Bathing Beaches.

With the thermometer showing 110 degrees on the prairie, Mary Smith is cooking, sweeping, dusting, and berrying. She has full charge of the Pankhurst household near Amboy, Ill., while Aunt Louisa is away visiting in New York. If Miss Smith longs for Chicago bathing beaches and lake breezes, she is careful not to confide the fact to reporters. Once or twice a year she has slipped away to spend a week with friends in Chicago or elsewhere, but surfeited with the publicity given her as the famous $10,000 housekeeper she prefers to go and come unheralded.

LOSE CAR AND CLOTHING.

B. F. Rosen of 844 Milwaukee avenue and his wife and two children drove to Clarendon beach yesterday in a new automobile. The Rosens left their clothing in the car and went bathing. They went home in their bathing suits and a hired closed car, for some one had stolen the Rosen car and the Rosen clothes.

WEALTHY BOY WILL SUE TO ANNUL HIS MARRIAGE.

Daniel Volintine, Lawyer Says, Will Assert He Was Frightened Into Elopement.

Aurora, Ill., July 30.—[Special.]—Aurora's richest young husband, 18 year old Daniel Volintine, is to sue his girl wife, Nora Udstad Volintine, for the annulment of their marriage on the ground that he is not legally married to her, according to Attorney Fred Shearer, counsel for young Volintine, who said he will file the bill for annulment in answer to a suit for separate maintenance brought by Mrs. Volintine.

The bill will charge, Attorney Shearer said, that Volintine was frightened into marrying the girl. The entire affair, Attorney Shearer says he will try to prove, was a conspiracy to have T. Otto Fisk removed as the Volintine boy's guardian.

The couple, accompanied by Dr. J. E. Pritchard and Attorney S. Bruce Amell, eloped to Crown Point, Ind., on Oct. 27. Volintine has not seen his wife since that day.

He inherited the $300,000 estate of Mrs. Lottie Benninger.

DR. LEWIE SOUTH SOUGHT ON U. S. WARRANT IN KENTUCKY.

Lexington, Ky., July 30.—[Special.]—A warrant was issued here today by United States Commissioner S. S. Yantis, on complaint of Assistant United States District Attorney Charles Fennell of this city, for the arrest of Dr. Lewie South, originally of Waterloo, Ore., late of Chicago, and more recently of Frankfort, Ky.

The government is seeking Dr. South, who disappeared from Frankfort last January, on the specific charge that he fraudulently used the mails to promote formation of combinations of men and women for the avowed purpose of recovering for them a $400,000,000 estate.

LIVES OVER EVE OF GIRL'S DEATH

BY WALTER E. RODERICK.

Olney, Ill., July 30.—[Special.]—Roy Hinderliter today spent nearly an hour with a TRIBUNE reporter in going over the events of the night of July 21, when he drove over to the sanitarium with the body of 17 year old Elizabeth Radcliffe across his knees. His statement was a second protestation of innocence in connection with Richland county's strange "air bubble" murder mystery.

With his counsel, County Judge R. B. Witcher, he again went over the signed statement which he made to State's Attorney H. G. Morrison the morning after Elizabeth's death, correcting it in some places and amplifying it in others.

There are many questions in connection with the case, however, which he failed to clear up or touch upon.

Didn't Stop Under Trees.

"We drove out the Whittis avenue road for several miles and turned east and came back over the Rock road," he said. "We didn't stop under the oak tree or the apple trees in the orchard, as they say we did. We made no stop at all until we were near the Baltimore and Ohio tracks, where Elizabeth suddenly said, 'Oi!' as though she were catching her breath, and fell over on the floor of the buggy, near the dashboard. I thought she had fainted. I rubbed her cheeks and wrists, and then I took off her white slippers and rubbed her feet.

"When she didn't come to I pulled her up on the seat beside me. She fell over my lap, and, leaving her that way, I drove as fast as I could to the Olney sanitarium. Two nurses came out and helped me carry her in.

Denies Using Catheter.

"Then I drove down Main street and brought her sister, Mrs. Bert Fancher, up to the sanitarium. When they told me she was dead I went back and brought Bert up in the buggy. That's all I know."

The boy was asked about the catheter. Turning and looking Judge Witcher squarely in the eyes, he said: "I didn't use that, and neither did Elizabeth."

On the other points—the presence of the revolver and blackjack in the buggy, the hair pins and other articles found near the old water oak, and the sand in the girl's slippers—he refused to talk.

WIFE VISITS MAN IN JAIL AND HER RIVAL HE SHOT.

Mrs. Jennie Foster Says She'll Arrange Child's Funeral and Get Lawyer for Her Husband.

Mrs. Jennie Foster of 4411 Wallace street, whose husband wound up his double matrimonial scheme by killing the nameless child of "the other woman" and shooting Bertha Kubivitch, its mother, persisted in trying to straighten out things yesterday by visiting her husband, Edgar Foster, in the stock yards police station, and Bertha in the county hospital. The latter was shot six times by Foster when he flew into a rage in the Wallace street apartment where he lived with both families. Mrs. Foster is arranging for the funeral of the slain child and for a lawyer to defend her husband.

Bitten by Dog.

Charles Fallstrom, 848 Roscoe street, a printer, was bitten on the hand by his dog yesterday. The dog is believed to have been suffering from rabies and the head was taken to the city laboratories for examination.

WHAT IS WRONG AT CITY'S PIER? IT FAILS AGAIN

NO SEWER CONNECTIONS.

BY CHARLES N. WHEELER.

The municipal machinery failed again yesterday in another crisis at the new municipal pier—as it has failed day after day since the beginning of the death dealing heat wave.

They ran out of several kinds of soft drinks at 3 o'clock in the afternoon while men, women, and children stood four deep around the temporary booths clamoring for cooling beverages.

Something Up Somewhere.

Some one is trying to make Vogelsang do something that he doesn't want to do as the price of business peace at the pier. Money is to be made there in considerable sums, both for Vogelsang and for the city. Several people want to get a piece of it—people who furnish the things Vogelsang requires for the thousands of people who have rushed to the pier these last few days to keep themselves from going crazy with the heat.

For instance:

Vogelsang was voted the contract by the council. It was then vetoed by the mayor. The council two weeks ago passed it again to meet the mayor's objections. It is still unsigned.

Why? Mr. Vogelsang may know, but he won't talk.

Has Revocable Permit.

So that the city might not rise up in its wrath because of no provision for taking care of the thousands at the people's pier—and mostly poor people—Vogelsang was permitted to go ahead on a revocable permit and put in temporary facilities.

He wants to spend $40,000 in giving the people of Chicago the finest refreshment and restaurant facilities at the pier. But he can't go ahead with the big outlay on a revocable permit that might throw him off the pier any morning. Some strange influence, it was stated, is holding back the contract.

Some Other Defects.

Here is the situation at the pier today:

No water connections and no sewer connections have yet been made with the catering stands, although the drinking fountains have been connected up.

This means there is no running water for use in washing the glasses, plates, spoons, and other dishes. The women Vogelsang has doing this work have to go outside and carry the water in pails to the booths for washing purposes. When this water becomes unusable it has to becarried out, for there is no sewer connection.

This is the third Sunday the refreshments have been available, but there are no screens on the commissary section. They were promised weeks ago. Yesterday the flies poured in. There was no help for it.

Why Pop Was Short.

Why no soft drinks?

Vogelsang was buying his soft drinks from three or four firms when one of the largest firms, which could keep him plentifully supplied, laid it down flat to him that he would have to sign a three year contract to handle only that one make or get nothing.

"Friend" Offers Supply.

Then in comes a "friend of the administration." He has 600 cases of pop bottled and ready for delivery. Other "friends of the administration" had got a piece of the stock or some other little favors, and Vogelsang is said to have remarked that he didn't care whose friend he was, all he wanted was service. He then told this particular "friend of the administration" to bring on his 600 cases, but to be sure they were there Saturday.

Then the buttermilk man, also a "friend of the administration," fell down on the job, delivering about one-third the quantity Vogelsang had figured he would require Saturday and Sunday.

The corporation counsel's office, it was explained, has been too busy with other matters to look over the contract.

CANARY FLIES FROM CAGE INTO GREAT OUTDOORS.

It must have been the heat that went to Peetzie's head, for he's gone.

The canary was presented to the wife of Detective Sergeant Mueller of the Robey street station nine years ago upon the celebration of her first wedding anniversary as well as of her birthday. It was brought from the Harz mountains by her uncle.

Peetzie's cage has never been closed. Yesterday the canary flew out of doors. He couldn't find his way back, and now Mrs. Mueller is waiting for news of the lost pet.

LIFE'S LITTLE PHONIES

U. S. BEGINS QUIZ INTO MEDICAL "DIPLOMA MILL"

"Tribune" Turns Over to Hoyne Confession of Fred D. Farr.

Spasmodic action against alleged medical certificate fakers in Chicago has developed into a threefold inquiry centered upon what is said to be the most elaborately organized "diploma mill" in the United States.

In addition to an investigation which State's Attorney Hoyne has had under way for several months, the matter has been taken up by the federal authorities, who have detailed Dana F. Angier, a post-office inspector under Gen. James E. Stuart, to verify evidence pointing to a widespread use of the mails to defraud over-ambitious medical students.

The third inquiry is being made by Dr. C. St. Clair Drake, secretary of the Illinois board of health.

Will Hit Higher Ups.

Several "small fry" already are under indictment for alleged diploma frauds, but new evidence in the hands of the three bodies mentioned indicates that the largest beneficiaries of the fraudulent deals are two or three Chicago physicians of national reputation.

This evidence was turned over to the state's attorney's office by THE TRIBUNE last week in the form of an affidavit made by Fred D. Farr, who lived formerly at 733 East Forty-sixth street. Farr's affidavit is now in the hands of Assistant State's Attorney William H. Duval. In this Farr describes extensive operations in which, he says, he figured as a "runner" for two physicians with offices in the Republic building.

These men, according to Farr's confession, claimed to "have things fixed" with an influential state official at Springfield and with certain members of the state board of health. On the strength of this, says Farr, they undertook in many cases to provide certificates authorizing medical students to practice in Illinois for amounts ranging from $75 to $400.

Never Got 'Em.

The "suckers," Farr admits, never got their certificates. Their checks were cashed before they had time to become suspicious and stop payment, and the amounts divided between Farr, other go-betweens, and the physcians who directed the operations.

Medical students who showed a disposition to reveal the fraud were induced to "keep quiet" by one or another of the physicians, who held a club over the victims' heads through being members of the faculties at schools where the young men were studying.

Similar operations, says Farr, were carried on in several states outside Illinois. In one case, he declares, negotiations were made with the head of a medical school who actually provided diplomas signed by the faculty of the school for $75 apiece.

Thirty-six Buy Diplomas.

This institution was the Davenport College of Chiropractic at Davenport, Ia., of which Dr. John L. Sharp is president. Thirty-six students, says Farr, gave $75 apiece for the school's diplomas. Farr himself has in his possession a diploma signed by Dr Sharp and five other members of the faculty which, he says, he got for $25. In this blanks are left for the filling in of any name and date Farr might choose.

Farr's affidavit names a long list of medical students who, he says, were victimized in Chicago. Among these are William A. Heep, a former student at the Chicago Hospital College of Medicine; Silas W. Wesley, who is now in Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Don A. Hubbell of 800 East Forty-fourth street, and Harry Mottard, a graduate of the National Chiropractic College of Chicago.

Arraigned with Woman.

Farr is the man who was arraigned on his wife's complaint last week with Mrs. Ora Iring of Louisville, Ky., with whom he had been registered at the Alexandria hotel. Mrs. Iring's husband appeared in the Morals court on that occasion with a revolver, but promised "not to shoot his wife in court."

Farr also was held to the grand jury last week on Don A. Hubbell's complaint concerning the diploma frauds. He has been promised immunity, however, if his confession is verified.

Mrs. Iring, a statuesque blond, declares she will stand by Farr in all his troubles, marital and otherwise.

Ringleader of Gang.

"This Farr is the ringleader of a gang of crooks who have been working an old time game on medical students," said Dr. Drake of the state board of health in Springfield last night. "They guarantee licenses to practice medicine in any state in the union. It's the old gold brick game that has been practiced for the last fifty years. I have been investigating and I find that up to last Monday, at least, no certificates were issued to these men's victims in Illinois."

The evidence in the hands of the postoffice inspectors includes cancelled checks, contracts, and postoffice money orders, many of them involving members of the faculty of the school in Davenport, Ia.

Farr also charges in his affidavit that the head of the Davenport institution arranged with him to have a rival school blown up and that an expert dynamiter was actually brought from Chicago to Davenport for the purpose, though he was not permitted to do his work.

ROBBER USES A HATCHET WHEN CHINESE RESIST.

Orientals' Skulls Fractured by Holdup Man Who Is Captured and Confesses.

Three Chinamen with fractured skulls are at St. Mary's hospital as a result of attempting to frustrate a holdup in their laundry and bakery at 1051 Milwaukee avenue early yesterday. Moses Dixon, 2020 South La Salle street, was arrested and, the police say, confessed. The Chinamen, Fong Chew, A. Hong, and Hong Kong were attacked with a hatchet when they attempted to capture the robber who had taken $16 from the till. They were struck several times with the hatchet, and doctors at the hospital said they may not recover.

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND

RISK MEN QUIZ FOR CANDIDATES

Ask Legislature Aspirants How They Stand on Insurance Issues.

BY C. M. CARTWRIGHT.

The Chicago Life Insurance Field Men's club, which is composed of the special or soliciting agents of life insurance companies, intends to get into practical politics prior to the legislative primaries in Illinois. The club will send a set of queries to all candidates to ascertain how they stand on the subject of life insurance.

After the replies have been received and tabulated, the club will advise its members of results and possibly make recommendations. Primarily the club desires some standard established for licensing of life insurance agents. At the present time a license is granted to any one for whom a company applies. There is nothing in the law to permit any choice or option on the part of the insurance department, but a license must be forthcoming if it is applied for.

Want Bill on Qualification.

Therefore, the Field Men's club contends that a license merely means that the holder is permitted to write life insurance. It establishes no standard, nor does it mean that the holder has any qualifications or knowledge necessary to deal with the public in placing life insurance. The club has had the subject of an agent's qualification bill under consideration for some time. The officers have got data from other states that have adopted some form of agent's qualification bill, like New York and Michigan; also have been in correspondence with organizations that have been accumulating data on the subject.

While the association knows that it will be impossible to pass a drastic measure, yet it hopes to begin with some conservative bill, and, therefore, is sounding out the candidates as to how they will stand on it, as well as on the general subject of life insurance.

Insurance Strike Not Spreading.

The strike of some of the industrial life insurance agents of the Prudential in New York City and adjacent cities has not reached the west and is not likely to. The agents in the rural districts and small cities in the east do not seem to be in sympathy with the campaign that is being waged by the industrial men in the east, and in Chicago and other western cities little attention is being paid to the eastern movement. The strikers have been taken off the roll of employés. They are now endeavoring to enlist in the cause as many others in other companies as they can.

This is the first time that life insurance agents have taken this means of redressing grievances. The company claims that the men are making more money than ever, that the management has been liberal in its treatment of them and that there is no reason for the trouble. The Prudential is now a mutual company. The present management was the main factor in having control handed over to policyholders.

New York Fire Loss Reduced.

Interest attaches to the record of New York City for 1915 as to fire losses, inasmuch as there was a material reduction. The total fire loss of the city last year was $5,787,015, as compared with $4,217,811 during the preceding year. Furthermore there were 1,010 less fires in 1915 than in 1914, and the per capita loss was $1.06 as compared with the lowest previous loss of $1.38.

Commissioner Robert Adamson, in commenting on the cause of the reduction of losses, says there were several contributing elements: systematic extension of fire prevention, monthly building inspection by firemen, and increased efficiency of the uniformed force, due to training. He also calls attention to the fact that more automatic sprinklers were installed under fire prevention orders in 1915 than any previous year, and the greatest amount of substantial structural fire prevention work in building was secured. This report of Adamson is a tribute to the effects of fire prevention.

Ohio Accident Hurts Fund.

The explosion of gas in the new water works tunnel at Cleveland, O., during the week, resulting in the death of some twenty men, will mean a severe strain on the state compensation fund unless the delinquency of the city of Cleveland in paying its premiums to that fund may cause the state industrial commission to deny liability. In this case the city will have to stand the loss. The men doing this work on account of its hazardous nature were paid high wages, and the dependents under the state insurance fund would be entitled to about $3,750 each. The rate paid by Cleveland is the same as other cities pay, an average of 1 per cent for all employés.

There is some talk in fire insurance circles of reducing rates on sprinklered packing plants. It is proved that automatic sprinklers have resulted in keeping the losses down. It is now thought that larger credit can be given for sprinklers in these risks, and the statistics are being tabulated so that the rating authorities can pass on them.

News Items Concerning Chicago.

The Merchants' National Fire Insurance company of Chicago is opening a Cook county and local department in the Insurance Exchange building. Thomas M. Purtell has been appointed manager of the office. Mr. Purtell was formerly state fire marshal of Wisconsin.

It is thought that the new Hibernia Fire of Chicago will be ready for a license in a few days, inasmuch as Supt. Rufus M. Potts of Illinois looked over the securities during the week and approved it.

E. D. Petrie, secretary of the Guardian Fire Insurance company of Salt Lake City, has been in Chicago for some time arranging for the entrance of the company to some of the western states. The Guardian will have a local agency in Chicago. The Guardian Casualty and Guaranty of Salt Lake City is the running mate of the Guardian Fire, and it is already operating in some of the western states, having a western office at 226 South La Salle street, Chicago.

COOK OFFICIALS TO START FIGHT ON TAX LIST LAW.

County Officers to Attack Validity of Act Requiring Publishing of Appropriation Ordinances.

Cook county officials are expected to launch an attack today in the tax hearings before the County court on the validity of the state laws which compel them to publish appropriation ordinances and tax lists. The attack probably will be made on behalf of the board of county commissioners. It is their contention that the law is class legislation, as it provides that such publication shall be made only in Cook county.

The law has been on the statute books for years and usually has been observed by county boards and county officials. Objectors to the county treasurer's recent delinquent tax list brought the matter to an issue when they contended the list was invalid because the county board had not published its appropriation as specified by law.

The body of an unidentified man about 35 years old was taken from the river at the Dearborn street bridge yesterday by the police. The victim wore a dark blue serge suit, a black shirt, and black shoes. The body was taken to the undertaking rooms at 88 East Randolph street.

NORTHWEST CROP BADLY DAMAGED BY BLACK RUST

Wheat Prices Soar—Crop Estimates Reduced; Hot Wave Affects Grains.

Damage to the spring wheat crop has reached serious proportions and with bad weather during the next week or so there will be still greater injury, according to late reports from conservative northwest interests. As a result of the numerous damage claims prices made big gains last week, but best prices for the week were shaded materially, as longs took profits on a big scale and there was an increased amount of short selling by traders who thought the advance had discounted any damage.

There was also a tendency to go slow on the part of the big casn interests, who do not care to see the speculative market outstrip the export demand, which has been the case the last week or so. It may be, however, that damage will be so serious that Europe will have to pay any price asked for our wheat.

Foreign Demand Broader.

Export bids have improved materially, but the steady advances caused a lull in the demand, as foreign buyers were a little skeptical as to the extent of the damage.

However, foreign advices generally were favorable to holders. Cables from the other side said that export offers of American hard winter wheat were limited in spite of big receipts. The high prices last week have enabled receivers to pay farmers $1.00@1.05 in Kansas, and at these figures sales were liberal. A scarcity of cars, however, may keep the movement within moderate bounds. Soft wheat offers are moderate, and the wheat, which is of excellent quality, is commanding good premiums over the futures, reflecting an excellent milling demand.

Big Losses Are Estimated.

Damage from excessive heat, blight, and black rust in the northwest is estimated to have cut down the crop 50,000,000 to 75,000,000 bu from the early promise, and it is now possible that the total crop will not exceed 700,000,000 bu, while the Canadian crop is expected to be at least 100,000,000 bu less than a year ago, making the North American crop 400,000,000 bu less than in 1915. The big carry-over in all positions will partially offset the shortage this year, but European advices indicate much less confidence in regard to supplies and there is decidedly less talk of the English government disposing of the reserves accumulated in the last year.

Argentina and Australia still have plenty of wheat, but freights are advancing again and are almost prohibitive from the southern hemisphere.

Polish Relief Possible.

The possibility that American relief will be permitted in Poland opens up a new phase of the situation. If American grain is permitted to be shipped to that country it will increase the requirements materially.

From all reports the amount of wheat so far purchased by the allies is comparatively small, and it is the belief of well posted cash people that buying soon will have to be on a big scale, especially from the continent, where crops have turned out poorly. French requirements will be especially heavy, and Italian imports, it is said, will exceed those of last year.

The milling demand continues fair, and so far the movement of wheat to Chicago has been comparatively small. The partial failure of the red winter wheat crop doubtless will curtail the movement to this market this year.

Corn Prices Score Upturn.

Corn prices scored big advances on the cash trade developments and the hot and dry weather over the belt. The drought has prevailed in most parts of the belt for several weeks, the last week having been especially hard on the crop. The cash demand has been fair, premiums have been well maintained, and there has been little pressure from the country, especially since the weather conditions have proved a menace to the new crop.

Damage is claimed in the southwest, but over the greater part of the belt actual injury is not claimed to any extent, although rain relief will have to come soon. Local stocks are light, and there has been a fair call from the east and for export. It is expected shipments will continue liberal.

Oats Show Steady Tone.

Oats have been influenced by the strength in other grains and made moderate gains. Liberal receipts of old oats, with expectation of a liberal new crop movement soon, have been against any radical advance. Hedging pressure is expected to increase, while the stocks of old oats are liberal. The quality of receipts of new oats is excellent. Damage from heat is regarded as negligible except in a few sections. The export demand is good. Clearances continue liberal.

The provisions trade is moderately active, with irregular price changes within comparatively narrow limits. Hog receipts are not heavy, and the demand from packers and shippers has been good. The cash trade in products is fairly active.

Does Prohibition Prohibit?

The Testimony of MAINE Cities—

Maine has had prohibition since 1851. If Prohibition has had a chance anywhere, it has had it—up to the hilt—in Maine. Has it been even moderately successful? Let the official facts and figures answer.

Figures taken from the Lewiston Annual Report:

Total arrests for all causes, 1910 to 1914	9,244
Arrests for intoxication	7,660

Admitting the Truth—

(Excerpts from report made to Governor Curtice by the Rev. W. F. Berry, Superintendent of the Christian Civic League of Maine, June 30, 1915.)

"On May 17, 1915, two agents were in Lewiston. They purchased whiskey in several places and found much drunkenness in evidence. The liquor selling was without any manifest fear on the part of the seller. There were no watchers at the door or in front of the places. * * * In one place a young woman 22 years of age was the barkeeper. * * * More than fifty places were observed and all were doing a good business. * * * In many instances the bar could be seen from the street. In this county 100 (Federal) retail taxes are paid and two wholesale liquor taxes. In addition, a considerable number of malt taxes are paid."

This is the situation, then, in Lewiston after 65 years of legal Prohibition! Other cities will testify later, and to the same effect.

Maine is notorious for bribery, corruption, contempt for law, perjury and hypocrisy in connection with its Prohibitory law. Prohibition does not prohibit. It only makes for wholesale corruption and lawlessness.

NOTE—Certain Prohibitionists have accused the Chicago Brewers' Association of misrepresentation in these advertisements.

STOCK TRADING REMAINS SLOW; VALUES STRONG

Trading in securities fell last week to the lowest level of the year. This was laid to the intense heat, which drove many of the larger of the active participants into seclusion and caused a general feeling of lassitude among those remaining.

Among the events of the week that have claimed attention have been the railway wage controversy, which will go up to a conference of the men and the railway managers this week, following a vote to strike which was believed to be overwhelmingly in the affirmative. Nevertheless this vote is believed to have been put up to the men in a way indicating that it was wanted as a vote of confidence in the leaders and to give them a strong stand in carrying on negotiations. The way the country has received this news indicates that nowhere is it believed that such a strike is possible.

Meanwhile there was also much daily comment regarding the continued European liquidation in America of our securities, and also a great deal of talk regarding the "blacklist" promulgated by the British government.

European Liquidation Regulated.

The adroit management of the European liquidation by American financiers has suppressed to some extent the wave of optimism, with possible overspeculation, that might be expected to follow the fine bargaining that is going on in our favor daily. Our goods are going out at a rate that has not only given a world record for trade balance for the fiscal year just closed but has given the integral parts of this commerce a healthy and satisfactory profit. Better still we are taking back our own best securities at low prices, which means that in the future the enormous sums sent abroad as dividends and interest will be spent or reinvested at home.

An industrial event that in other times would have led to an electrifying of speculative activity was so much in line with the general trend of industrial affairs everywhere that it failed to cause much more than a ripple on the stock market. The United States Steel company came out with a statement of earnings almost at the rate of $1,000,000 for each business day of the three months' period if covered and showed earnings at the rate of 47.6 per cent per annum on its $500,000,000 of common stock.

Country Has Golden Flood.

Gold holdings of the United States at the beginning of this month were the largest ever known at $2,439,922,000. A veritable tidal wave of gold has been sweeping into the country during the last eighteen months, during which time the importations have been approximately $690,000,000. Some idea of what the absorptive power of the country has been during the last six months is shown in the following statement issued by the National City bank of Chicago:

In the first six months of the year new security issues in the United States aggregated $1,300,000,000. In addition to these issues, American investors probably absorbed at least $700,000,000 in foreign owned American securities. This liquidating movement is still in progress, but it is possible that the selling will be checked somewhat, should it be determined to use the American securities mobilized at London in pledge for new loans financed by the American Foreign Securities company or a similar corporation.

Good Securities Absorbed.

"Within the last four weeks there has been quiet absorption of good securities by the investing public, although the total purchases of this sort have been much below the volume of the purchases which would have been seen were it not for the excitement over Mexico and the unrest occasioned by the economic effects of the waste of capital in the European war.

"The labor situation has also caused a good deal of concern in quarters which have been impressed with the difficulty of getting labor to accept a lower wage after the excitement of the war period subsides. In some industries there is a serious shortage. It is difficult to see how this situation can be remedied, owing to the falling off in immigration and the unusual demand for rush work in industries that are able to bid very high prices for labor. Every item of the harvesting arrangements this year is more costly and considering the wages paid for farm hands and the cost of sustaining them, it is probably true that the total expense will be unprecedented.

Country Banks Take Reserve.

"All these demands have led to new withdrawals from the reserve centers by banks in the agricultural sections. Taking into account the position of all industries, it is probably true that the country's total pay roll requirements are to-the opening of August.

"A great deal of good is likely to result from the extensive thrift campaigns which are being undertaken in Great Britain and the United States. In this country the movement is more informal than in the war area. But there is no doubt that the American people are spending less than they have often spent in years when their income was much below what it is today. When it is considered that the country's earning power probably is unprecedented, it will be seen that the margin for savings is large enough to have important bearing on the people's financial position.

Capital Seeking Investment.

"There is a vast amount of unemployed capital in the United States today. It is probable that this fund will be reinvested gradually from now on, as the war is becoming a good deal of an old story with many people, who are impressed with the strength of intrinsic conditions in the United States and the phenomenal business that the country is doing. Investors are making discriminating purchases, and in spite of the relatively easy money rates and our unprecedented gold holdings, there is little speculation.

"The whole American people have been sobered by the hardships of world war and are seeking to readjust their business methods to the changes which the two year old struggle has brought about. The outlook is full of uncertainties, but there are many strong points in the situation and abundant grounds for taking a favorable view of future conditions in the United States.

American Finances Strong.

"No one can tell what will happen here or in Europe after the work of readjusting business to a peace basis is once taken up. It is evident, however, that this country will figure prominently in these undertakings. Our banking interests are handling an immense volume of business which they never transacted before, and in the same way prominent industrial corporations are seeking trade successfully in territory which was never open to them before the war started.

"There is reason to believe, therefore, that the development of American finance and industry during the present fiscal year will surpass in interest and in importance anything that this country has seen before."

U. OF I. WANTS MAC NEILL, IRISH REBEL, AS TEACHER.

President James Says He Will Attempt to Obtain Commutation of Intellectual Leader's Sentence.

John MacNeill, president of the Gaelic league and a leader in the struggle for the Irish republic, who now is serving a five year sentence for his activity in the Dublin revolution, will be asked to hold the chair of Gaelic languages at the University of Illinois if President James of that institution succeeds in his purpose of securing commutation of MacNeill's sentence.

In the belief that MacNeill's splendid scholarship should not be wasted through years of incarceration in a British prison, President James has started a movement for American intervention in behalf of the Irish leader.

In a telegram to Judge John P. McGoorty, president of the Irish Fellowship Club of Chicago, President James stated that it was his intention to ask President Wilson to use his influence with the British government for the commutation of MacNeill's sentence to "a term of imprisonment as professor of Gaelic at the University of Illinois."

MacNeill has been president of the Irish National university. It was mainly through his efforts that the Irish language was made a requirement of the university, thereby forcing it into the curriculum of the Irish schools.

The men drove up to the place in an automobile shortly before 3 o'clock and bound the hands of John Martin, the watchman, with a towel. Martin said the explosion was no louder than a revolver shot.

Most of the jewelry stolen belonged to Miss Frances Powers, a bookkeeper in the place. John Hayes, a member of the firm, believed the men were the same who during the evening had borrowed some tools from him when one of the tires on their machine was punctured.

HAVE YOU MISSED "FRANK"?

You Can Find Him at the Residence of Paul J. B. Haverly.

Paul J. B. Haverly was sitting on the porch in front of his home, 3356 South Park avenue yesterday, when a boy, about 4 years old, walked up, crying. He said his name was Frank and that he lived on Halsted street. Haverly took him into his house and called up the Cottage Grove avenue police, but they had no report of a boy of that description missing. The boy has light hair and dark eyes, and wore a wash suit with brown stockings and sandals.

NEW N. W. RAILWAY BRIDGE ONE OF LARGEST OF TYPE.

Strauss Bascule Spans North Branch on Milwaukee Division Between Deering and Clybourne Junction.

The new Chicago and Northwestern bridge across the north branch, between Deering and Clybourne Junction stations, was completed yesterday and the first train crossed it at 5:10 p. m.

This bridge is one of the largest of the Strauss bascule type in the country. It is said there are several two track bridges of this description, but this is the only single leaf three track bridge.

The erection of the bridge was remarkable in that it was done without delayingn traffic a single hour. The eighteen hours during which traffic was diverted over the Mayfair division cannot be charged to the construction of the new bascule and should really be charged to the disposal of the old bridge.

The new structure cost $500,000.

LOCK DRUG CLERK IN CLOSET

Two Armed Men Rob the Store of Harry Hosen of $20 and Escape.

Two armed men entered the drug store of Harry Hosen, at 5532 South Carpenter street, last night, locked the clerk, Frank A. Torey of 5600 South Carpenter street, in a closet, and escaped with $20 from the cash register.

WOMEN'S WEAR.

Now that combinations of colors in women's footwear are being bought freely by the leading dealers for the coming season, the smaller retailers are advised to follow suit, but to beware of buying "freaks." A little care in choosing really harmonizing leathers when buying the new lines will mean fewer regrets when the season gets well advanced and the "stickers" begin to rear their heads. Dealers are also advised against carrying over any low colored shoes. Plain opera slippers are being sold for fall in all leathers, also in satin. It is said that they are now to be used for street and evening wear.

Dress goods selling agents are quiet certain now that what should prove one of the best selling cloths in many seasons has been brought out in wool velours, or bolivias, as they are called in most quarters of the trade. The coat manufacturers have taken this fabric in large quantities, and there are now cloths out out in many price ranges. One of the most pleasing features of the fabric is that more than the usual profit can be made by both the garment manufacturer and the retailer, owing to the attractive quality of the material. Coats made of it have already been offered by the retailers at $45 and $50.

From the volume of business now being done by the dress manufacturers and the orders being placed for future delivery, the trade, it is said, will enjoy an exceptionally prosperous season this fall. The situation in the coat and suit industry is naturally having its effect on the sister trade, the former's loss being the latter's gain. Buyers are expected to place orders for larger quantities of dresses to make up the shortage in the coat and suit end. The coming season promises featuring of the use of serge and silk combinations. Satins and taffetas will be used as effectively as possible in trimming the costumes in conjunction with furs.

Apropos of the reported scarcity of white hosiery of all kinds, it is reported that jobbers are now having deliveries due them made in case lots by express. One prominent concern received three cases of these goods in that manner, containing 180 dozen women's silks, put up in quarter dozen boxes. By nightfall they had all been reshipped without making more than a slight scratch on the surface of the demand.

MEN'S WEAR.

For the coming fall season a new style bathrobe has been put on the market. The garment is constructed of two parts, one a smoking jacket and the other a skirt. When the two are connected a bathrobe results. The idea has been patented. In introducing this garment to the haberdashery trade the use of two garments obtained through one purchase will be featured.

In spite of the fact that there has been considerable improvement of late in the supply of indigo, both natural and synthetic, not all buyers of denims are insisting on indigo goods. At least one well known maker of overalls has found logwood blues good enough to satisfy about 40 per cent of his trade. For the other 60 per cent he has to use indigo dyed cloths. In buying logwood dyed denims, however, the manufacturer in question is careful to take only the darkest shades of blue, having found from experience that, though these fabrics are likely to "bleed" somewhat in washing, they retain enough color to give satisfaction to the user of the finished garment.

Dubuque Electric.

A. J. C.—The Dubuque Electric company has just taken over the property of the Union Electric, which supplied Dubuque and East Dubuque with electricity and street railway service for sixteen years, earning three or four times its bond interest. The Union had outstanding $805,000 of common stock, on which it was paying 4 per cent a year, and $838,900 preferred, on which it paid 6 per cent. Its original bonded debt of $980,000 had been reduced to $845,000. Money has been deposited with the trustee to retire these bonds on Nov. 1 next at 105 and interest, and the mortgage has been released. The new company is issuing $2,300,000 of first mortgage bonds, $750,000 preferred stock, and $600,000 common. Gross earnings in 1915 were $516,905. In the twelve months ended May 31 gross was $553,686 and net $241,241, or more than twice the interest on the new bonds. The bonded debt is now large in proportion to the stock, but not in proportion to earnings. The city of Dubuque is growing and the bonds should prove to be a safe investment. The old management has disposed of its entire interest in the company.

Willys Overland.

G. E. M.—The Willys Overland company has outstanding $15,000,000 cumulative preferred stock and $21,000,000 common. All the shares were formerly of $100 par. Recently each common share was exchanged for four new shares of $25 par. This change became effective in the market on June 27. The old stock sold on June 26 at 278@286, and the new sold the next day at 69@72½. The regular dividend on the common stock has just been increased from 9 to 12 per cent a year, and recently a 10 per cent stock dividend was declared, half of it to be paid on Oct. 2 and half on April 2 next. The company produced 95,000 cars in 1915, and is expecting to turn out 200,000 this year. It delivered 94,447 in the first six months. The company says there are no signs yet of a slackening in the demand for cars.

No-Par Stock.

B. B., Montgomery, Ala.—The large companies that have incorporated recently with common stock of no par value have all obtained charters in New York. New York, however, is not the only state that permits such financing. The Chicago Railways company stock is of no par value, and the new Kansas City Railways company, with a Missouri charter, is of the same sort. The ordinary way of putting stock of no par in a balance sheet is to give it a stated value. The stock of the Chicago Railways company and that of the Kansas City Railways company has a stated value of $100,000. The Kennecott Copper corporation gives its stock a stated value of $5 a share. The Western Electric company inserts its surplus in the balance sheet under the name "common stock." This appears to be the logically correct way.

Iron Ore.

H. B. H.—The supply of iron ore is ample now, and it is being sold at comparatively low prices. The Great Northern Ore properties have not been doing their fair share of the business this summer because competitors have made prices that they thought too low. There is reason to expect that ore will become scarcer and much higher in price in a few years, and that producing mines will make much larger earnings then than at present. The price of Great Northern and other ore stocks is based partly on the present income yield and partly on expectations of better things in the future. It is high in relation to the former and low in relation to the latter.

Brief Answers.

H. R. P.—The Tennessee Copper company seems to be suffering from weak management as well as from misfortune. Its acid plant was burned, delaying deliveries, and the Russian government wants to know what became of $1,500,000 which it advanced to the company. The acid plant cost only about $500,000. It is said that the other $1,000,000 has been expended in various ways. The outcome cannot be predicted.

J. M. G., Ottawa, Ill.—Mexican Petroleum stock is speculative. The course of the market for it cannot be predicted. The stock was reviewed recently.

D. J. W.—Stock of the Perfection Tire company is highly speculative. It has been reviewed heretofore.

SUCCESSFUL LAND SALESMEN, ATTENTION!

How would you like to belong to an organization which has a permanent future?

Are you not tired of jumping from one proposition to another every year or so, losing the cumulative effect of your hard work every time you make a change?

Some successful land men are organizing a company combining the land business with an industrial and manufacturing enterprise. This business should continue for an indefinite period; it should grow in volume each year, and its profits should eventually enable us to retire from this eternal hustle.

We can make room for two or three additional live wire producers.

Investment in our company is not essential, though we can show the man with a little capital an opportunity to join us on a ground floor basis in an enterprise that has tremendous possibilities.

READ THIS
IF YOU ARE CONSIDERING THE PURCHASE OF FLORIDA LAND.
By taking more land than we needed for our own use, we secured a very low price on the finest body of land that we know of in Florida, high, well drained, good citrus soil, as well as general farm land, intersected by railroad and only 30 miles from Tampa.
We will sell our surplus land, amounting to several hundred acres, to one or more buyers at a very attractive figure. The high development of our own tract will largely increase the value of adjoining property.
This is an opportunity to get a small block of land at a wholesale price, where you can share in a large development that will make you money without effort on your part. Address N A 199, Tribune.

The Cheap or the Good?

Which would you rather have in a Motor Car—something CHEAP or something GOOD?

A fine Car, fine in EVERY detail, or something NOT so fine?

Well, why not buy it, then?

You can't AFFORD it?

Very likely you cannot afford a NEW Locomobile, but surely you can afford an EXCHANGE LOCOMOBILE. The point is—can you afford anything ELSE?

You can buy a fine car in fine shape, as good as it ever was, at a fraction of the original cost. You buy direct from the maker—you run no risk—we make no profit.

EXCHANGE LOCOMOBILES — $425 and up.

Staedter's August Sale of Furs

We Are Offering Prices Which Cannot be Repeated

Elaborate Presentation of New Foreign Models

OUR usual August Fur Sale opens this year with an authoritative Fashion Showing of the very newest Foreign Models, which include Jenny, Barnard, Robert, Cheriut and many others.

We cannot too strongly emphasize the unusual special prices effective now, as conditions are such in the Fur Markets at present that it will be absolutely impossible to reproduce these fur offerings at these prices.

Therefore, in view of the above facts, we have ourselves prepared most carefully a choicely selected line of Coats, Neckwear and Muffs with a view to meet the general dictates of Fashion.

Each and every article in this sale means a positive price saving of from 20% to 30%.

We quote only a few of our Hudson Seal Coats, plain and trimmed, and feel confident that the prices will without doubt convince you of the extra efforts we have made for this sale, and to give the fur-buying people an opportunity which cannot be overlooked.

Baseball Is Good For Your Business

If your business demands originality and enthusiasm, if it benefits from the refreshing of your gray matter, then your business requires that you pay regular visits to Old Doc Comiskey.

It's a real vacation for brain and nerves. You may go to Coronado Beach or Newport, yet take all your troubles with you all the time; but you can't see a fiercely fought battle on the diamond at the Sox Park and do any personal worrying at the same time.

There is more recreation for tired brains, more rest for weary bodies, more soothing refreshment for jangled nerves at the Sox Park than at any summer resort.

A home run with two out and three men on bases will instantly shatter hundreds of grouches, fill thousands of lungs with ozone, and inject a fresh, new point of view into as many jaded think-tanks as can be found between Wabash Avenue and La Salle Street.

Don't live a life of "50 weeks' grind and 2 weeks' vacation." Take little, inexpensive afternoon vacations as frequent "summer bracers." Get out and expose yourself to the spell of those miracle-working words:

"PLAY BALL"

WINONA SUMMER RESORT

Winona Lake, Indiana.

There is no cooler spot to be found anywhere than the beautiful park at Winona Lake. The enclosure covers 200 acres, and is nearly all covered with magnificent shade trees. Situated on the east side of a fine lake, whose average depth is 35 feet, the heat is always tempered by the cool, refreshing breezes that are wafted across the waters. There are thousands of lawn seats, and a rich carpeting of grass throughout the park.

Golf players can enjoy their favorite sport here on the well-kept links, and there are tennis courts, croquet grounds, and children's play grounds enough to interest all the little people.

Those who care for other forms of entertainment can go to the auditorium and listen to some of the most capable artists in the world. These programs are given every day and evening in the large, well-ventilated auditorium.

The Bible Conferences will convene August 13 to 27. 40 leading ministers and lecturers will speak on practical topics relating to Biblical research.

No place in the world offers so great a diversity of excellent features; and prices are within the reach of all.

Winona is only 119 miles east of Chicago, on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The number of Chicago people who visit this popular resort place increases each year. Why should you endure the heat and inconveniences of the city when so many comforts can be found at this delightful spot so close at hand?
